of a former murder mystery film ("The Canary Murder Case") E. H. Calvert, the district attorney. Working on the case with Powell is Eugene Pallette, the practical-minded and blundering comedy detective who was also one of the figures in "The Canary Murder Case."

If you like your thrills dished up with machine-gun rapidity, if you like entertainment that keeps your pulses tingling, don't pass up "The Greene Murder Case," as it is one of the season's best bets.

CHASE GARDENS ASKS PEOPLE TO OPEN HOUSE

The public is not only invited, but is urged to attend the fortieth anniversary and open house of the Chase Gardens at their greenhouses tomorrow and Saturday. The Eugene Garden club will hold its chrysanthemum show at one of the greenhouses during these two days.

Everything has been cleaned up, the large new houses are in operation, and visitors to the institution will be able to gain an idea of how their fresh vegetables are grown during the winter months.

Although a large amount of produce from these gardens finds its way to the tables of local families, their market is not limited to Lane county or the state of Oregon. Chase Garden tomatoes, cucumbers, and celery find their way to dining room tables of some of the highest class eating places in Chicago and other eastern cities.

MORAN AND MACK AT McDONALD THEATRE

Haven't you often wondered just what Moran and Mack, the Two Black Crows, looked and acted like? Haven't you thought how much funnier they would be if you could see as well as hear them put on their hilarious record and radio sketches? Now, you don't have to wonder any longer. Moran and Mack, the Two Black Crows have made their first movie, an all talking Paramount picture called "Why Bring That Up?" in which they introduce many of their best selling record bits and a bevy of new funisms.

"Why Bring That Up" is from an original story by Octavus Roy Cohen, famous author of negro stories. You see and hear how the famous team of Moran and Mack came to join up and start the famous "Two Black Crows" idea. You follow them along the path of fame with all its fun and adversities. You see them produce a lavish musical show in which they star. There's a girl mixed up in it too, she is Evelyn Brent, but neither one of them marries her in the end.

"Why Bring That Up" is just down right good fun and you'll enjoy every moment of it when you see and hear it at the Fox McDonald theatre, in Eugene, where it starts a four day run next Sunday.

"The Greene Murder Case" was a great murder mystery story but as a moving picture at the Fox McDonald Theatre, where it opened today for the rest of the week, it is even more gripping, more exciting. The reason for this can be ascribed to the intelligent character portrayals furnished by the actors and the excellent direction of Frank Tuttle. William Powell as Philo Vance, is called in the case by his friend

In Honor of Our Brave Boys Both Living and Dead

Again it is Armistice Day, and we stop to honor in a fitting manner those brave lads who gave their all that we may enjoy our freedom. It is but fitting that each and every one bow his head in reverent prayer... a token that we do remember them and what they gave for us.

"See me about a telephone before the next rain!"

Last night Mr. Brown had to go out in the rain to telephone. This was because the Browns have no telephone at home. He went out to a public telephone at the drug store to send a private call. But when he got there, the first call he sent was to the Telephone Company, and he said: "Come and talk to me about a telephone before the next rain!"
