Creamery to Hold Opening Friday

Proprietors of Local Creamery Desires Public to View the New Enterprise.

The last stage of the work at the Springfield Creamery plant are being completed today in preparation for the open house to be held there tomorrow evening. Everything will be in working order and someone who understands all of the machines and their various functions will be on the floor all evening to explain them to the public.

The operators of the creamery feel a sense of pride in their new plant, which is conceded by dairy experts to be one of the best equipped and most modern now operating in towns even larger than Springfield.

Everyone is invited to visit the plant and see how the products which they purchase from the creamery are handled.

The new creamery is operated by experienced creamery men. They are C. G. Griffin, J. D. Pyle and Emory Pyle. They have had considerable experience with creamery work in the middle west before coming to the coast, and successfully operated a creamery at Lakeview for many years before moving here. Emory Pyle has spent some time with creameries in California studying their methods.

Most of the machinery is new and of the latest type made. It includes equipment for ice making, pasteurizing milk, making butter, cottage cheese and ice cream. Ice cream was made at the plant for the first time Wednesday night, and the ice machine was completed and operating earlier in the day.

Regular milk deliveries have been made daily now for the past week and many new customers have been added to the route, according to Mr. Griffin. Regular ice deliveries will also be started when the weather becomes warm enough to warrant it.

Illness Cause of Oratorio Change

Concert Will be Presented on Sunday After Easter; New Accompanist to Secure.

The oratorio being sponsored by the Springfield Lions club and which was to have been presented at the Methodist church tomorrow evening, Good Friday, has been postponed due to the illness of Winifred Tyson, who was to have been the accompanist.

The oratorio will be presented on Sunday, April 27, at a union church service, according to Ernest McKinney.

It has become necessary for the singers to secure a new accompanist, and the changed date will give that person an opportunity to become acquainted with her work.

Musical Jamboree Pleases Audience

Lincoln School Offers Play; Disturbances Bother Audience and Musicians.

An almost full house turned out at the high school last Friday night to hear the Musical Jamboree program, which was well presented and equally well received by those who were not annoyed and bothered by the disturbing noises created by certain groups of local unruly school students. Several members of the cast of the play presented by the Lincoln school augmented by others already in the balcony made it next to impossible for the people sitting there to hear the musical program, and also made it very difficult for the high school students to present their program amid the continual moaning about.

Koreans Captivate Audience The Koreans, a male quartet, captivated their audience with their close harmony songs. Alfred Freese and Fred Buell both pleased their listeners with their bass and baritone solos. Buell was considerably disturbed by the annoying disturbance in the audience.

Other numbers on the program were the Girls' Glee club, which sang The Pipers' Song, which won for them the first prize at the Eugene music fest, and Gypsy Fires, which they will use in their competition at Forest Grove. They also sang Venetian Love Song; the girls' quartet, consisting of Vernice Hawke, Jule Pollard, Blanche Bates and Lela Squires, sang Happy Song and Swing Low, Sweet Chariot.

Banjo Duets Draw Applause Bessie Stewart and Irene Manley were given an enthusiastic reception with their banjo duets. They played two selections and were called back for a third. Andrew Gibson, as the Harmonica King, played Pagan Love Song and I Love It, two popular numbers, and was called back for an encore.

Fred McKinney accompanied the Koreans, and played two piano solos in the absence of Myrtle Bartholomew.

The eighth grade from the Lincoln school presented their play Si Slocum's Country Store before the musical program. The two events had been scheduled for the same evening, but were consolidated and both presented at the high school.

The funds received will be used to purchase athletic equipment for the Lincoln school and to defray the expenses of the high school entrants in the state musical contest at Forest Grove.

Further Improvements Made The entire floor of the fountain room at the Egkimmann fountain and candy parlor has been covered with a new linoleum. This is another of the improvements which Mr. Egkimmann announced recently that he had planned to make at his place of business during the next few months.

Painters are busy now kalsominning the ceiling and will go over the walls of the rooms also. A new frigidraire machine has been ordered and will be installed as soon as it arrives.

Springfield Teams Drop First Game

Pleasant Hill Ball Tossers Win Both Games Played There Last Friday.

Springfield high school baseball team met defeat last Friday at the hands of Pleasant Hill in the first league game of the season for both teams. Defeating Springfield high school by a score of 2 to 0 meant that Pleasant Hill downed the team which last year took the county championship and put one defeat in the path of the locals, who are making an attempt to retain their trophy.

The girls team at Pleasant Hill also defeated the Springfield girls team in a preliminary game by a score of 18 to 11. Both games were played at Pleasant Hill.

The scores in the boys game were both made on errors by the Springfield players, according to W. E. Buell, and were not made by hits. John Lynch pitched in the opening game. He was a bit wild at times, but is expected to improve after he has more practice. Freeman Squires received the ball for Springfield. Jack Hulet played first base, Lloyd Mattison played second, and Ralph Cole third. Donald Bettis started at short stop. The fielders were: left field, Gilbert Ernesting; center, Harvey Tomseth; and right, Dorman Chase.

The return game with Pleasant Hill is scheduled to be played here on May 23.

The ball tossers will open the season at home next Tuesday, when they meet the University high nine at 3:00 o'clock.

Small Ship Takes Air in Trial Hop

Inman School to Build Glider; Fox Brothers Test Theirs Sunday.

Springfield's locally built airplane is a success. This was the opinion of many who gathered at the airport Sunday afternoon to witness the demonstrations of the ship which is said to be the smallest practical monoplane in the state of Oregon.

Jim MacManiman, chief pilot of the Inman School was at the controls of the ship. He took off several times and made several landings to test the various controls of the machine. No major changes were found necessary in any part of the construction work after having flown the ship for one hour, according to Lee Inman, manager of the school.

Ship Taxied to Field Springfield people were surprised Saturday morning when they heard an airplane motor on the streets. They were more surprised later when they saw a real airplane assembled on Main street and watch it taxi out of town to the airport under its own power. Messrs. Inman and MacManiman came down to the building where the ship was built early Saturday morning and took it out on the street. Here they mounted the wings and turned the prop over for the first time. The ship was at the field shortly after 7:00 o'clock.

Glider Enthusiasts Busy While the crowd was watching the small ship demonstration at the municipal field, another group of aviation enthusiasts were gathered on the Brattain property northeast of the city. This group was headed by Paul Brattain, who was helping the Fox brothers, living east of Springfield, test their glider which they have made.

A glider will be built by the Inman school, says Mr. Inman. The cost of the flying device is too high, he thinks, and he also believes that it will be good for the students if they have an opportunity to assist in the building of one.

A regular airplane motor was purchased for use at the school last week. It will be mounted on a stand and be used for trouble shooting and other training work in connection with the school.

AIRPLANE SERVICE STATION ORDERED

Standard Oil Company to Build Gasoline Station on Springfield Airport With Latest Equipment in Servicing Airplanes.

The construction of a modern airplane service station on the Springfield airport by the Standard Oil company was granted a meeting of the city council. The new unit when completed will be the very latest and best equipment in Oregon for giving gas and oil to airplanes.

It will have electrically operated pumps and filters and strainers that will deliver the refined gas to the plane with the minimum amount of time expended. The installation of the station will cost the company about $2,000, and a five year lease on the ground is given. The Lee Inman School of Flying will operate the station, which is expected to be completed in June.

The Standard Oil company is taking the lead in the country in the promotion of aviation, and its standard log book is used by all aviators. In coming to the Springfield airport the company will also give much desirable publicity and help promote the field in other ways.

In the absence of the mayor, W. C. McLagan presided at the meeting. The application of Bud McPherson to vacate the street through property platted on his farm land in the north part of the city was granted.

LIGHTNING SETS OFF FALSE FIRE ALARM ON SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Lightning played a joke on the Springfield fire department Saturday evening at just 5:00 o'clock and caused many would-be helpers to get drenched in the rain.

The local city hall, where the fire equipment is kept, is connected with the power plant by a magento switch which sounds a gong in the boiler room of the power plant. Whenever there is a fire and it is desired to have the whistle blown, the fire chief sounds the gong and tells the power company where the fire is. They then sound the large siren.

But on Saturday it was different. The gong was sounded at the power house by an electrical impulse of lightning. The employees, true to their instructions, sounded the siren and the citizens turned out to see the fire just as it started to rain. In the meantime Smitson was at the city hall trying frantically to call up the power plant to locate the fire. After several unsuccessful attempts the chief jumped on to the fire truck and started for the power house to find out where the fire was located.

Several citizens were grumbling because it took too long to get the truck out after the siren had sounded, but, says Smitson, "How were we to go to a fire which we couldn't locate?"

The women of the church will provide a supper in the church beginning at 6:30 o'clock.

Dr. N. W. Emery, who has charge of the meetings, promises that there will be some entertainment provided.
