

OREGON STATE NEWS OF GENERAL INTEREST

Principal Events of the Week Assembled for Information of Our Readers.

The Oregon-American mill, which has been closed since December 16, started operating last week at Vernonia. More than 150 men were employed.

Rapid progress is being made on the construction of a new high school athletic field in Bend and the grounds will be in shape for the spring meet of mid-state schools. Cinders from Pilot butte, aged volcano at the eastern city limits, will be used on the track.

A giant sturgeon of the size that has made fish stories famous, was caught in the Willamette river near Oregon City by M. L. Bussard and Jimmie Rands. The fish was 7 1/2 feet long, weighing 195 pounds and provided the Bussard, Rands and 28 other families with dinner.

W. A. Luse, 91, one of the oldest pioneers of southwestern Oregon, died at his ranch home on South Coos river. He operated the first sawmill at Empire, and came to Coos bay in 1855. He moved from Empire to his river ranch 47 years ago and lived there until his death.

Klamath people are smiling big smiles as the result of the resumption of the principal sawmill operations, following a prolonged shutdown. The Kesterson Lumber company and the Crater Lake Lumber company plants started recently and the other larger operators are planning to start cutting within the next 10 days or two weeks.

Oregon's share of the national forest receipts for the fiscal year 1930 is $191,772, according to report released from the Portland office of the regional forester. Total receipts of $1,677,559 have been divided among Oregon and 27 other states. California heads the list with a share of $406,877, Oregon is second and Washington is third with $166,441.

The Toledo port commission has awarded a contract to O. R. Altree, president of the newly formed Altree Marine Manufacturing company of Toledo, for the construction of a 15-inch suction dredge at a cost of $42,847.65, the dredge to be used to deepen the Yaquina river from Toledo to Newport. The dredge is to be completed within six months.

Crews have begun work on both ends of the six-mile cut on market road No. 35, also known as the Foothills highway near Molalla. The men are blasting stumps and will have two steam shovels on the job as soon as weather permits. This road will connect Estacada and Molalla and will reduce the distance from Salem to Mount Hood about 25 miles.

At the request of the Baker county butter committee all but one of the food merchants have agreed not to sell butter substitutes. The committee called on grocers and gave out cards bearing the words, "we do not sell butter substitutes." Grocers in the small towns will also be asked to co-operate in the movement to eliminate the use of butter substitutes.

Dates for the annual encampment of units of the Oregon National Guard have been announced by Adjutant General George A. White. Units of the 82d Infantry Brigade, hospital company No. 167 and the state staff, will go to Camp Clatsop for intensive training from June 9 to 29. The annual drill for the artillery units will be held at Fort Stevens from July 11 to 25.

The Rogue River Traffic association has approved the plan of the New York pear committee for an assessment of one cent a box on all auction sales of winter varieties of pears. The money will be used for an extensive pear advertising campaign in the New York city trading area. The Wenatchee, Yakima and Hood River districts have been asked to approve the plan.

Tree-lined highways and shaded wayside will greet motorists in Malheur county a few years hence, if plans of a county-wide tree-planting committee, now under way, materialize. The first step is investigation of types of trees that will be suitable in Malheur county and then adoption of a uniform system. Box elder, Siberian elm and locust were suggested as most suitable types.

Business men are planning to raise a fund to defray expenses of a survey to determine the cost of constructing a breakwater near Tillamook head which would permit yachts, fishing boats and small craft to land at Seaside and anchor in a protected harbor. Their tentative proposal would include a breakwater extending north from the tip of Tillamook head and then curve northeast to enclose a cove for the anchorage grounds.

"FOLLOW THRU" COMES TO COLONIAL THEATRE

Inspired by a pretty and famous woman athlete, produced by America's great stage generals, filled with catchy songs, pepped with screaming comedy, revelling in heart-tingling romance, "Follow Thru" swept Broadway off its feet, and, for two years, kept Schwab and Mandel, its producers, hosts to an entertainment-hungry world.

But now "Follow Thru" is on the screen, and, to all the charms of the sensational stage production, Paramount has added those two delightful screen favorites, Charles Rogers and Nancy Carroll.

"Follow Thru" is a musical slice of country club life, ripping with comedy situations, throbbing with a tingling love story, and it's all in Technicolor. Patrons who see it at the Colonial theatre, starting Thursday for three days, will see even more of a show that did the thousands who paid five and six dollars a seat to see in New York.

"THE LAST PARADE" AT FOX McDONALD FRIDAY

"The Last Parade," the Columbia picture at the Fox McDonald theatre Friday and Saturday night, is one of the most stirring pictures of the year. The first two sequences are particularly spectacular, serving as a fine beginning for a screen attraction of dramatic tenacity, which develops logically and moves rapidly toward an unexpected climax.

The plot revolves around two typical New York characters, Cookie Leonard, a newspaper reporter, and Michael O'Dowd, a policeman. Both fall in love with pretty Molly Pearson. Cookie, broke and hungry, eventually becomes a gangster. He quarrels with a rival czar of racketeers, one Marino, and then puts him on the spot to avenge the murder of Molly Pearson's brother. The law steps in with disastrous results for Cookie Leonard.

Calabash was seated in his office when the phone rang. "Hello, is this Mr. Calabash?" came the voice over the wire.

"Yes," replied Calabash. "Who is this?"

"This is Johnson, Johnson, Johnson and Johnson lawyers."

"Oh, good morning, good morning, good morning, good morning."

McLAGLEN COMES SUNDAY IN LATEST COMEDY ROLE

Victor McLaglen is hard on uniforms. In his various military roles since "What Price Glory," he has worn out some twenty sets of olive drab and khaki from his strenuous exertions. Three uniforms alone were used to keep Vic properly clothed in his latest Fox Marlboro, "A Devil with Women," playing at the Bell theatre Sunday and Monday. McLaglen is supported in this film by Mona Maris, Humphrey Bogart, and Luana Alcaniz, among others. Irving Cummings, who directed McLaglen in "On the Level" also directed this production.

"He was her man, but he done her wrong," is the theme on which Pathe's dramatic picture, "Her Man," a story of night life in Havana billed at the theatre for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

The wistful Helen Twelvetrees appears as the relentless Frankie, and Ricardo Cortez, he of the passionate eyes and dangerous smile, is Johnnie, the man who "done her wrong." Marjorie Rambeau makes her screen debut as Annie, with whom, in the ancient melody, Frankie's man trifled with dire results.

Wally Wales in "Breed of the West" will be seen at the theatre Friday and Saturday of this week.

"ROYAL FAMILY" IS AT McDONALD SHOW

What is most certainly the cleverest display of brilliant acting that film audiences have been privileged to see in many months is on parade at the Fox McDonald theatre Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday where "The Royal Family of Broadway" will show.

"The Royal Family of Broadway" is based on the famous play, "The Royal Family" by George S. Kaufman and Edna Ferber. It depicts the home life of a leading family of American stage performers.

But it is not the impressive quality of the original playwrighting alone which makes this play a wonderful movie. Most of the splendid attributes of this production are found in the stirring craftsmanship of Fredric March, Ina Claire, Henrietta Crossman and Mary Brian—as presentable a quartet of sterling actors as one could wish for.

"Passion Flower" Sunday
"Passion Flower," William de Mille's M-G-M picture at the Fox McDonald theatre Sunday and Monday is a well-done presentation of the popular and much discussed novel by Kathleen Norris. The roles of Casey, Dan, Dulce, Morado and Leroy Pringle are played by such excellent screen artists as Kay Johnson, Charles Bickford, Kay Francis, Lewis Stone and Winter Hall.

Mrs. Vere de Vere—"I'm inviting a professor of romance languages to our dance this evening.
Her daughter—"That's wonderful of you, mother. Is he going to croon for us?"

Angus—What would you do with $1,000 if I was to give it to you?
Sandy—The first thing I would do would be to count it.
"Have you seen the mounted police of Chicago?"
"Gosh, do the gangsters stuff 'em as well as shoot 'em?"

She—I wonder if you remember me? Years ago you asked me to marry you.
Absent-minded Professor—Ah, yes; and did you?
"When is your wife coming back?"
"I don't know. She is taking part in a vacation marathon!"
