FARMERS AND ORGANIZATION. REAL MONEY. THROW OUT AMBITION? SOUND IN MOVIES.

Flour manufacturers, including Washburn-Crosby and Red Star, organized a $50,000,000 combination, largest flour milling concern in the world.

That's in the line of modern methods, big units, small overhead, powerful marketing.

This news will interest farmers and make them wish somebody could show them how to organize. The first thing, and absolutely necessary, is to organize and intensify methods of production. An old-fashioned blacksmith could not compete with a modern automobile factory.

Childish talk of "necessary competition" and prattle about keeping business from getting "too big" are out of date.

Where nations combine to monopolize world business, great American units must combine for self defense.

Possibly some one will find a way to help our farmers form such a combination. They need it.

The French settle down courageously to the drastic new money rate. Four-fifths of its value is cut from their money as a result of a war WHICH THEY WON. They face that situation bravely.

In place of paper money, meaning little to peasants and working people, the French again will see gold and silver coins in circulation.

The grosse piece, size and weight of our silver dollar, will not come back. Worth five francs before the war, it would be worth twenty-five francs now. But ten-franc silver pieces worth forty cents will be coined, and the French will feel that they are working for REAL MONEY.

Stabilizing the franc is a boon to all Europe, ending financial disorder that has lasted ten years.

It is a great achievement by Poincare, worthy successor of Thiers, Turgot, Necker, Sully, and a long list of brilliant French statesmen.

Sir James Barrie tells Rhodes' scholars not to try for "greatness." The advice was humorous, probably. Trying for greatness produces desirable mediocrity. Men "aim high to shoot low" as the illiterate colored man said when he asked Grover Cleveland to make him Librarian of Congress. He really wanted a job as porter.

A baby cries for the moon and is satisfied with a cookie. Youth reaches for greatness and is content with modest achievement and a place on the golf course.

Winfield R. Sheehan, who knows about moving pictures, says screens will be much bigger for large sized theatres now building everywhere. That will make it necessary to revise production methods.

Most important for budding genius, he says the "talking movie" will create a new army of scenario writers, knowing how to make sound effective in pictures.

In a detective story, noise of a creaking board, or a shot, might be more effective than the hero's smile.

Mr. Sheehan believes that the pictures with sound will double moving picture attendance.

In New York's brutal dancing contest—the dance to go on until all but one couple drop—the female dancers, nervously exhausted, slap their partners' faces. Then the men slap the women's faces vigorously. The yahoos, called "fans," looking on, shriek with delight, as the half crazed dancers strike each other.

Such is our poor imitation of the Roman arena.

McLagan at Tillamook—W. C. McLagan, steam superintendent at the Mountain States Power company plant here, drove to Tillamook last night to attend to company business.

Brattains on Visit—Mr. and Mrs. Creed Brattain of Lakeview, at one time residents of Springfield, stopped here for a time Wednesday to see friends.

THIS MAN EATS GLASS WHEN HE IS HUNGRY

Rockville Centre, N. Y., July 19, (AC)—Rockville Centre is all excited about a man who has been eating glass for fourteen years between meals. He is Reginald Himes, an undertaker's assistant, and doctors declare that his glass-eating is perfectly "straight," with no deception. Strong teeth and tough tissues make it possible.

Fourteen years ago Himes accidentally bit off the end of a clinical thermometer. He enjoyed the taste! Later he sneaked off with tumblers, which he nibbled at during recess and before dinner time, while other school-boys were "hooking" jam from the family pantries. Times is always the life of the party with his glass-eating stunts.

NEW PLAN IS USED IN RELEASING PHEASANTS

A new method of releasing China pheasants is being tried in this section of the state by the Oregon fish and game commission this year, it was announced this week by Ben Dorris, a member of the state game body.

China hens with their broods are being placed in the fields near here. A man is employed to watch the birds for the first three weeks in order to protect them from varmints.

The hen is placed in a coop and the little chickens run about this abode until they grow old enough to seek knowledge of more of the world.

Gene Stippson, superintendent of game farms in the state, has found it easier to move the pheasants at one day of age than at any other time in their infancy.

Sections where the birds are released are watched carefully and if there is any pre-season shooting the area is never used again for this purpose.
