HANGARS BUILT AND OTHER IMPROVEMENTS MADE AT AIRPORT

With both hangars completed, the office under construction, and three runways rolled and in use, the new Springfield municipal airport is nearing completion. Two additional runways will be completed and seeded with grass for winter use within a few days.

The work at the new field was done by men of the American Legion and others. The money necessary for the purchasing of materials was donated by the citizens of Springfield. George Perkins, local carpenter, is building the office. The runways for summer use, which are completed, include one 1600 feet long, running east and west, one 1800 feet in length, running diagonally northwest by south-east, and one 1200 feet long running north and south. Two other runways, one 60 by 1400 and the other 60 by 1600, have been graded, and will be seeded for use in the winter time.

Tentative plans for a celebration and dedication of the new air port upon the arrival of Major G. H. Eckerson from Troy, Ohio, with his new Waco plane are being discussed by the members of the Lions club. Major Eckerson, who will conduct an aviation school at the air port, will leave for the east within a few days to get his new plane, a 225 horse power, capable of a speed of 160 miles an hour.

If present plans materialize, Major Eckerson will notify the people here of the time of his probable arrival in the new plane when he reaches Salt Lake city with it. The citizens of the town will be at the air port to greet him when he lands, and the dedication ceremony will follow.

Court Will Hear Bridge Case Soon

Arguments against fill to be aired second time Monday; Injunction sought

Arguments for and against the continuation of the work on the filled in the Lane county court again Monday when Mr. C. A. Wintermeier and Howard M. Brownell, attorneys retained by the citizens of West Springfield who are opposing the fill, appeal to the court for a temporary restraining order, stopping the work until a formal hearing of the case can be held.

The residents of West Springfield claim that the fill as it is being constructed now will constitute a menace in time of high water, causing a destructive current to flow across the property in the vicinity. They employed attorneys and petitioned the court a week ago for an injunction stopping the work. Judge J. W. Hamilton, of Roseburg, who was taking the place of Judge Skipworth, denied the petition on the grounds that the injunction was unnecessary at the time. The hearing Monday will be a continuation of the case which was started in court a week ago. At some time in the near future a hearing will be held in court at which the case of the West Springfield property owners against the state highway commission, A. C. Mathews, the contractor, and the Lane County court will be heard.

A second mass meeting was held at the Glenwood school in West Springfield Tuesday night. C. A. Wintermeier was the principal speaker, telling of the steps which must be taken if the construction of the fill is to be stopped. Wintermeier has had Simon Kløvdaal, Eugene engineer, at work surveying in the West Springfield vicinity for over a week. Kløvdaal will testify for the property owners at the hearing. A census of the people who would be affected by the flood menace was taken yesterday by W. H. Bryan, G. M. Plummer, and O. F. Bevers. There are about 600 men, women and children in the district, according to Bevers.

While the legal quarrel is being waged, A. C. Mathews is going ahead with the work. He has a power shovel and several teams at work now, and is making good progress with the fill.

Visiting Here — Mr. and Mrs. A. Flowers of Medford, are visiting in Springfield for a few days.

Local Boys Trim University High

Score of 16-8 piled up in second game of season; play Grove Friday

Springfield high school moved up one notch in the Lane county conference baseball league Friday by trouncing the University high school at Eugene by a score of 16-8. The local team lost a close contest to Eugene high school last week by a score of 6-5, so now is at the 500 mark, with one game won and one lost.

The game was fairly close up to the beginning of the sixth inning, the score standing at 7-4 for Springfield at that time. In the sixth, however, the Springfield boys found their batting eyes and pounded in a succession of runs that overwhelmed the Eugene team. Ick Reynolds, University high school coach, used three pitchers, Fields, Lake and Whittier, but was unable to hold the Springfield batters. Each of the Springfield pitchers, Covert, Lynch, and Squires, saw service in the game.

Although the Springfield boys are not up to their last year's form because of lack of practice this season, at times they showed real baseball ability during the University game, according to Leonard Mayfield, local coach. The team showed some improvement in the University game over its showing in the Eugene contest here last week.

Yesterday afternoon Springfield met the Omega hall team of the University of Oregon intra-mural league in a practice game on the local diamond. As the game was merely for the purpose of obtaining practice for both teams, no accurate score was kept. The next regular game will be played Friday afternoon with Cottage Grove high school at Cottage Grove. Cottage Grove has had the reputation of putting out strong baseball teams in past years, but Mayfield believes that the Springfield boys can equal them.

Springfield plays two games each with Eugene, University and Cottage Grove high schools, the other members of Lane County league, and two games with Lebanon high school, not a member of the league. One game with Cottage Grove and another with Lebanon, which were to have been played earlier in the season, were postponed because of rainy weather, but will be re-scheduled later.
