PRIVATE IN NATIONAL GUARD IS TRANSFERRED

Private, first class, Donald M. Palmer, has been transferred from the local unit of the national guard to the reserves at his own request, according to Lieutenant C. A. Swarts, commander. Mr. Palmer asked to be transferred as his duties are such that it is impossible for him to attend drill periods. No successor has been named yet to fill the vacancy in the unit.

The local unit has had a very good summer, says Mr. Swarts. The men have been meeting regularly all summer and only a few of them have been working out of town and have been unable to attend drill periods.

RATTLERS ARE FOUND ON FARM NEAR CRESWELL

More rattlesnakes were killed in this part of Lane county last week when Richard Moore and Allen Moore, found a nest of 16 on the M. G. Viles farm near Creswell. Ten of them were young ones and the other six matured. They were found in a rocky hillside.

The rattlesnake is not a frequent visitor in this vicinity, very few having been seen until this year when they have been found around Springfield and at the top of Baldy. They have been found in the Spencer Butte region for many years.

PROHIBITION COSTS ARE HIGH IN THIS DISTRICT

The cost of federal prohibition enforcement as made public in a summary by the prohibition bureau last Friday shows that the district including Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana and Alaska, has the highest per capita cost of enforcement of any of the twelve districts in the United States. It is 11 cents for each person living in the district.

Wyoming, Utah, Colorado, Arizona, and New Mexico were second with a cost of 10 cents, while New York and Porto Rico was third with a per capita cost of eight cents.
