DEER HUNTERS GET EXERCISE BUT FEW RETURN WITH BUCKS

Plenty of good healthy exercise is all that most of the local deer hunters have been able to get out of their hunting efforts so far this season. Many local citizens marched forth on the Sunday preceding the opening of the season almost certain of returning within a few days with one or two deer. Those who went across the mountains to eastern Oregon have been fairly successful, but those who contented themselves with the game on this side have not fared so well.

Another large number of hunters went into both the McKenzie and Coast country last Sunday and most of them returned without even seeing any deer.

The weather has been too good for hunting, say the experts. They claim that the deer are up in the high mountain tops and are staying there until storms begin sweeping them. They are optimistic, however, and say that it will storm there soon and then the deer will have to come down to lower pastures where they can be found by hunters.

Warner Baxter, star of the Fox Movie-tone Production "Arizona Kid," at the Colonial.

PUBLIC EAGER FOR GREAT OPEN SPACE THRILLER

"The normal human desire to see something different will always keep Western pictures popular."

This, at least is Warner Baxter's belief—and the man who scored such instantaneous fame with his portrayals in "In Old Arizona" and "Romance of Rio Grande" should certainly know whereof he speaks.

"Western pictures, providing care is taken to place them against the splendid scenic backgrounds throughout the West, can always bring something new and different to the spectators—something that will temporarily carry them out of themselves, give them a new incentive and a new outlook."

"With the advent of the talkies the Western temporarily took a back seat; the difficulty of handling the then very temperamental and erratic sound recording equipment away from a studio was tremendous. But the ruggedness of the apparatus was steadily improved and today the engineers have perfected the durability of sound mechanism. Meantime, a flood of letters from screen fans and theatre owners descended on the producers, all demanding Westerns."

Mona Maris, the Argentine beauty who scored so heavily with Baxter in "Romance of Rio Grande," again has the leading feminine role in "The Arizona Kid," which comes to the Colonial theatre Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. Jimenez, Theodor Von Eltz, Arthur Stone, Hank Mann and other celebrities are in the cast of this first all outdoor talkie.
