TARIFF ON WHEAT

Northern spring winter wheat sold at 70 cents a bushel in Minneapolis the same day the same kind of wheat sold at Winnipeg, Canada, for 56 cents. That's the difference in tariff and no tariff and setting the price in Washington instead of Liverpool.

The farmer can hardly make ends meet with the price of wheat as at present. If he must sell at the world price then he would go bankrupt. As long as the price of wheat is under $1 a bushel the consumer has no right to complain. Undue hardships should not be worked on one class of people in order that another should have cheap food even if that class is the majority.

A correspondent remarks that a Salem man was appointed to the state public service commission by Governor Norblad because he will not have so far to walk home after the new governor takes office. We imagine the new governor will not be in such a hurry to abolish the commission until he finds someone else to do the work.

R. C. Keuhner, recommended for the new county club leader, has a good record and should be able to carry on this extensive work in Lane county. He is a graduate of Oregon State college, is married and has a wide interest in the work. Due to his training in agricultural work it is believed that Mr. Keuhner will cooperate with the county agricultural agents more closely than has been done in the past.

The first long distance electrical transmission line in the United States was from Oregon City to Portland and was built in 1889. That was a unique enterprise 14 miles long. Now we have a connected system from Mexico to Canada whenever necessary.

The Wapinitia cutoff and the Mt. Hood loop have been kept open for travel this winter. This is a practical demonstration of what could be accomplished on the McKenzie pass if the highway department were of the mind to do it.

When Peru and Uruguay played football five of their rabid supporters were killed. They take their football seriously in these Latin republics—use the same methods as they do changing a president.

One dollar out of every twenty-five of our national wealth is invested abroad says ex-President Coolidge. This and our thousands of citizens roaming over the globe is what make for international relations we take it.

Oregon had 2695 auto accidents in November. It's safer to ride in airplanes we opine.

Touch a button and all the housework will be done by electricity while the housewives listen to the radio or watch the television pictures gallop past—scientists so picture the future. But one cynical male remarks that if some women are no better touching electric buttons than the ordinary buttons on their husband's shirts even electricity won't help them.

The public utilities in the United States pay more than a million dollars a day in taxes. What would taxes be if all these were municipally owned and tax exempt?

Way of Life by BRUCE BARTON CONQUERERS

A great merchant of my acquaintance, who is a friend of Gene Tunney, told me what occurred after the final Dempsey-Tunney fight.

Gene, who never loved the crowds or was greatly loved by them, wanted to get away immediately. His idea of the way to spend the evening of victory was to hide himself with a few companions in a hotel bedroom.

His friend said: "Gene, you could have done that if you had lost. But you won. You are champion of the world. Whether you like it or not you must pay the price of the championship. And part of the price is to be seen by the crowd."

In telling the story the merchant enlarged upon the theme.

"When I became manager of one of our stores, I had to do a lot of things I did not like to do," he said. "When I became head of all the stores my unpleasant duties increased. Now I get to the office before nine o'clock every morning, and a large part of my day is consumed in duties that are more or less distasteful. The only man who can do as he pleases is the failure. Every step up that you take means that you belong less to yourself and more to other people."

As he spoke I thought of some examples that have come under my own observation.

The partners of Morgan & Co. are the princes of the modern business world. If you stand outside their building on almost any winter's evening you will see the lights burning in at least a part of the private offices. The lower floors may be dark. The clerks and accountants have gone home. But almost always some of the partners are still on the job.

I spent a day with Coolidge when he was still President. He was supposed to be on vacation. He fished a little in the morning, but it was the least relaxing job of fishing that I have ever witnessed. A secret service man stood at his elbow and another kept watch from behind the bushes on the bank.

Once, for a week, I travelled in a private car with the president of a great corporation. Every morning we left the car at eight o'clock and called on dealers in their stores. We lunched with a group of them at noon, and had another group with us until midnight. At midnight we went to bed, to wake up the morning in another city and do the whole thing all over again.

It was a tougher week than any laborer ever spent.

The big jobs look attractive from a distance, but when you get closer to them you find a large price tag pinned on each one.

Some of us who have been close enough to read the figures on the tags find it quite easy to reconcile ourselves to remaining quietly and contentedly below.

WILDCAT INTERFERES WITH BUSINESS, MOVED

Marion Adams tried to exhibit a caged bobcat in the window of the Gray-Murphy feed store Tuesday afternoon, but the spectators soon began making it impossible for either Mr. Adams to get out or his customers to enter the store. He moved the cat into the back part of the store and many people came in to see it.

The wildcat is eighteen months old, having been captured when a kitten. Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Caba have raised it and recently sold it to Roseburg where it will become a permanent fixture in one of the windows of the Wright-Adams fur store.

The cat is now being exhibited at the Gray Lynx miniature golf course in Eugene.

We Got Over It . . . We Always Do

The year 1893 was a "panic" year. Everybody said it was the fault of the Federal Administration. Bread lines were common, and real money was as scarce as the proverbial "hen's teeth".

In 1907 we went through another period of panic in business and industry. In 1921 we had another business slump that caused the old folks to recall the post-Civil War days.

This week marks the beginning of another year and croaking ravens are perched around on the highways and by-ways, warning that it will be a hard winter and things will be much worse before they are better. Maybe so, and maybe not.

The light and power industry looks forward to the year 1931 with confidence in the future of the United States, as it has in the past. It will continue to improve and extend its service to the people, as it has in the past.

There is no place for pessimism in the conduct of our business.
