

CIVIL WAR VETERAN LAST CALL COMES

Alfred S. Matteson, 89, Died Saturday at the Home of His Daughter in Creswell

Alfred S. Matteson, a Civil War veteran, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. E. Warner, Nov. 18, at the advanced age of 89 and one-half years. Surviving him are four daughters and one son, as follows: Mrs. Ella Renfro, of Seattle, Wash.; Mrs. Daisy D. Warner of Creswell; Mrs. L. Agnes Rusby of Silver City, New Mexico; Mrs. Nell M. Reiersen of Frederick, Wis., and J. E. Matteson of Los Angeles. A half brother John R. Raines of Marshfield and 10 grandchildren also survive him.

He was born in the state of New York April 21, 1842, enlisting in the Civil War August 10, 1861, with the 10th Missouri Infantry; he was wounded February 2, 1863, and later, February 23, 1864, re-enlisted with the 1st Missouri cavalry in which he served until his discharge September 1, 1865, at Little Rock, Arkansas. He came to Oregon from Illinois and lived at Fall Creek until last September when he came to Creswell to live with his daughter. The funeral was held Monday afternoon at the Scherwing chapel, with interment in the old Old Fellows cemetery at Eugene, Rev. S. D. Trefren, pastor of the local Methodist church officiating.

EATING SPREES SAID HARMFUL

State Board of Health Says Many Are Shortening Their Lives by Overeating

Millions are daily consuming more food than their bodies actually require, and a large number of this class are shortening their lives by overeating. Capacity eaters no doubt derive a lot of enjoyment out of satisfying their appetites to the limit. Satisfaction from eating, however, is a relative matter. Persons who habitually eat large meals have large and dilated stomachs. It naturally takes more time to give such persons that feeling of fullness which to many means enough. After the first few weeks of reducing diet, the stomach having less food to hold and digest, begins to have a better muscular tone and get smaller. It will then take far less amount of food to produce the sensation of fullness.

In eating as in most other pursuits which man follows, the mind is the controlling factor. To some persons meal time means moving up to the table, saying nothing, eating all they can hold and then drifting into an easy chair for a nap or a smoke. Such persons are missing a part of life that is their right. Be sociable and take your time. Don't forget that you are a human being and that one difference between you and other animals is that you can carry ideas that will make life pleasanter for yourself and others. If you do this and take your time you will find that you require less food and meal time will mean more than eating large quantities of food.

Chew your food slowly. You should not be so busy that you cannot take time for your meal. When you find that your business requires so much time that you must curtail your meal hours then you have ceased being the master of your job. Efficiency does not depend on the time you put into your work but the work you put into your time.

The great trouble with many of us is that we live to eat instead of eating to live. We allow our appetites to tempt us to eat more than we really need. The organs of the human body will stand a remarkable amount of abuse, particularly during the years of early life, but if continually called on they will eventually break down. More than twice as many overweight persons die of heart disease, nephritis, arterial diseases, cerebral hemorrhage and diabetes as do underweight persons.

Find what your normal weight should be for your age and height and make it a point to see that this weight is maintained but not exceeded. Not only will your health be better but you will feel better and be able to do more with less effort.—State Board of Health.

Roseburg—Present indications are that the Northwestern Turkey Show to be held at Oakland December 17, 18 and 19, will be bigger than ever, with higher quality birds shown, says J. C. Leedy, county agent. The show will have a 4-H club division this year for the first time.

Many Birds Released Over 50,000 eggs were taken this season at the three game farms of the state game commission. Game birds to the number of 22,787 were released during the past 12 months. This release nearly equals that of last year, although the game farms had less money to operate on.

FAVORABLE RATIOS IN LUMBER ORDERS

Washington, D. C. — Although lumber orders have as a rule equalled or exceeded the limited cut for several months past, the most favorable ratios have been noted during the past two weeks. For the week ended November 7 new business received exceeded production by 20 per cent, it is indicated in telegraphic reports from 824 leading hardwood and softwood mills to the National Lumber Manufacturers' association. Production of these mills amounted to 146,915,000 feet and shipments were 9 per cent above this figure. A week earlier 816 mills reported orders 16 per cent above the shipments 21 per cent above a cut of $157,072,000 feet.

Many Turkeys In Lane County Pool

Cars and Trucks Form Line Waiting to Deliver Birds at Fruit Growers

FINE BIRDS TAKEN IN

Lane Fowl to Find Market in Southland; Another Pool to be Formed in December

Approximately 1000 turkeys had been received at the red barn of the Eugene Fruit Growers' association Tuesday in the first turkey pool to be made in Lane county this season.

The birds are packed in large flat boxes which provide ample ventilation and were loaded in refrigerator cars to be sent to Klamath Falls for further loading. The birds are all destined to find their way south, probably to Los Angeles and the Bay Cities markets.

This is only the first of the pools to be held in Eugene. At least one more is being planned in December after the Thanksgiving holidays. McKinley Huntington of Roseburg, is president of the Oregon Turkey Growers association, sponsors of the pool. This group is affiliated with the Northwest Turkey Growers association with headquarters at Salt Lake City, Utah. J. E. Conn, also of Roseburg, was in charge of the group working in Eugene Tues. day.

A similar pool was held Tuesday at Albany and Wednesday the two groups moved to Oakland and Roseburg. A pool was held at Salem on Monday.

Graders and others handling the turkeys received in Eugene expressed surprise at the quality of the birds received.

"They will run about the same grade, most of them are choice fowls and a few are fancy grade," declared Mr. Conn.

The delivery prices on prime young toms and on young and old hens was 16 cents a pound, on choice birds and old toms, 12 cents, and on commercial birds, 8 cents. Turkeys are now retailing on Los Angeles markets for 32 1/2 cents.

BATH FOR AUTOMOBILE RADIATORS IS ADVISED

Choked with rust and sediment, automobile radiators have a hard time doing an efficient job of cooling the motor. A boiling automobile radiator is very often the symptom of the presence of dirt and rust.

Thousands of members of the automobile fraternity are guarding against choked and boiling radiators, eliminating rust and sediment by the simple method of flushing the radiator with a solution of ordinary borax.

First drain the radiator. Fill a two gallon bucket with warm water and dissolve one-half pound of borax in the water. Pour this solution into the radiator and fill up with clear water. Run the motor for a few minutes until it has warmed up and the solution has circulated through the cooling system. Then drain and if the water is very rusty or dirty, repeat the flushing with another borax solution. When the radiator drains clean, fill up with fresh water.
