STATE CHAMBER ISSUES ATTRACTIVE BOOKLET TO ADVERTISE OREGON

A very pleasing and attractive booklet designed to advertise the entire state of Oregon has just been issued by the state Chamber of Commerce and is now being distributed to immigration agents and other travel organizations which place large number of descriptive circulars and folders for free distribution on their racks.

The booklet contains a general summary of the outstanding things which makes Oregon a good place to live and then devotes one page to each county. The upper portion of each page has a map of Oregon and the particular county to be discussed on the page is outlined on the map.

The story under each map tells the principal crops or industry of each county, the other major ones, and the value of the lands. Rainfall and other useful information is also contained in the pages.

Copies to be mailed to your friends may be secured by addressing the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce, Portland, Oregon.

Eugene office of the census workers. He is compiling information concerning the volume of business being done in this city, the sales costs and the products most commonly sold. The information is confidential and will be used by the United States department of commerce in an effort to promote more careful merchandising.

A great deal of time can be saved for both census taker and the individual business man if the proprietor of the business will make an effort to compile figures representing the volume of business done the past year and the operating expense.

ACHIEVEMENT CIRCUS TO BE HELD ON APRIL 11th

Plans are now being completed for the annual Lane county Boy Scout Achievement Circus to be held in McArthur Court at the University on April 11. This will be the first gathering of its kind to be attended by H. B. Sallee, the new Lane county executive, and a determined effort is being made to have a good representation from every troop in the county present.

According to Mr. Sallee, the main purpose of the Circus is to let parents and friends of scouts know and see just what the various scoutmasters are teaching their sons.

A feature of the circus will be the court of honor which will make the awards to the individual scouts for their achievement during the past year.

It is planned to have each troop put on a short demonstration or stunt program at the show.

It will not be necessary for each boy to be in uniform. They are desired, but are not necessary, says Mr. Sallee.
