Mr. Moe is a former resident of this city and still owns property on Mill street.

TWO BOYS CAMP WEEK IN MOHAWK COUNTRY

Joel Cowden and Irving Davis do not have to go to the Boy Scout camp to enjoy an outdoor camping trip. The two boys have just returned to Springfield from a week's camping trip in the woods above Mohawk and report that they had a wonderful time. They ate fish, they said, until they became tired of it, then they began shooting squirrels and young rabbits. These they cooked into a stew and sometimes fried them. Experience which they gained at a Boy Scout camp which they attended before proved very valuable, according to the boys.

Rooster by a dollar, which has been safely removed from his throat by Dr. Arthur Jones, throat specialist of Boise, Walter Struthers, 16, is recovering from an unusual accident. The Vale youth put the dollar in his mouth and, presto, it was gone.

IN THE RADIO STUDIOS
WITH ALBERT ZUGSMITH JR.
The NBC studios has a mystery. Who is Radio Pal?

Three or four times a year messenger boys have delivered huge boxes of flowers to outstanding stars of the National Broadcasting company. A note of appreciation for programs offered accompanies each box of flowers and is signed Radio Pal.

The reception room of WABC, key station of the Columbia Broadcasting System, is perhaps the busiest place in New York. Artists, pages, hostesses, announcers, production men, advertising men and guests throng its corridors and nooks, chattering, laughing and talking shop until it sounds like the Tower of Babel. Occasionally a studio door will open and a 40-piece orchestra, each musician carrying his instrument, will file out. Strangers wonder how any work is done, but out of this confusion, bustle and bustle comes the carefully planned, orderly program, always on time to the split second, that you hear from out of the air.

Two announcers, Frank Knight and Harry Vonnell, began as bank messengers.

Ted Husing first commercialized his baseball and football abilities. Daid Ross, WABC announcer, was a waiter until he got fired for writing poetry on the trays.

Jim Whipple was a juggler and slack wire walker on a vaudeville circuit. Both Helen Nugent and Irene Beasley were school teachers before they entered the realm of song and music.

Georgia Backus was fired from her first job in the 5 and 10 cent store but not because she didn't know the prices.

When 12 years old, Jules Alberti was hired as the custodian of the musical instruments of an orchestra playing in a Chicago theatre.

Back in 1912, Paul Tremaine filled his first professional engagement at a dance, given by mining officials in Williamsburg, Colorado. At midnight, striking miners calmly proceeded to demolish the schoolhouse, where the dance was being held. When the bombardment subsided, Paul and his boys were found hiding behind the bullet riddled piano.

PATRIOTIC GROUPS ARE MARKING HISTORIC SPOTS

Three early historic spots in Lane county were marked last Sunday with special markers by a caravan sponsored by the Oregon Lewis and Clark Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution of Eugene, and six more spots will be marked with the markers by members of another caravan next Sunday.

The caravan which went out last Sunday, and which included the members of the I. O. O. F. band of Eugene, placed their first marker at the place where the old territorial road leaves the Pacific highway near Monroe. The second was placed on the old home of Daniel Smith, at Smithfield. Here a program was held and the members of the group ate a picnic lunch. The third marker was placed on the old home of D. B. Cartwright, near Lorane.

Mrs. C. O. Wilson, of Springfield, presided at all of the exercises where the markings were placed. Other Springfield people in the caravan were Mrs. John F. Ketels and Don Wilson, son of Mrs. Wilson.

The caravan which leaves Eugene next Sunday to further mark old territorial roads will make its first stop at the old Blair homestead, just off Blair Boulevard in Eugene. The other markers will be placed along the old east side territorial road. The first one will be placed at the old Spores ferry, which was one of the principal means of travel to Springfield in the early days. The second one will be placed where the road turns off from the present highway. The third marker will be left at the old home of Huius Miller, father of George Melvin Miller and Joaquin Miller. The fourth one will be put on the old Mitchell Wilkins home and the fifth one will be left at West Point, the boundary between Linn and Lane counties.

...by this one on your bedstead. Miss Claire Thomen, student at the University of Oregon, climbed into bed and immediately left it—with a shriek. Sinewy arms had gripped her about the ankles. Students found a small octopus, measuring five inches from tip to tip, in the stomach of a shark and placed it in Miss Thomen's bed for "cold storage purposes."

A flow of natural gas was reported to have been struck in a well drilled at the Vincent Preschern place, near Roseburg. In an effort to secure water for domestic purposes, a well was bored 140 feet, where a heavy flow of water was struck. The water came in faster than it could be baled out, and later was found to be impregnated with gas. Flames shot high into the air when a match was applied to it.

A total of 195,800 seedlings have been shipped this spring from the Oregon Forest nursery near Corvallis, says a statement by State Forester Elliot. Most of the stock went to farmers for shelter belts, windbreaks and woodlots. This is nearly 75,000 more than was shipped last year.

The elm tree beetle is ravaging the elms of Jackson county. These beetles cause the trees to lose their leaves during the early summer months. County Agent L. P. Wilcox has declared war against the insects and warns citizens that two seasons of such happenings will result in the death of the tree.

work on the market roads in Baker county is well under way, with prospect that practically all such roads in some sections of the county will be placed in first-class condition within the next few weeks, County Judge Baird has announced.

Agricultural and manufactured products of southern Oregon will be displayed before representatives of 21 Latin-American countries at Sacramento August 25 to 30, during the Pan-American reciprocal trade conference, according to word received from the California city.

Lakeview fire department received from Pendleton a high-powered fire truck. The purchase of the truck, plus some changes in the water mains which Lakeview will make within the next 30 days, will give Lakeview new fire insurance rates considerably lower than the present ones.

BOOTH-KELLY GIVEN MORE WOOD CONTRACTS

A contract for 100 cords of slab wood to be delivered to the schools of this city was let to the Booth-Kelly lumber company at a special meeting of the school board, which was held on Monday evening. The Booth-Kelly company was the only one placing a bid for the wood.

Another contract was entered into with the Northwest School supply company at a special board meeting on Friday, whereby the company will provide new desks, blackboards and shades for the two new rooms which the being equipped for classes at the Lincoln and Brattain schools. The exact number of desks needed will not be known until a survey of surplus materials now on hand can be made.

NEW HANGAR IS BUILT BY LOCAL GLIDER CLUB

Reconstruction and enlargement of the hangar housing the glider located on Emerald Heights has been completed during the past week and the club has now a hangar large enough so that they can store their ship in the building without dismantling it each time. The former hangar was so small that it was necessary to remove the wings and other parts of the ship to get it within the walls. Now that the new hangar is completed the members of the club need only tighten the various wires on the glider before starting to use it, instead of assembling the entire device.

Several new members have been taken into the club during the past week, says Chester Aldrich, chairman of the membership committee of the club.

The members were out on the hill last Sunday and flew until almost dark without any difficulty.

WORK IS COMPLETED ON GAS MAIN EXTENSION

Workmen for the Northwest Cities Gas company have completed the laying of the new gas main extension from the Eugene-Springfield auto camp to the new camp grounds near the overhead highway crossing. The camp cottages are not ready for the gas connections yet but will be connected just as soon as they are ready for use, according to gas company officials.

TWO SHEEP CLAIMS ARE ALLOWED OWNERS MON.

Two Lane residents were awarded claims for sheep alleged to have been killed by dogs recently, at the meeting of the county dog control board at the court house on Monday. J. R. Honey, route 2, Eugene, was awarded $5, and Mrs. Viola Larsen, of Roosevelt Beach, in western Lane county, was awarded $8 for her claims.

BEAN PICKERS TO GET ONE CENT THIS YEAR

Lane county bean growers, meeting at the Eugene Fruit Growers' plant last Saturday afternoon, decided that they would pay bean pickers at the rate of one cent a pound this year. The matter of paying bonuses to pickers who remain at one farm during the entire season was left entirely to the desires of the individual growers. The growers voted to pool all orders for bean sacks this year.

J. O. Holt, manager of the Eugene Fruit Growers association, which has contracted for most of the crop this season, addressed the 35 growers present at the meeting and told them that quality rather than quantity was essential this year, when there is a large supply of vegetables and a rather slow market.

E. L. Cox, of Goodpasture Island, was chosen chairman of the group and will handle other problems for the growers which may arise later.

PENNEY STORE TO HAVE OPENING THIS WEEK

The formal opening of the remodeled J. C. Penney store in Eugene will be held on Friday and Saturday of this week, according to Homer McLean, advertising manager for the store.

The store has been practically rebuilt during the past two months. The entire second floor has been taken over and being used for women's wear and the office, while the basement has been remodeled so that it may be used at any time more space is needed. It will probably be used for a toy display during the Christmas season.
