Ashland children will again be treated to a grand Easter egg hunt with the Ashland legion post as hosts, according to a decision of the post. More than 2000 eggs will be colored and hidden in Lithia park for the hunt.

Conrad Frank received the contract to construct the new warehouse in Milton-Freewater for the Freewater Tomato Growers' association. His bid was $15,700. Work is to start immediately and the building is to be finished by June 1.

Truman Whorton of Freewater is being treated in a Walla Walla hospital for a fracture of the skull sustained while playing baseball at Umatilla. He was struck near one eye by a thrown ball and knocked unconscious.

The largest night horse show in the history of the Oregon state college was held Saturday night in the college armory, one of the main attractions being the appearance of some of the best horses from the Aaron Frank stables at Portland.

The report of the Wallowa Dairy Herd Improvement association for February shows 36 herds with 665 cows on test, of which 97 were dry. The average production, including dry cows, was 457 pounds of milk and 21.88 pounds of butterfat.

John H. Farrar, postmaster at Salem, announced that he had been authorized by the government to receive bids for the construction of an addition to the Salem postoffice. The cost was estimated at $20,000. The bids will be opened April 10.

A day and night guard has been established over the fish egg station of the state game and fish commission on Bear Creek, near Jackson county fair grounds, to prevent theft of steel heads from the traps. Vandals have ripped off locks and boards of the traps to obtain fish.

Roseburg and vicinity experienced a heavy fall of snow one day last week. The snow was sufficiently heavy to blanket the hills and fields around the city, although it soon melted. The precipitation was welcomed by broccoli growers, as lack of moisture has greatly delayed the harvest.

There are now 736 prisoners in the Oregon state penitentiary, which establishes a high record. The latest arrival was a woman from Pendleton. As a result of the crowded conditions in the institution it was necessary to place beds in the barber shop, commissary and corridors.

The pear trees in the Rogue River valley are from two to three weeks later in budding this year than normally, in the opinion of leading orchardists, due to the January cold spell. As a result of the favorable weather of the last few weeks orchard work is further ahead than usual. Dormant spraying is well under way.

Linn county's school population is greater by nine children this year than last, Mrs. Edna Geer, county school superintendent, says the annual school census of the county just completed reveals. The present total of children of school age is 7526. Of this number 3797 are boys and 3729 are girls. Albany's gain was five children.

Enlargement of two grain elevators in Umatilla county to give that county the largest interior grain storage warehouse in the Inland Empire was announced at Pendleton by a Portland contractor. The elevator at Athena will be enlarged to store 300,000 bushels of bulk grain and the Fulton elevator will have a total capacity of 150,000 bushels when the addition is completed. The work is to be completed in time to store the 1929 wheat crop.

The Bagley Canning company of Ashland will increase its production 25 per cent this season and, accordingly is making a similar increase in acreage contracts. Growers are responding with larger acreage, according to Manager Koozer. County Commissioner G. Alford, one of the largest tomato growers in Jackson county, reports that he is able to make more than $100 an acre from his tomatoes, and reported he will increase his plantings to eight acres this season.

The state of Oregon will send to its fiscal agents in New York city April 1 a total of $1,614,380.80 with which to pay maturing principal and interest on highway bonds, and $597,066.25 to pay interest on veterans' state aid bonds. Of the highway bond payment, $862,500 represents principal. A total of $1,400,000, representing the semi-annual distribution of one-fourth of the motor vehicle fees, will be apportioned to the various state depositories, indicating necessity of making heavy withdrawals later in the month.

The Junction City cannery has completed the signing of vegetable acreage for the coming season's pack. One hundred thirty acres of beets, 21 of carrots and 37 of beans will be canned. This represents a material increase in acreage and it is thought that owing to last year being such an unfavorable year for vegetables that the pack will be almost doubled for the coming season. All pools for last year have been closed and while no exceptionally high prices were obtained all show a profit to the grower.
