Federal Farm Board Faces Its Important Tasks

Here are the men chosen by President Hoover to make up the Federal Farm Board dedicated to the best interests of American agriculture. The men were selected with great care and each is an expert in some phase of agricultural endeavor. As yet, no man is selected to represent the wheat interests.

No Magic Wand to Solve Problems Hoover Tells Board

SECRETARY NAMED—SESSIONS TO BE CONTINUOUS

Washington, July 25. (Autocaster)—The Federal Farm Board has been launched on its mission of establishing relief and stability for American agriculture. It is backed by a revolving fund of $500,000,000. The board's major accomplishment at its organization meeting last Monday was to appoint a secretary. He is Chris L. Christenson, head of the cooperative division of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the Agriculture Department.

President Hoover, in outlining his policy, left it to the board to deal with problems as they deemed wise. He pointed out there is "no magic wand" to bring instant surcease to the planters' woe.

The President said: "I am deeply impressed with the responsibilities which lie before you. Your fundamental purpose must be to determine the fact and to find solution to a multitude of agricultural problems, among them to adjust more nearly production to need, to create permanent business institutions for marketing which, owned and controlled by the farmers, shall be so wisely devised and soundly founded and well managed, that they, by effecting economies and giving such stability, will grow in strength over the years to come. Through these efforts we may establish to the farmer an equal opportunity in our economic system with other industry.

"I know there is not a thinking farmer who does not realize all this cannot be accomplished by a magic wand or an overnight action. Real institutions are not built that way. If we are to succeed it will be by initiative which we already have in farm organizations, and building steadily upon them with the constant thought that we are building not for the present only, but for next year and the next decade."

The Farm Relief Board is in continuous session in its temporary quarters in the Mayflower Hotel.

Alexander Legge, former president of the International Harvester Company, who was designated as Chairman in his appointment, said the problem confronting it was so vast that the board proposed to proceed slowly.

Secretary of Agriculture Hyde indicated the wheat problem naturally would not receive much consideration until a member to represent that branch of farming had been appointed on the board. He pointed out that the President was having difficulty in selecting a wheat man because of disagreement between the wheat grain elevator men and the wheat pool faction.

It is expected that as soon as a wheat representative is named the board will immediately appoint a commodity council and through this organization will make loans to co-operatives.

Besides the Chairman, the Farm Board is now composed of the following men: James C. Stone, of Lexington, Ky., representing tobacco; Carl Williams, of Oklahoma City, representing cotton; C. B. Denman, of Farmington, Mo., representing livestock; C. C. Teague, of Los Angeles, spokesman for the fruit interests; Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde, general spokesman for the Farm Board; W. I. Schilling, of St. Paul, Minn., representative of dairy interests; and Charles Wilson, former Secretary of Agriculture of the State of New York.

GOVERNORS OF 48 STATES APPROVED "THE GODLESS GIRL"

With the approval of governors of most of the forty-eight United States, Cecil B. De Mille makes startling disclosures of conditions in state reform schools in his latest production form schools in his latest production will be on view at the Colonial Theatre, Eugene, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Before deciding on the subject matter for the picture, De Mille and his scenarist, Jeannie Macpherson, were in correspondence with the chief executives of the various states. Tentative plans for the filming of a story with a reform school background were outlined to the governors and their opinions and comment requested. The response was immediate, and emphatically in favor of a production that would bring to light the inadequacies of most of the institutions whose aim is to reform juvenile delinquents. Without exception, the opinions were that such a production would serve the double purpose of instituting improvements in the method of handling young law offenders, and of dissuading the youth of America from committing criminal acts.
