OREGON STATE NEWS OF GENERAL INTEREST

Principal Events of the Week Assembled for Information of Our Readers.

The town of Detroit, located 50 miles east of Salem, and Breitenbush hot springs, mountain summer resort, were cut off from communications with the outside world as the result of a slide which came down the mountain recently and covered the highway and railroad tracks of the Hammond Lumber company.

Announcement was made a short time ago of the transfer of V. V. Harriman, supervisor of the Ochoco national forest, with headquarters at Prineville, to the Umpqua at Roseburg, where he will assume the duties of supervisor. He will be succeeded at Prineville by W. O. Harriman, who has been assistant supervisor of the Deschutes national forest, with headquarters in Bend.

Some cities may be growing gray to figure out ways to keep out of debt, but not Pendleton. The city wound up the year with $12,195.83 in its coffers unexpended. Receipts were greater than was anticipated and a better percentage of the taxes was collected than in other years. The unspent balance, which is more than a mere paper balance, probably will be used to retire bonds.

Establishment of an insect control station in Salem to combat parasites that threaten the fruit crop was proposed by W. G. Allen, manager of Hunt Brothers' cannery. Mr. Allen said that failure to take action in the near future would mean destruction of the fruit crop and elimination of the cannery industry in the Willamette valley. He said he particularly was interested in the cherry industry, which had been damaged materially by the cherry fly.

The fields of fall-sown oats and wheat in the Lake Labish district were not hurt by the severe weather, according to those who have personally examined the fields. Clover sowing is in full blast among farmers there.

The city council of Medford has appropriated $500 to employ Jacob L. Crane, a nationally famed city survey expert, to make a study of Medford's major street and zoning plans, parks and playgrounds and industrial features.

Plans for promotion of the establishment of a cheese factory in Rogue River valley were outlined at the Medford meeting of the Jackson County Agricultural council recently. Central Point, the center of the dairy industry in the valley, will endeavor to have it located there.

A test suit to determine the constitutionality of the law passed by the last legislature limiting voting power at municipal elections to taxpayers is being contemplated by the city of Canyonville, which recently voted a bond issue of $10,000 for the installation of a municipal water system.

Marcola Brothers Here—John and Claude Downing, both of Marcola, visited friends in Springfield on Saturday.
