HOW TO WIN HIM
Dear Miss Vera,

I am 20 years old and I really love a boy who is 21. I have only been with him two or three times but know him about a year. What can I do to win his love? I am very unhappy without seeing him or being with him. He is the man of my dreams. He is very charming. Please advise me how I can win him.

M. E. B.

Dear M. E. B., by no means run after him—be more subtle. On those rare, sweet occasions when you see this charming man, be so very, very nice to him that he will want to see you again soon. Look your best and act your best. Take a lively interest in his conversation—be a good listener. Invite him to parties whenever you get a chance. Do everything you can to see him more often, but do not be obvious or obtrusive about it. Just be as nice as you can be to him—but don't give him the idea that you are pursuing him. That would spoil everything most likely. Slowly and persistently, make him aware of all your good qualities and show by your manner rather than by your words that you care for him.

DESPERATELY IN LOVE

Dear Miss Vera,

I am a young girl of 17 and am very desperately in love with a young man of 20, who I've been going with for three years. We have been engaged for nearly a year and he seems to care less for me every day.

I am heartbroken and don't know what to do. Please give me your advice.

M. R.

Dear M. R., perhaps you are mistaken. Perhaps he cares as much for you as ever. You have not told me how he manifests his gradual loss of interest.

I am sure that if you are as charming as you can be toward him, and constantly show him how much you care for him, he will return your love. Perhaps unconsciously you may be acting indifferently toward him. It may be that he is not so demonstrative in expressions of affection as formerly because he has become rather accustomed to you. Make yourself a constant surprise; do things differently than he expects you to do them, and his interest may be quickened.

ANOTHER GIRL

Dear Miss Vera,

I have been going out with a young man whom I love very dearly. He once seemed to care more for me than for anyone else, but now he goes out with another girl. Although he says he cares more for me than he does for her, I am heartbroken and don't know what to do.

L. M.

Dear L. M., I don't know just what to advise you to do; in fact "doing" anything in particular might not alter the situation. The young man says he cares more for you than for the other girl; perhaps he is interested in her only for the moment.

Until you are engaged to the young man you would not be exactly fair to insist that he see no other girl. Just be as nice as you can to the young man, and try to hold your place in his affections by sheer charm.

Try not to show your concern about the other girl. Make the young man feel that you are sure she is just a passing fancy, and that you know no one has a surer place in his heart than you.

TWO BOYS

Dear Miss Vera,

I am 18. I am corresponding and going with two boys. One boy is in my home town, one about 150 miles away, in a large city. With the boy in my home town I have been going out for six months, and he has found out that I correspond with the boy in the big city and wants me to stop. I feel that I like the boy in the big city the best. What shall I do?

JUST ANN.

Dear "Just Ann," if you like the boy in the big city the best, keep right on writing to him no matter what anyone has to say about it. Do not let the boy in the home town influence you too much unless you feel you would like to marry him. If you are not serious in your intentions toward him, let him know, and tell him you are going to write the boy in the city as often as you like. I know it will be hard for you to tell this to your friend, but I am sure it is necessary for you to do so, if you really like the boy in the city best.

Goes to Oakridge—W. A. Taylor went to Oakridge Sunday on business. Dumb: "Hey you're setting on some jokes I cut out."

Bell: "I thought I felt something funny."

"Oh, who broke your window, Karl?" "Mother, but it was father's fault, he ducked."

Ethel: "How did Miss Sharpe cut her lip?" "Clara: "On one of her biting remarks I presume." She: "Is there any alcohol in cider?" He: "Inside whom?"

Once upon a time a young man strolled past a pretty girl without looking around.

The sweet girl graduate was being shown through the locomotive shop. "What is that enormous thing?" she asked.

"That," explained the guide, "is a locomotive boiler."

"And why do they boil locomotives?" she insisted.

"To make the engine tender," the guide said.

Mother: "Betty, why don't you and Archie play house together?" Betty: "No, Mamma; we would rather play something there isn't any quarreling in."

He was a darky on trial for making whiskey.

"What's your name?" asked the judge.

"Joshua, suh."

"Are you the Joshua that made the sun stop?"

"Naw, suh—Ise de one what made de moonshine."
