Many Register For Swimming Lessons at College Tank

Red Cross and University to Offer Swimmers an Opportunity to Become Official Life Savers: Daily Lessons Start Monday Afternoon.

Seventeen students at the Lincoln school have signed registration cards and are going to take part in the life saving lessons which are to be offered at the University swimming pools, starting Monday, by the Lane county chapter of the Red Cross, working with the University officials. The high school students will be told all about the instructions and tests at their assembly today, and many of them are expected to sign the application cards.

The application cards are also being presented to women's organizations here.

Those who have already signified their intentions of taking part in the instruction are Thelma Lipps, Echo Tomseth, Eugene MaLosh, Rena Boyd, Juanita Wilson, Violet Oakes, Lavina Webb, James Gott, Norris Stewart, Harley Duncan, Disque Smith, Carter Hartman, Norman Gerber, Marjorie Mattison and Allen Snaed.

The purpose of the life saving instructions, says Laurence Moffitt, who has been selected to organize the work here, is to teach swimmers how to save the lives of others by breaking holds which a drowning person makes on a person attempting to rescue him, and by teaching people how to carry a drowning person while swimming in the water.

Those who do not know how to swim are not eligible to try for the life-saving awards.

Two Certificates Offered
The contestants will be divided into two groups, those seeking the junior life saving certificate and those desiring the senior certificate. The women and girls will be given instruction in the pool in the women's gymnasium, and the men and boys will be given instruction in the pool in the men's gymnasium.

Applicants for instruction for the junior certificates must have a working knowledge of the side and back strokes and be able to swim five lengths of the pool (100 yards). Applicants for instruction for the senior certificate must know the side, back and breast strokes, and be able to swim 10 lengths of the pool (200 yards).

Saturday Last Day to Register
The classes are limited to 30 each. The registration will close on Saturday, May 10, and registrations can be made at the Red Cross office in the court house or by seeing Mr. Moffitt. The certificate of registration must be obtained and presented at the pool when taking first lesson.

A fee of ten cents will be charged each time for girls for the use of suit, towel and gymnasium facilities. They are requested to bring their own cap. The boys are asked to bring five cents for the use of a towel each time.

Huffaker and Miss Katherine Kneeland with very high scores, according to Laurence Moffitt, principal of the school. He did not mention names, but stated that the parents of the children could see the averages made by their children if they cared to call at his office.

The best grade in the school was made by a student in Miss Crystal Bryan's room. The score was 141, which was the score usually made by a 14 year old child. The student was actually 9 years and 11 months.

Three of the students had averages above 124, which is considered excellent. Scores anywhere from 124 down to 80 are considered good by the examiners. One of the boys in the junior high school had a score of 130. This put his mental age 5 years above his actual age.
