"The St. Francis Dam has broken! Spread the alarm!"

It was the voice of a telephone operator—another—and another.

Though in imminent danger themselves, as the black wall of water loosed its violence on a sleeping countryside, these young women in towns of the stricken area, promptly and coolly passed this midnight call of warning—warning of impending doom. Constables, town officials and others in the path of danger were notified by telephone. Instantly, with shrieking sirens and clanging bells the alarm was spread—and hundreds of lives were saved.

The world hears little of the "spirit of service" until times of emergency, but behind the scenes in the telephone world this spirit is always present. Telephone users confidently rely upon the devotion to duty of the men and women who make this service possible.

On account of the rain the baseball game which was to have been played between Thurston and Pleasant Hill was postponed. The team will meet Walker this week if weather permits.

Sunshine, rain, hail and snow accompanied by wind visited Pleasant Hill Sunday. The foothills on all sides show snow and farmers are feeling the long spell of bad weather during which they can accomplish nothing. In spite of the cold the leaves are coming out on the trees, gooseberries and cherries are in bloom and the loganberries are sending out long shoots. Only occasionally in the last ten days have the bees been able to work. They have not been able to gather any maple honey this year.

Bonnie Jeanne Tinker has been confined to her home with tonsillitis the last three days.

Owing to the unusual condition in the baby chick market this year which is not 50 per cent of last year's demand, many of the poultry raisers of Pleasant Hill, who are breeding for hatcheries have been asked to ship only one half of their output. This is hitting them pretty hard as they have had to have their flocks tested for white diarrhea and in some cases about 25 per cent of the laying hens had to be slaughtered. The eggs from these hens would have been alright for market but owing to laws of the adjoining states they cannot be used for hatching.

The Senior play will be given April 13th and 14th.
