

TWENTY-EIGHTH YEAR.

POLLARD REMAINS SCHOOL DIRECTOR

Heaviest School in Five Years Polled at Library Monday

BARBER REMAINS CL.

Many Smaller Districts Elect New Directors and Clerks; Rural Balloting is Light

Voters of Springfield decided against any change in the personnel of the school board for school district 19 at the annual school election Monday afternoon and evening. As a result, Dr. W. H. Pollard, present chairman of the board, will retain membership as a director, and Clayton P. Barber will continue to serve as school clerk for the next year.

Unexpectedly and unheralded the voters of the city turned out for the election in greater numbers Monday than they have done at any school election for the past five years. Many people had forgotten about the election until their friends reminded them and only the election officers realized that a heavy vote was being halted.

Heavy Vote Cast

A total of 278 voters marked ballots at the polls at the library Monday. Barber, unopposed for school clerk, polled 242 votes while five wrote in the name of Wm. G. Hughes for the post. The race between Dr. Pollard and Vern Daniels for the school director post was uncertain until the last few ballots had been counted after the election. The vote for each was tied several times as the ballots were being counted, but the former finally gained as the last were tabulated to win with 161 votes as compared to 115 for the latter.

Swarts to Be Chairman

The present organization of the board will continue for a month or until the next meeting, according to the chairman. At that time C. A. Swarts, now starting the final year of his term on the board, will automatically become chairman of the group. The other member of the school board is F. B. Flanery who was elected last June and who has two more years to serve to complete his term.

Although the vote cast Monday was not a record for all elections in Springfield, it was however a record in school elections for the past five years at least. The next highest vote was polled last year when 261 votes were cast. A total of 221 votes was cast in the election in 1929, and an unusually low level was reached in 1928 when only 72 votes were cast. One hundred and ninety-five voted at the election in 1927. The light vote in 1928 was accounted for by the fact that there was only one candidate for each office.

Rural Districts Elect

Reports received from various school districts in this part of Lane county indicates that interest was lagging in the school election. The rural school posts are generally conceded to be thankless tasks and in some districts it is quite a problem to find anyone whom is willing to serve.

Laurence Gossler was elected director at Thurston replacing James Hill. William Henson was re-elected clerk.

Cedar Flat district 95 elected James Hart director for three years. He was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Fielding Crump, director at the time of his death. Mrs. Joseph Hart was re-elected clerk.

Two directors were elected in Waterville school district 57. One was chosen to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Frank Vaughn. The new directors are Orlando Hardy and John Kickbush. J. H. Devor was chosen to serve another term as clerk.

Leland Shrode replaced John King as clerk in Deerhorn district 65 at the Monday election. Mr. King was elevated to position of director for three years taking the place of Del Benson.

Leaburg residents elected Clarence Elston director to take the place of Arthur Frazer who refused re-election. Sam Swafford was chosen clerk to replace Charles Carter.

No Date Set For First Dividends

Forms for Liquidation Arrive; Proof of Claims Necessary Before Payments Start

No date for payment of first dividends in the liquidation of the Commercial State bank has been announced as yet by Ray Landon, deputy bank examiner in charge. Forms for the liquidation have arrived and the bank force has been working day and night to get ready to start payments.

Before payments are made a notice to depositors will be published in the newspaper and they will come into the bank and make proof of deposits by sworn statements. The examiner expects to publish the notice next week and it will be some time after that that the first payments out of the money on hand will be made.

Bankers and business men generally believe the bank will pay out eventually a high percentage on deposits. The commercial and savings departments of the bank will be liquidated separately. On how good the banks loans are will depend largely how big the payments to depositors will be.

Picnic Site Aim At Pleasant Hill

Will Sell Shares to Purchase Property From Woodman Lodge Trustees, at $10

A movement to purchase the Woodmen of the World property at Pleasant Hill and the setting aside of it as a permanent picnic ground, to be used principally for the annual Pleasant Hill picnic, is being launched this week by trustees for the Woodmen organization which has been disbanded.

The grounds, on which the annual picnic has been held for years past, was formerly owned by the lodge, but when it was disbanded a group of men in the community took it over and have been administering it as a trust. This group headed by Ross Mathews, Creswell R. F. D. 1, are now seeking the organization of an association which will take over the property. They will issue shares which will be sold for $1 each to anyone who is interested in the perpetuation of a large ideally situated picnic ground.

A valuation of $500 has been set on the property and this must be subscribed during the next three months or the holders declare they will advertise it for sale. Plans for the improvement of this property, if the purchase is made, are to tear down the old Woodman hall which is in a bad condition, and erect a residence in its place. Someone would live there and care for the property.

Anyone wishing to keep the property from going into the hands of a private party is asked to communicate with Mr. Mathews. His telephone is Springfield 33F24.

FIRE SWEEPS ASPHALT AS RETORT FLUE BREAKS

What might have become a serious fire was smothered out shortly after it started near the Southern Pacific depot Friday at 4 o'clock when one of the retorts in the boiler used in heating the oil before it is transferred to the large pressure tanks burst and set fire to the asphalt. The city fire department was called and soon had a stream of water which drowned out the flames. The hot asphalt splattered over a large space about the unloading tanks.

The asphalt is heated to 300 degrees before it is loaded into the tank cars at the place of production, and must be heated again here before it can be spread out on the pavement where the non-skid surfacing is being applied. The asphalt is pumped out of the railroad car into the heater and then pumped back into the car thus raising the temperature of the entire tank.

Junior Ball Team Wanted by Legion

Organization and Practice for Boys' Baseball Teams Now Under Way in Lane

An effort to enlist the interest of boys in the American Legion junior baseball competition in Lane county brought Frank Fassett of Eugene to this city last week-end. Fassett, who together with Lloyd Terrill, are in charge of the selection of the Lane county championship team, would like to see teams organized in every community of the county if possible. Several teams have already been started and others will very likely be organized they stated.

They are trying to have each legion post in the county sponsor a team, and they extended a special invitation to boys of Springfield to practice with the Eugene team and try-out for places if no team is started in this city.

To be eligible to enter the competition the boy must be under 17 years of age. Practices are held every Tuesday and Friday evenings at the University High school field. The team will be chosen the latter part of this month.

The winning team in Lane county will play champions of Lincoln and Benton counties for the district title, and the district winners will play at Corvallis for the state championship during the state American Legion convention in August. The champions of each state will play for the national championship during the national convention.

BOOTH-KELLY TO SHUT DOWN JULY 1

Notice is for Indefinite Time; All Orders Will Be Shipped; Retail Sales Continue

Both sawmills of the Booth-Kelly Lumber company located at Springfield and at Wendling, also all camps of the concern will be closed down July 1, for an indefinite period according to an announcement posted on the bulletin board of the Springfield plant Wednesday morning. The planing mill and the shipping departments will operate when necessary to care for orders which may be received. The retail office in Springfield will remain open as usual. Continued depressed state of the lumber markets was given as the reason for the closing notice.

Just when the mills would start operations again is an uncertainty depending entirely on the condition of lumber markets, according to Ralph Martin, general superintendent of the concern. He declined to make any prediction as to when this would take place stating that one person's guess was good as another.

Rumors that the Springfield mill-pond was to be filled with logs hauled in by truck was unfounded he stated. The Booth-Kelly company purchased a few thousand feet of large logs from a mill in the Mohawk valley recently. The logs were so large they could not handle them in their own mill. Most of these have been delivered.

Rumors that the mill would close down have been current here for several weeks, always without foundation. The mills have formerly closed down for a week or ten days around the Fourth of July for repairs and cleaning, but the shut-down effective July 1, will be indefinite.

RAINS DO DAMAGE TO HAY AND FRUIT

Cherry Crop to Be Lightest in Years Says County Agent as Rain Bursts Skins

MUCH HAY NOW DOWN

Moisture Will Be Beneficial to Grain Crops, Pasture and Vegetable Gardens

That Lane county will experience one of the lightest cherry crops in several years as a result of the rains of this week was the opinion expressed this morning by O. S. Fletcher, Lane county agricultural agent. Mr. Fletcher has received reports at his office from several of the leading growers in the county and made a personal investigation Wednesday afternoon when he visited several farms in this vicinity during a tour arranged to observe the effect of sodium chloride and attack weed killers on demonstration patches.

While visiting the farms several counts were made and it was found that approximately 70 per cent of the cherries ready to pick at that time had split open, and with further rains it was highly probable that the crop would be a total loss.

Many orchardists were advertising this week for pickers. The prevailing price is reported to be one-half cent a pound for picking. There is no market for the Royal Ann cherries according to the county agent. Members of Eugene Fruit Growers' association are pooling theirs with no assurance of a profitable return.

There has been a fair demand for the dark varieties, however. The prices offered before the rains set in were high enough for the grower to realize a fair profit, but would have paid all costs entailed in the marketing of them.

J. O. Holt, manager of the Eugene Fruit Growers' association stated that they had been unable to make many sales of Royal Ann cherries.

Hay crops in the county were also hard hit by the rains, states Mr. Fletcher. Nearly all of the vetch hay has been cut and is either in winrows or in shocks, and most of the clover hay is down on the ground. This will seriously injure the quality of the present crop, he stated.

The rains have, however, had an advantageous effect on the winter and spring grains and on pasture lands. Vegetable gardens will greatly benefit from the late precipitation.

Farms visited by the weed control tour Wednesday included those of Truman Chase, Cal Young, M. B. Harlow, George Morrow, and John Hardy. Fifty people attended the tour.

LANE PEOPLE HEAR HOMESITE FACTS

Explanation of Eugene Attitude Towards Roseburg Given at County Dinner

LOCAL MEN AT MEETING

Value of Soldiers' Home to Any Community Explained By Delegates to Capitol

That Eugene made no tender of a soldiers' home site in Lane county until after Roseburg had failed to be named by the veterans' bureau in three meetings and after members of the board had expressed hope that a site would be submitted from this locality, was the assertion of T. O. Russell, who has been in Washington, D. C., in the interest of the home. Mr. Russell spoke Wednesday night to a meeting of Lane county people at the Osburn hotel. Those attending from here included W. H. Hobbs, W. K. Barnell and H. E. Maxey.

Mr. Russell vigorously protested that Eugene had done anything unethical in submitting a site after she had endorsed Roseburg. He said that Roseburg had failed to properly qualify else she would have been named as the home site several months ago.

The veterans board special committee is expected to visit Eugene and Roseburg about July 1 and make a recommendation as to the best site. The board, Mr. Russell told his listeners, are determined to decide the location on the grounds of the best interest of the veterans regardless of political or local pressure that may be brought to bear.

In explaining the value of the Northwest Soldiers' home to a community Mr. Russell stated that the venture calls for an appropriation of $2,000,000 of which $1,000,000 is immediately available; four hundred to seven hundred acres of land for homes, farm, and park.

The first unit will be started with 17 acres of buildings, one of these to be 400 by 400 feet, seven stories high. There will be 1500 employees, many of them high ranking army officers, and practically all on a high standard of salary.

The veterans bureau has applications from 2500 who seek entrance into the home. It is estimated that each employe family will number three persons, and that six people will visit each veteran in the home annually thus bringing 30,000 visitors to the community.

The area to be served by the home including Pacific coast, Alaska, Hawaii, and east to North and South Dakota.
