CHAMBER OFFICERS HAVE GOOD SCHOOL PROGRAM

W. A. Taylor and I. M. Peterson, president and secretary of the local chamber of commerce, will both attend several of the sessions of the Annual Short Course for chamber of commerce secretaries to be held at the University next week during the spring vacation period. The school is being conducted each year by the School of Business Administration, and speakers from several of the larger chambers of commerce organizations have been secured for the week's program.

The operation of the federal farm board and the question of foreign trade are two of the problems which will be taken up for discussion. On the list of speakers are such names as A. S. Dudley, secretary of the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce and president of the national association of chamber of commerce secretaries; Leonard Reed, assistant manager of the Western Division of the United States Chamber of Commerce; Charles F. Walker, district governor of Kiwanis; L. W. Heman, chairman of the maritime commerce division of the Portland Chamber of Commerce; and Marshall Dana, associate editor of the Oregon Journal, who has recently completed an international study of the dairy situation.

The chairman of the committee was addressing a meeting of a teachers' institute: "My friends, the schoolwork is the bullhouse of civilization. I mean—"

"The bullhouse is the schoolwork of civ—"

"A smile could be felt. The workhouse is the bullschool of—"

"He was evidently twisted. The school bull is the housework" An audible snigger. "The bull school—"

"He was getting wild. So were his hearers. He mopped the perspiration, gritted his teeth and made a fresh start.

"The schoolhouse, my friends—" A sigh of relief went up. Hamlet was himself again. He gazed serenely around. The light of triumphant self-confidence was enthroned on his brow. "Is the woolbark—"

"And that is when we lost consciousness.
