BIG RED CROSS TASK

Service to Disabled in Ten Years Since Armistice Has Cost $65,800,000.

In this year of the tenth anniversary of the Armistice, which ended the world war, the American Red Cross still finds a great army of disabled and sick veterans requiring assistance, and whose families also must be aided. according to a statement by James L. Fieser, vice chairman in charge of domestic operations of the Red Cross at Washington. In the ten years since November 11, 1918, the Red Cross bas expended approximately $65,800,000 in veteran relief work, Mr. Fieser said. There is a daily average of 25,500 disabled and sick world war veterans enrolled in Veterans' Bureau and other government hospitals which care for these men and women, and about the same annual average of veterans succumbing to wounds and illness, for whose dependents the Red Cross is pledged to give required assistance. Mr. Fleser pointed out.

In addition, the Red Cross, under its charter granted by Congress, has a definite duty towards service men of the regular establishment of Army. Navy and Marine Corps, and follows them to all foreign ports or duty. The expenditure in this work for the year ending June 30, 1928, was $307,458, the annual report states.

"Upon the Red Cross rests the sacred obligation of carrying on relief. work for the disabled service and exservice men and women and their dependents, taking up the work where the Government is not able to carry on," Mr. Fleser said. "The Red Cross has 349 trained workers, serving either full or part time in the field, in liaison work, camps and hospitals, who are always in personal contact with the sick and disabled in hospitals, with the men in the regular Army, Navy and Marine Corps, and who stand ever ready to serve veterans back in civil life, who need the belp of a friendly agency to aid in establishing their rights and claims.

"To maintain this staff and to sup port the practical services they render, the Red Cross made expenditure of $1,169,795 for the year ending June 30, 1928. In addition 2,700 Red Cross Chapters, in that number of communities, who have established special work for the disabled service and exservice people, expended during the past year $1,732,000."

The annual report states that the number of death claims alone of veterans which are bandled through the War Service at national headquarters of the Red Cross, has increased from 2.010 in 1923-24 to 24.602 in 1927-28 During the year ending June 30, 1928. War Service assisted Chapters in adjusting Government claims amounting in benefits to veterans or their dependents, to $693,203.42 in awards for compensation, insurance, adjusted compensation, burial expenses, etc. in addition to this amount, which represented tump sum payments. were obtained for $183,389 in monthly corporation; E. R. Lackey; T. C. were obtained for $183,389 in monthly Luckey and Maude L. Luckey, his installments of insurance and compensation and in quarterly adjusted com-pens. tion payments. Mr. Fieser points out that Red Cross Roll Call comes once each year, and that it is the only occasion upon which the Red Cross asks for funds with which to carry on its activities. of which War Service is one. From Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day the American people are asked to support this work through their Red

Cross memberships. RED CROSS FIGHTS DEATH AND DISEASE

Four Nation-wide Services Promote Health Preservation and Accident Prevention.

A nation-wide program for preservation of health and prevention of accidental death is one of the great services of the American Red Cross Four bureaus, manned by experts, direct this work. They are the Public Health Nursing Service: the First Aid and Life Saving Service: the Home Hy giene and Care of the Sick Service. and the Nutrition Service

These services aim at preservation of health through skilled nursing care; prevention of loss of life in accidents; prevention of illness, through cleanliness in the home and knowledge of methods of care of the sick; and raising the standard of physical efficiency through proper eating.

This nation-wide campaign against disease and accidental death is conducted through a majority of the 3.532 Chapters of the Red Cross. It is a community campaign, fitted to the health problems of each section.

The Red Cross, through its Chapters, is the largest employer of trained Public Health nurses in rural work in the United States. In its campaign for preservation of health and prevertion of disease it has aided in establishing 2,000 or more community puring services.

At the national headquarters an enrollment of nurses is maintained. which forms a great nursing reserve. Under its Charter from Congress this Red Cross Nursing Service is the offcial reserve for the United States Army and Navy Nurse Corps In addltion, these nurses are available to time of disaster or epidemic. This reserve list of trained nurees has in 1928 reached its peak in number earoiled-
