U. S. TO CURTAIL SALE OF FOREST TIMBER LAND Government Seeks to Prevent Increase of Present Oversupply of Marketable Lumber In line with the policy approved by the president, the U. S. Forest service has ordered temporary restriction of sales of timber from the national forests, as a means of relieving the serious depression now confronting the lumber industry. Regional Forester C. J. Buck has received from Chief Forester R. Y. Stuart instructions, effective immediately, to make no sales of national forest timber during the present economic situation, where the value of the timber sold is in excess of $500, except under the following conditions: 1. To supply the needs of already existing sawmills which are dependent upon the national forests for their raw material and where such raw material can not be obtained elsewhere. 2. To furnish domestic paper mills with raw material needed to supply the domestic market with newsprint and other wood pulp products. 3. To dispose of wind-thrown, fire-damaged or fire-killed, and bug-infested timber. These exceptions designed to avoid causing unnecessary unemployment or unnecessary hazard to the forests. No restriction is placed upon small sales amounting to less than $500, which usually involve special material directly obtainable from the national forests and utilized locally. In 1929, more than 13,500 sales from the national forests were for sums less than $500.

Maryland Woman Happy Now—Loses 55 Lbs. Edith J. Marriott of Baltimore, Md. writes: "Last winter I weighed 200 lbs. and was very much ashamed. I bought a bottle of Kruschen Salts which gave such wonderful results I bought more. After 4 bottles I weigh 145 lbs. and all my friends say "How slender you've gotten—how did you do it?" I say only 4 words—thanks to Kruschen Salts." A generous bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts a week costs but 85 cents at "Kretz's Drug Store" or any drugstore in America—take one half teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—cut out pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—that will help Kruschen take off your fat. Take Kruschen every morning—it's the little daily dose that does it—if not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back.
