Creamery Shows Business Gains

First Year in Springfield is Successful; Creswell Cream Station Started

Proof of the suitability of this vicinity for dairying industry was forcibly pointed out here recently with the close of the first year's business of the Springfield Creamery. The local institution has enjoyed a continual growth in volume of business and has been able to pay farmers of this vicinity slightly higher price for their butterfat than they could obtain outside of Portland.

Manufacture of dairy products has also shown a great increase during each succeeding month of the year. Large quantities of butter have been churned an increasing ice-cream business has been noted and more unified support of the business by local people has been felt by the proprietors. Ice deliveries are also being made regularly.

One of the largest advances in trade expansion made by the firm during the first year is the establishment of a cream station at Creswell. This is managed by Gail Perry who tests the cream brought in by farmers and delivers it at the plant here each evening. This new service has greatly increased the number of patrons of the creamery, providing a easier and quicker method of selling their butterfat.

Book Donations Asked By School

Free Textbook Plan to Become Effective in Lower Schools of City Next Fall

A request for donations of grade school textbooks which can be used in the schools of the city next fall was made by principals at the Lincoln and Brattain schools.

The schools will adopt the free text book plan authorized by the last legislature according to G. B. Wood, and Roy P. Quiney, principals. The law provides that schools may supply text books to pupils in the first eight grades insofar as $1.50 per pupil each year will enable them to do so. The plan is to be extended each year until all elementary and junior high school text books are supplied by the district.

Those favoring the plan argue that when books are purchased by the schools they can be obtained for less and in some cases it will not be necessary to supply individual texts for all pupils.

Principals of the two grade schools here state that if all books now owned by pupils were to be donated to the schools, and new ones purchased to only to fill out the present needs of the schools, the free text book plan might be put into effect at once.

In asking for donations of books the school officials promise that it will not be necessary under any circumstances for those people to purchase copies of books given to the schools if other children in the family need them later.

Lists on which to check the names and quantities of books owned by students were distributed among the parents this week with the request that they be filled in and returned to the schools to be used as a guide in preparing plans for next year.

Books which the schools decide to furnish free next year will not be accepted by book-stores or in the schools for sale or exchange. This plan has been endorsed by the State Superintendent of Education.

These are the only two vacancies in the school board to be filled in June. C. A. Swarts has another year to serve and F. B. Flanery has two more in office.

Petitions for these offices must be filed with the clerk ten days before the date set for the election.

Commenting on the school board position this morning, Dr. Pollard stated that he has served several terms and would not go out to seek another term on the board, but friends have asked permission to circulate a petition and he consented to run. The names of the judges will not be divulged until Tuesday.

Exhibitors are to be divided into two groups; blooms and baskets. The roses are to be exhibited either as single blooms, six-of-a-kind or three-of-a-kind in vases. The baskets may be any flowers or mixture of flowers either wild or tame, arranged according to the individual taste of the exhibitor.

The parade is scheduled to start at the corner of Seventh and Main streets promptly at four o'clock and will march down Main street to the railroad tracks at third. Each child is entitled to enter almost anything in the parade. The exhibits will be especially grouped in three classifications; vehicles, push cars, and comic costumes.

Women of the Civic club will serve a lunch at noon. They will charge 35 cents for this and invite all interested people to attend. Funds from this will also be used to defray expenses for the children's treats.

BALL TEAM TAKES GAME IN EUGENE

Pitchers Stage Duel; Ten Innings Required to Settle Supremacy for Springfield

One of the most spectacular baseball games ever played in Eugene or Springfield was dished out to fans at Eugene Tuesday afternoon when Eugene and Springfield high schools crossed bats in a ten-inning game which ended 3-2 for Springfield.

Both teams played a pitching duel for the first six innings with only scattered hits and no runs until Eugene made two runs. Then the game became a nip and tuck affair until the ninth inning when Springfield ran in two scores and shut out Eugene, tying the score making an extra inning necessary.

Springfield players brought in one run in the first of the tenth and again shut out Eugene, thus taking the game.

The entire game was a pitching battle between John Lynch for Springfield and McKittrick and Inman for Eugene. Clever playing on the part of both teams accounted for the few scores which were made.

Another victory, almost as interesting as the Eugene high game was the match with University high here Friday. Springfield players took this game 5-3. This game also saw the locals trailing on the short end of 3-1 score until the fifth inning when four additional runs were made bringing the final scores for the game, as neither team made a run after the fifth.

Springfield high school meets Cottage Grove here Friday afternoon in the final game of the season. This game should be an easy victory for Springfield. Over in Eugene the crucial game between Eugene high and University high is also scheduled for Friday. The prepers are now leading the league and if they win they will become champions. If they drop this game they will throw the championship into a three-way tie between Springfield, Eugene, and U. H. S. This would necessitate play-off games.
