

STATE SELLS LOT TO BRITISH ISLES

Two Million Dollars Worth of Apples, Pears and Prunes Sold in 1930

American Consul Russell M. Brooks, who has been stationed in London for the past year, arrived in Portland on July 20 for a three-weeks' stay to carry on trade conference work in conjunction with the Portland district office of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce. Mr. Brooks has been in the consular service since 1919, and has held responsible positions in Dresden, Germany, Belfast, Ireland, and Newcastle-on-Tyne and London, England. During his assignment in Belfast, Ireland, Mr. Brooks made a special study of the flax industry of that country, and has recently been actively engaged in watching after the interests of American exporters in the British markets.

In 1929 the United Kingdom was Oregon's most important customer, taking $14,568,125 worth of lumber and food products. The same year we imported $577,271 worth of British merchandise. Oregon exports to the United Kingdom in 1930 were $11,961,473 worth of merchandise. Following is a list of leading Oregon exports to the United Kingdom during 1930:

Boxed apples, $1,448,357; boxed pears, $205,827; canned loganberries, $448,458; dried prunes, $518,634; canned apples, $132,178; other canned berries, $56,004; canned pears, $901,313; cedar logs, $6,484; railroad ties, $15,970; sawed timber, $355,467; Douglas fir lumber, $519,544; cedar lumber, $119,753; spruce lumber, $177,683; hemlock, $7,041; veneers, $114,622; plywood, $111,388; doors, $408,994; wheat flour $101,896; grain, $5,440,244.

WATERED PASTURES AGAIN SHOW VALUE

The outstanding value of irrigated pastures for summer feed for dairy cattle is again emphasized by the detailed report on the 1930 pasture season for the Laidlaw clover field started and maintained by the Oregon Experiment station at Corvallis. Figures are embodied in a new circular of information No. 57 by I. R. Jones and P. M. Brandt of the dairy department at the college.

A more direct comparison than usual was afforded last year through the fact that for one two-weeks' period late in the pasture season the cows were taken off the clover pasture and starved while the tract recovered from over-pasturing. The herd was later returned to it.

A direct check of costs during that time showed that the feed cost per 100 pounds of milk was 29 cents greater under stall feeding than on the clover pasture. During that period there was less gain in weight per cow and less production, though the cows were fed a good balanced ration.

Results in general last year bore out the findings of the year before as regards the high return to be expected from a pasture tract. The gross return, in fact, was larger than the preceding year, though as pasture costs were somewhat higher because of needed repairs and fertilizers, the net return was slightly smaller.

Nevertheless, this total net return amounted to $467.48 in feed saved during the summer, not counting the increased efficiency of this pasture feed over hay and a net return of $41.01 per acre, which represents about 76 1/2 per cent on the investment of $150 an acre.

STREET STUNTS WILL FEATURE LEGION MEET

Corvallis, Ore., July 30 — Street stunts at the annual convention of the American Legion at Corvallis August 6, 7 and 8, will be the object of as much interest to visitors as any feature of the big program of entertainment, Carl Moser, department adjutant says. Moser has been adjutant and assisted in the preparation of seven state conventions and has observed the reactions of crowds in as many cities of Oregon.

"With the prizes offered by the Corvallis convention committee," Moser says, "some real stunts are bound to show. The street stunts are entirely aside from the scheduled program of entertainment and may be presented by individuals or large groups, such as drum corps or bands. Posts from all over the state will vie for the awards. There is no telling what might happen in these stunts, but from the information that the Corvallis committee has all the old gags will be back and many new and original ones. Bert Bates, formerly of Roseburg and now of Hollywood, California, is in Oregon and will stay for the convention, and this fact alone insures plenty in the way of diversified fun. Bates is a captain of impromptu entertainment and has many friends within the Legion who have worked with him before and are ready again."

TEST FOR DRIVERS SLATED FOR LANE

Examinations Will Be Held in Eugene, Cottage Grove and Junction City

LAW IS EXPLAINED HERE

Secretary of State Explains Rules in Regard to Applicants for State Permits

Schedules of more examinations here for applicants for state car drivers' licenses are announced by Glenn O. Bown, examiner.

The following are the dates of examinations in Lane: Cottage Grove, city hall, August 6 and 20 and September 3 and 17 from 1 p. m. to 4 p. m. each date; Eugene, city hall, August 7 and 21 and September 4 and 18, 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. each date; Junction City, fire station, August 1 and 15 and 19 and September 12 and 26, from 2 p. m. to 5 p. m. each date.

In explanation of the new state law requiring an examination for drivers' licenses Hal E. Hoss, secretary of state, is sending out the following information:

Law is Explained
"The uniform operators and chauffeurs license examination law, that went into effect July 1, is not intended to prevent the competent drivers from obtaining an operators license, but is intended to make sure that every person receiving an operator's license in Oregon understands the road laws of this state and especially those contained in the uniform code, passed at the last session of the legislature, which put into effect some very definite changes. Examiners who have been covering the state are reporting that a very small per cent of applicants for operator's and chauffeur's licenses are able to pass the written examination on the law without study."

This means a delay at the time of application for the purpose of studying the law, or means that the applicant must return at a later date, after he has studied the law for his examination. Our department has prepared in booklet form a list of questions and answers from the new law for the purpose of informing the motoring public and especially the new applicants, the answers that are expected when making application for an operator's license. Booklets are available at the office of the secretary of state or from any of the examiners, and the questions and answers will be published in a number of the newspapers of the state."

The new law also provides that operator's licenses, issued between the year 1920 when the first operator's licenses were issued in Oregon, and July 1st, 1931, when the last licenses under the old law were issued, are to be cancelled within the next three years and the holders of those old licenses should also know the answers to these questions. The secretary of state wishes to emphasize the fact, however, that the old licenses are not being cancelled at this time.

Six Girls Get Diplomas
Six Lane county girls will receive diplomas at the state normal school at Monmouth July 31, at the completion of the first half of the summer session.

The following students from Lane will graduate: Edith Ayers, Leaburg; Kate Green, Eugene; Helen Larimer, Fall Creek; Myrtle Plank, Cottage Grove; Lura Rogers, Springfield; Thelma Sweeney, Springfield.

"If you go first, dear, you'll wait for me on the other shore, won't you?" questioned the fond wife.

"I suppose so," returned the husband, with a sigh. "I never went anywhere yet without having to wait for you."

SUMMER CARE OF INFANTS IS TOLD

State Board of Health Warns Mothers on Feeding, Warm Weather, Cleanliness

Long before the baby's arrival the mother should be impressed with the importance of breast feeding. Statistics show that the breast-fed baby is, in general, far more likely to live through the first critical year than is the bottle-fed baby. Every mother's mind should be fully made up that she will nurse her baby unless the doctor himself finds some insuperable reason to the contrary. The best and most experienced doctors believe that almost all mothers can nurse their babies, at least for a time. If the proper effort is made and they rarely advise artificial feeding except for grave medical reasons. Breast feeding is much safer for the baby; it is much less trouble for the mother and more economical.

Although breast feeding is important for the baby at all seasons of the year, every mother will realize at once that it is doubly so in summer. Many of the characteristics of the summer season—heat, flies, dust, etc.—tend to make artificial feeding a nightmare for the conscientious mother.

Young babies, especially during the warm weather, are particularly susceptible to digestive upsets and to diarrheal diseases. It is much easier to prevent these than to cure them. Clean cow's milk is the best substitute for mother's milk. It should be boiled for two or three minutes, then cooled before feeding it to the baby.

When cow's milk of good quality cannot be obtained unsweetened or evaporated condensed milk diluted with water makes a satisfactory substitute. The sweetened condensed milk is not recommended. Babies fed on it exclusively are fat, often look well, but have no resistance to disease.

Babies should be carefully protected from contact with other children and older persons in the family who are suffering with diarrhea. House flies frequently carry the germs that cause diarrhea diseases, from out-houses, to the baby's food or to the baby's hands, face and body. Houses should be screened in the summer and flies should be kept away from the baby's food and clothing. The baby and young child should be dressed according to the temperature and not according to the season. Babies should rarely be fed more often than every three hours. There is less risk, especially in hot weather, if they are fed at four-hour intervals—that is, five or at most six times in the twenty-four hours.

Cooled boiled water should be offered to the baby between feedings in hot weather.

The baby should have a room to himself. It should be clean, well ventilated and free from unnecessary hangings and furniture. Sunlight and fresh air are indispensable for the baby. The only safe procedure in raising babies is to consult a well-qualified physician for advice. (State Board of Health).

COUNTY ASKED TO GIVE NEW SCHOOL
Acquiring Right-of-Way for Coast Highway Necessitates Moving of Building

MORE PUPILS ARRIVE

Construction Work Brings in Many Families; Additional Children in District

In the acquiring of land by Lane county for the right-of-way for the Oregon Coast highway north of Florence the county has been asked to build a new school to replace one that will have to be moved to make way for the road construction.

The school building is on land near China creek and is directly on the right-of-way for the highway, according to members of the county court. There were only two pupils to attend the school, this being a smaller number than required for establishment of a school district.

With the moving in of a large number of families due to the start of the road construction work there are now about 25 children in the district and school facilities must be provided.

The county court has been asked to build a new school. The plan does not meet approval of the court as it is held that as soon as the highway work is completed that the construction crews and their families will move out and there will be but few pupils left.

THREE WOMEN FREED; SENT TO MISSOURI

Three women held at the county jail following their arrest with two men, charged with robbery of a service station at Cottage Grove last week, were released Saturday and the county provided funds for their transportation to Missouri.

Dakota Folks To Gather at Picnic

Annual State Meeting to Be Held Here August 9; Crowd of 1500 Is Expected

Former residents of North Dakota are making plans for the annual state picnic of the Dakota clubs to be held August 9 at River-view park.

Last year the annual picnic was held at Albany and more than 1000 persons were in attendance. An attendance of 1500 is forecast for this year, members of the committee in charge say.

The general committee in charge is composed of John L. Marsh, T. H. Garrett, and M. Sververud.

Mrs. H. R. Gould heads the committee on tables and decorations. Dr. Charles Hunt has charge of the music. The committee on coffee, sugar and cream is composed of John Evans, and W. J. Lichty. The committee on ribbons and badges is composed of Fred H. Getchell and A. J. Atwater.

Two spinsters were discussing men.

"Which would you desire most in your husband: brains, wealth or appearance?" asked one.

"Appearance," snapped the other, "and the sooner the better."
