Cut In License For Dogs Pends

Board Considering Plan to Lower Rate; Some Lane People Get Tags Outside

Whether the cost of dog licenses in Lane county will be reduced to conform with adjacent counties is not yet decided. A meeting of the county dog control board will be held Monday but it is doubtful now whether any decision will be reached.

R. J. Morris, enforcement officer, is to visit counties adjacent to Lane to obtain information as to the cost of licenses in these counties. The state law provides that each county may set its own license fee.

The enforcement officer says that numbers of dog owners in Lane have obtained licenses in neighboring counties where the rate is less. These licenses are valid in Lane and for this reason an effort will be made to lower the rate here, Morris said.

CAUSE OF PIMPLES TOLD BY PHYSICIANS

Over Active Glands Responsible; Not a Sign of Serious Physical Ailment

People will bear up philosophically under an incapacitating illness or even where one threatens life, whereas the moment they suffer from a relatively trivial ailment affecting their personal appearance, they are distressed beyond measure. Most people worry more about pimples on the face than they do about malignant disease.

The Lane County Medical society declares that most of the pimples which people have cause little trouble to their health. Most of these disturbances are caused by the excessive secretions of the skin glands.

"Few serious diseases so completely upset the mental equilibrium of the girls and the collegiates as ordinary acne," declares the bulletin issued today. "For pure pathos, one has but to recall the school girl looking sadly at her mottled complexion in the mirror of the slot machine and then glancing enviously at the billboard picture of the woman with that school girl complexion."

"The tragic thing about the pimple is that it breaks out ruthlessly on the most conspicuous part of the body and at an age when every one is extremely anxious to look his best.

It is important to recognize the fact that the pimple itself is due to infection. For this reason, it is unsafe to use the same towels as a person with acne, but, as a matter of fact, it is not easy to spread the infection to the healthy skin by the towel. Apparently, the soil must be prepared for the infection, that is, the skin must have over-active sebaceous glands which result in blackheads and this skin is prone to develop. If the sebaceous glands are not over-active, pimples are rare.

"The person with pimples is than to infect others. Being self-conscious, he is apt to have a habit of fingering the eruptions and then touching the healthier areas of the skin. In this manner the eruptions are spread from one place to another. It is important for the person with pimples to avoid fingering his face, because of the fact that his skin with its over-active sebaceous glands is especially prone to infection.

The underlying cause of the bad complexion is the disturbance responsible for the over-activity of the little sebaceous glands. The most important cause for the broken-out complexion is undoubtedly youth. At the age of adolescence many of the glands of the body are disturbed in their equilibrium and likely to be over-active. The sebaceous glands are not exception to the general rule.

The most consoling thing about pimples is that they seldom persist after the age of about 30."

JACKSON SPORTSMEN TO RELEASE 3000 BIRDS

Nearly 3000 Chinese pheasants have been released this season by the Jackson County Game Protective association from its outdoor pheasant farm near Medford, according to H. L. Noblit, secretary.

A total of 4300 eggs were received from the state game farms and a hatch of 2946 was secured under outdoor conditions with domestic hens. Most of these chicks were permitted to distribute naturally but 1100 of them were transported to various parts of Jackson county. The Ashland district including Griffin creek and Eagle Point received 634.

Holding pens for saving female pheasants until after the fall shooting are planned for next year. All of this Jackson county propagation work was done without expense to the game commission except the furnishing of eggs, and sportsmen of that section are expecting exceptionally good shooting this season.

COUNTY BUDGET WILL BE TALKED

Court Soon to Name Board to Take Up Question of Expenditures for Year

INTEREST IS SEEN HERE

Reduction of Road Funds to Be Most Likely Topic of Discussion at Session

In anticipation of what will undoubtedly be one of the most important of Lane county budget discussions the county court is selecting its list of members of the budget board of three. M. H. Harlow and F. N. McAlister have been named by the court and the selection of the third member of the board will be made soon.

The framing of a budget for the coming year which will be taken up in November is not to be, judging by present indications, any mere matter of allotments of funds for various purposes.

The wide-spread movement for drastic tax reduction will intrude into the budget sessions and the county chamber of commerce will also have a committee of five members to act as an advisory board to the committee.

Although this chamber committee is unofficial and no law provides for their participation in the budget deliberations the members will have a considerable influence in the shaping of the county expenditures for the coming year.

Members of the county court see no way at present where any big cut in the budget can be made except in slashing into road construction funds. This cut, if made, will reduce the amount of emergency employment for the coming winter which the county now plans as one of its major relief plans.

TWO DEANS NAMED AT OREGON STATE

Appointment of new deans of agriculture and commerce at Oregon State college has just been announced. The new men are to fill vacancies left by the retirement of A. B. Cordley and J. A. Bexell who served for 23 years as deans of agriculture and commerce respectively.

Dr. William A. Schoenfeld of Portland has been given the combined position of dean of agriculture and director of the agricultural experiment station, while Dr. H. V. Hoyt of Provo, Utah, is the new dean of commerce.

For two years Dr. Schoenfeld has been representative of the federal farm board, first for the northwest and then for the entire 11 western states. Prior to that he was northwest representative for the federal bureau of agricultural economics. In these positions he has become intimately acquainted with agricultural problems, with farm organizations and with the college staff members in this state.

HOMEMAKER RADIO CLUB TO BE FORMED

Another Homemaker radio club series is announced from station KOAC. The first club meeting with its radio talk as a feature is scheduled for Tuesday, October 6. This 1931-32 series, which includes 14 broadcasts with detailed programs built around each, deals with the family members and family living.

Club program outlines cover the two hour period each Tuesday from 2 to 4 o'clock. The 20 minute radio lecture is timed for 3 p. m. Programs are mailed in advance of the broadcasting dates so as to allow time for program assignments to club members.

Featured at each meeting of this family life series is a radio broadcast by a specialist of the State college staff. These special speakers include Mrs. Sara Watt Prentiss, professor of child development and parent education; Claribel Nye, professor of home economics extension, and J. Lloyd LeMaster, associate professor of political science.

The first of these junior cooperatives is now being formed at Bandon high school and others will be organized in the near future. If the experiments are successful, the movement may assume considerable proportions in Oregon, Gatlin believes.

To view the land the jury and court will have to make what will probably be an all-day trip south along the coast from Waldport into Lane county.

The land is owned by Viola Lee Pratt who holds the property at $12,316.75, this being at the rate of about $500 an acre, according to the estimate of the county court. The county has offered approximately $50 an acre for the land.

Endorsements of these Granges were received by the county court Friday.

It is doubtful that the county can do any of the rocking requested this year, according to Judge C. P. Barnard of the county court.

Heloise—Harold, you've no idea what it meant to me when you kissed me last night!

Harold—You've nothing on me. I got a five-spot out of it myself—on a wager!

"I hope you are not one of those men who go home and find fault with the dinner," said Kidder.

"No," replied Growcher, "my wife and I eat at a restaurant where we both can find fault."
