

MORE COUNTY FUNDS NEEDED FOR ROADS

Judge Barnard Declares that $500,000 Must be Raised by Taxpayers in Two Years to Assure Early Completion of Highways; Urges Special Tax

Taxpayers of Lane county must raise $500,000 during the next two or three years to be used for the completion of state highways within the county, otherwise the highway work in this county may continue to drag on for an indefinite period, and at the same time costing the county much more than it would usually. This was the problem that was put before the Lane County Chamber of Commerce at their monthly meeting at Florence last Saturday afternoon by Judge G. P. Barnard, who is in Portland today meeting with the state highway commission seeking to arrange some means whereby the funds may be borrowed from that body until a special tax can be voted and collected.

Federal Funds are Available. The county has been seeking financial aid from both the state highway commission and from the federal government for roadwork within the county for some time, according to the judge. "These funds," he says, "are now available." The only stipulation connected with their use is that the county provide their share of the funds which amounts to approximately $200,000. If this is not complied with, the funds set aside for road work in this county will probably be diverted into other funds for immediate use, and it may be several years before such funds are again available for road work here.

Lane county has a total of 311 miles of state highways within its boundaries, says the judge, and until these roads are completed and turned over to the state highway department, the county has to bear the cost of maintenance. After the state accepts the roads from the county they also assume the responsibility and additional expense.

Four Mill Levy Suggested. Judge Barnard is advocating a special levy to be voted on at the November election. He proposes four mills each the next two years. This will provide $200,000 each of the two years, and he says that the county commissioners can probably raise the other $300,000.

The special tax idea was suggested to the members of the county chamber whom Judge Barnard asked to sponsor the movement. It was left in the hands of the roads committee of the chamber and they were instructed to make a report at the next meeting to be held in Cottage Grove in August.

May Borrow Funds. In the meanwhile, Judge Barnard is seeking the necessary funds to carry on the highway program. He says that the county has at various times in the past loaned funds to the state body when it needed them to complete roadwork in this county.

The final completion of the McKenzie highway will hinge largely upon the action which this proposition receives.

MOVIE "PROP" CAFE SERVED HUNDREDS OF MIDDAY MEALS

When Marilyn Miller made "Sally" her first motion picture, which comes to the Colonial Theatre Sunday and Monday, a restaurant covering a city block was built especially for her use at the First National and Vitaphone Studios in Burbank, Cal.

Not that Broadway's brightest star objected to using the regular studio cafe, but the new restaurant was built for scenes in the picture, which show her as a waitress in the big New York eating place.

A famous restaurant on Fifth Avenue was copied to scale, and furnished exactly like the original. Even the kitchen was built, with ranges installed and pots and pans in their place.

The cafe was practical in every way; in other words, it was capable of feeding several hundred people at a time, and the hundreds of extras in the picture, too many to be given lunches during the noon hour at the studio cafe, enjoyed their midday meals in this movie restaurant.

"Sally" is adapted from the musical comedy of that name in which Miss Miller broke all box office records wherever it was played. It is an all-dialogue picture on an elaborate scale with singing and dancing, and it is photographed entirely in Technicolor. Alexander Gray plays opposite the star, John Francis Dillon directed and the cast includes Roy Keltion, Joe E. Brown, T. Roy Barnes, Ford Stirling, Jack Duffy, Maude Turner Gordon, E. J. Ratcliffe, Nora Lane and hundreds of others.

DEPOT MEN FISH IN TAHKENITCH SUNDAY

George Prochnow, Oswald Olson, and Mr. Prochnow's two sons, Richard and Arthur, spent Sunday fishing in Lake Tahkenitch, north of Reedport. They brought back fine catches of perch and trout. The trip was made by train, leaving Eugene on the Coos Bay train shortly after midnight on Saturday night and returning late on Sunday evening. There are not many people fishing in this lake, according to the men, as it is rather difficult to reach by automobile.

AIRPLANE RIDES OFFERED BY LOCAL MERCHANTS

Citizens of Springfield are being given an opportunity to obtain free airplane rides on Sunday, August 10, at the local field as a result of an agreement between the business firms of this city and the Inman School of Flying. Most of the business men of this city are giving away free coupons or tickets with each dollar purchase. When thirty of these have been secured they may be exchanged for a free airplane ride ticket. The offer holds good only on August 10.

WILL ROGERS IN LONDON AT McDONALD THEATRE

Will Rogers whose current starring production for Fox Movietone "So This is London," is now pleasing capacity audiences at the Fox McDonald Theatre, is averse to appearing at the premiers of his own pictures.

A few months ago Rogers visited London to attend the Disarmament Conference.

While there he was urged to write a few articles for the London papers and agreed, but found that what he wrote and his jokes at royalty would not be accepted as the publishers were afraid of Rogers' pointed humor.

At one of the London cinemas Rogers' first picture production, They Had to See Paris, was showing and the manager of the theatre asked Rogers to make a personal appearance and much to his surprise Rogers consented.

He saw They Had to See Paris for the first time and was called to the stage after the finish of the picture to make a few remarks. With a twinkle in his eye that meant something to those who know Will he walked out on the stage and then devoted his talk to the very witticisms that the English papers would not publish, including the story of King George leaving the room and four funkeys removing the gold chair he had occupied.

Will's version was that they were installment collectors taking the chair for non-payment.

"They ate it up," said Will, "showing that the English have a sense of humor."

A midnight radio frolic is scheduled for Saturday night, all those attending this 9:00 o'clock show being privileged to stay for the frolic, from 11:00 p. m. to 2:00 a. m.

High plateaus, wide deserts, rocky crags and the ancient pueblo homes of the Hopi Indians form the background for William Haines' new talking comedy: Way Out West, coming Sunday to the McDonald.

The country club and collegiate atmosphere usually seen in Haines' pictures gives way to scenes of cattle ranges and cowboy activities with the comedian seen as a self-confident newcomer from the East who is gradually made to realize that he has a lot to learn about Western customs.

SEVEN CUSTOMERS MEANS SEVEN TRANSFORMERS

Seven new customers have been added to the list now served by the Mountain States power company in this district during the past few days according to W. K. Barnell, manager of the local office. An unusual thing about these new customers is that in each instance it was necessary to install individual transformers for each customer. It is not very often that a power company goes to this expense for a customer when the revenue will not pay for the equipment used in the installation for a long period, according to the manager.

REX SHOWS OUTDOORS "IN BORDER LEGION"

Richard Arlen, Jack Holt in Zane Grey's The Border Legion, a big outdoor, all-talking picture—that's action entertainment coming to the Fox Rex theatre Saturday and Sunday.

The Border Legion is Zane Grey at his best. It has swift, breathtaking action, hard riding, shooting from the hip and romance that brings a lump into the throat and a tear to the eyes. There is great suspense as Arlen, Holt and Stanley Field face each other with guns in their hands and fight it out, man to man, for the love of Fay Wray.

MANY ATTEND RECITAL BY MARGARET JARRETT

A large audience greeted Miss Margaret Jarrett when she played her piano recital at the McMorran and Washburne auditorium last Saturday night. She played a total of 19 different selections which had been arranged in five groups. Her playing was marked with a delicacy of shading and the accuracy of an experienced performer.

Miss Jarrett is twelve years old and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Jarrett, of this city.

WEED KILLING POOLS TO BE SEMI-WEEKLY

The demand for weed-killing chemicals has become so great this season that the county agent has decided to take orders for pools twice a week instead of once each week, as was formerly announced. The pools will close the first and latter parts of each week.

A total of 1800 pounds of sodium chloride and 200 pounds of atlatide were delivered last week by the agricultural agent, who says that the farmers are very enthusiastic about this method of eradicating noxious weeds. Orders for 200 pounds of the chloride were placed on Saturday of last week alone.

BIGGEST AIR SHOW COMING TO CITY PORT

Mamer, Rankin, Case Coming. Other notable fliers who will be among the fifty or more to be seen at the local field during the show are Niek Mamer, famous Spokane pilot who made a refueling flight around the continent in the Sun God. He will bring a Ford monoplane. Tex Rankin, holder of many records, will be among the commercial stunting team members. Walter Case, the Varney Air Mail pilot, who created a sensation in Portland recently when he took off and landed without being able to see the ground, a hood being drawn over the top of the pilot, will also be here.

Another feature of the tour will be the exhibition of many planes which have been made in the Pacific Northwest, such as the Boeing, Student Prince, Broese, National, Eyerly and Inman types.
