COUNCIL TABLES SIDEWALK BIDS

Sale of Small Bond to Finance Improvement Work Difficult at Present Time

OWNERS MAY DO JOB

Wording on Fifth Street Signs to Read Hi-Way, Slow, Councilmen Decide

The city council of Springfield will not issue a Baneroff improvement bond for the construction of sidewalks along east Main street. It was decided at a special meeting of the city council called Wednesday evening to consider the advertising of the contract for the work on the fifth bidders on the project. A motion was made to table the bids and sidewalk project.

Members of the city council failed to award the construction contract at the special meeting called for that purpose the latter part of September. Methods of financing the work were investigated and it was found that the total cost of the new work would be in the neighborhood of $750. It was also found that the sale of improvement or any other kind of municipal bond in a sum less than $1000 was almost impossible.

Contractors bidding on the project were asked prior to the meeting whether they were in a position to carry the bond themselves in the event they received the contract and none of them were sure that they were willing or able to do so.

Had the construction work been of greater proportions calling for greater financial outlays, it would be possible to sell the necessary bonds through bond firms who are not willing to bond with small sums.

The action of the city council does not prevent property owners who had requested the sidewalks from having their own built themselves. One resident in that vicinity has already put in his own cement sidewalk.

Wording on the street signs to be placed at the junctions of the city streets with the Mohawk highway which follows Fifth street north through Springfield was ordered to read Hi-Way SLOW, with the word slow just below the word hi-way. The change was ordered after state traffic officers had been questioned on the signs. They declared that the wording, danger, slow, which had been decided upon would interfere with signs which are used along highways and other places where construction is going on and where dynamite is being used.

CHEMICAL PLANT BURNED MONDAY

Highly Inflammable Rubber Cement Ingites; Entire Building Soon Swept

A drop of rubber cement which splattered into the stovepipe as he was mixing formulas for shoe oils and greases caused a fire which almost totally ruined the building and much of the stock of the Dry-D chemical company, and which endangered the life of Dr. S. R. Jaynes, as he was working alone in the building at Fifth and B streets about six o'clock Monday morning.

The building, owned by E. E. Kepner, was almost totally destroyed, and a large part of the stock and equipment of the chemical company was ruined by the fire and water. The stock and equipment of the chemical company was valued at nearly $650, partially covered by insurance. No insurance was carried on the building.

Plans of the chemical company call for immediate resumption of business. They have a large business in shoe oils, greases, and other similar products, and have many orders which need to be filled each week.

SUPPORTERS WANT COUNTY FAIR HELD

"Best Fair Ever" Gets Low Gate Receipts Testimony Brought Out;

HORSE RACES UPHELD

Committee Will Meet Further to Formulate Report to County Body at Grove

People who attended the first hearing of the Lane County Chamber of Commerce committee in Eugene Wednesday evening expressed themselves as unanimously desiring the continuance of the county fair. More than 50 persons were in attendance from all parts of the county and listened to the talks of the fair board and other supporters of the fair.

Supporters of the fair on the one hand testified that the 1931 event was the best the county has ever put on but gate receipts shows that it was one of the poorest supported. Considerable criticism was leveled at Eugene merchants for not closing their stores on one day of the fair.

Supporters of race horses claimed that they were necessary to the fair success even if they did show for $1000 to $2000 loss in revenues each year. Likewise it was held that the amusement features were necessary to get people to come to what they believed to be a straight agricultural and livestock fair would not be attended. Some advocated that lesser admission charges be made for the grandstand.

The 4-H club exhibit was endorsed as one of the main features of the fair. The discussion brought out, however, that Lane county 4-H club members had won more prize at the State Fair this year than at the county fair.

The committee consisting of Herman Lafky, Cottage Grove, Sam Lehman, Junction City, and H. E. Maxey, Springfield, will hold further meetings to formulate a report to the County Chamber of Commerce when it meets at Cottage Grove.

The financial report of the 1931 county fair as submitted at the meeting is as follows:

Accident Fatal to Woman on Road

Funeral Services for Miss Clara Massee Held Saturday at Portland Crematorium

Miss Clara Massee of Springfield was instantly killed last Thursday when she was run over by a Red Ball freight truck on the Pacific Highway near Judkins point as she was walking towards Springfield from the university where she had been attending school. The truck was driven by Charles Hahn of Roseburg who was exonerated of all responsibility for the accident.

According to Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Riffle of Seattle, eye witnesses to the accident, Miss Massee was attempting to cross the highway and observed two automobiles approaching. She hurried to the center of the pavement and the first car passed her and then she stepped into the path of the truck, which was traveling 25 miles per hour, as the Riffle car approached. She apparently did not see the truck.

Relatives declare that she was probably walking to the bus stop a short distance from the scene of the accident and was crossing to the right hand side of the highway so as to be on the proper side to board the bus when it came.

Miss Massee came to Springfield about four weeks ago to spend the winter with her sister and brother-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. N. W. Emery, while she studied marble carving at the university. She was born in Menominee, Wisconsin, and grew up there, later teaching art in the schools of that city.

Later she went to Paris to study art under Bordell, and had spent the past few years in Portland with two sisters.

She is survived by five brothers and three sisters. They are F. C. Massee, East Grand Forks, Minnesota; R. H. Massee, Appleton, Minnesota; Dr. W. W. Massee, Pine, France; Judge Edward K. Massee, Honolulu; Clarence Massee, Menominee, Wisconsin; Mrs. Emery, Springfield, and Misses Abbie and Emma Massee, Portland.

P.T.A. COUNCIL TO SEEK MEMBERS

New Plans for Year's Work Outlined at Dinner Meeting in Eugene Last Week

A revised plan for the annual membership and attendance drive of the Parent-Teacher association was worked out at the monthly meeting of the Lane county P.T.A. council held last week at the home of Mrs. G. H. Good in Eugene.

If the new plan is adopted, and it is believed that it will be, a prize will be offered to the local P.T.A. unit showing the largest percentage of attendance based on membership for the present year. This prize will probably be a silver tea set, emblematic of the silver teas which the organizations sponsor frequently. The prize would become the permanent property of the first unit to win it three times consecutively.

Each unit will hold its own membership drive and adults will be appointed as leaders instead of depending on children of the school to enroll their parents.

An effort will be made to establish a regular P.T.A. column in the local papers in which news of the units in all parts of the county could be assembled.

The Executive committee will sponsor a silver tea each month in Eugene to which each local unit is expected to send representatives to report on the work being done in their individual groups.

Mrs. Lomax of Eugene, state chairman of the Mother's Study Clubs, was named chairman in charge of this work on the Parent-Teacher council. Mrs. Warren D. Smith was named parliamentary.

FOOTBALL TEAM RESTS THIS WEEK

Players to Scout University High-Cottage Grove Game on Friday Afternoon

MEET ROSEBURG OCT. 16

Eugene Takes Opening Night Contest at Hayward Field Last Friday

Springfield high school's football team will not play this week-end but will rest and will witness the Cottage Grove-University High contest to be played Friday afternoon. The local team has games scheduled with both teams and ought to gather valuable pointers on the tactics of each by attending this contest.

The following week-end, October 16, the boys will go to Roseburg to tangle with the high school of that city before taking on Cottage Grove here on October 23. The University High game is scheduled for Thanksgiving day at Hayward field. It may be a night game, this has been suggested, but no final action has been taken at present.

Eugene gridirers crossed the Springfield goal line twice for touchdowns in their game at Hayward field last Friday night. They were unable to convert the extra point however, and the game ended 12-0. It was a snappy exhibition of high school football in which Springfield's team provided most of the spectacular work and did the best playing.

The local boys clad in new bright red jerseys and headgear seemed to be afraid of their opponents at the outset of the game. They showed some creditable defensive work when the Eugene boys had worked the ball down on the Springfield 10 yard line only to lose it without making downs.

Most of the game was played in Springfield territory. Only once did Springfield players work the ball down near the Eugene goal line.

Outstanding performers on the Springfield team were Vernon Liles and Lloyd Frese.
