Eugene Optician Has Made Equipment Used in Giving License Applicants Exams.

Residents of Lane county who had automobile drivers licenses prior to the enactment of the new examination law may ascertain in a very few minutes just what grade they will get in the vision and color tests if they are curious about this.

Dr. Ella Meade, Eugene optician, has just received a complete set of instruments, duplicates of those used by the state examiners in making their tests of the applicants vision and color determination.

The equipment consists of four parts. The first consists of two upright poles which the person taking the test is asked to manipulate into a parallel position by means of two strings. The second test is one of range of vision. This is taken with a Perimeter and shows just what the scope of vision of the individual is by making individual charts for each eye.

The determination of colors when intermingled constitutes the third test, and the final test is the ability to read a chart at a certain distance to determine whether a person is near or far sighted.

Dr. Meade is the first person in Eugene to privately own the items of testing equipment. Several of the leading opticians in Oregon gathered in Portland when the state examiners were being trained and several of them purchased the necessary equipment.

There is no fee for the tests. Each person is given a chart of the vision range of each eye, and a certificate of the responses of the individual to the tests.

What is ahead for farming in general and of Oregon farmers in particular?

While thousands of Oregon farm owners and operators are seriously mulling over this question, state and governmental aid is being mobilized to bring them the latest and best economic outlook information possible to gather to be applied on the problem.

Right now final information and statistics are being assembled for the annual nationwide agricultural outlook conference to be held in Washington, D. C., where at least one representative from every state will meet late in January to prepare a national report on agricultural trends pertaining to demand, supply and, probably costs.

Many angles of the present situation were forecast in previous outlook reports, though the business slump has continued longer and gone deeper than expected, says L. R. Breithaupt, extension economist at Oregon State college, who heads the outlook work in Oregon. As soon as he returns from the national meet he will head the work of preparing local adaptations of the report as applied to conditions in this state.

It is significant that the national conference this year is giving increased attention to demand trends as well as supply, says Mr. Breithaupt. "The events of the past two years clearly demonstrate that in periods of deflation and business recession, farm income declines more because of weak demand than because of over-production."

"In Oregon the annual cash income from crop and livestock production between 1924 and 1928 was approximately $120,000,000, or slightly more than $2100 per farm. This year the Oregon cash income is estimated at around $80,000,000 though the gross production was only about average, indicating that over production was not alone to blame."

Regulation Mayonnaise
Break the yolk of an egg in a shallow bowl, add a half teaspoon of dry mustard, the same amount of salt, a pinch of red pepper. Mix well and gradually beat in a cup of olive oil and two tablespoons of good vinegar or lemon juice. The oil must be beaten in slowly. Some cooks work it in drop by drop. The point is, it must be beaten very, very thoroughly.

White Mayonnaise
Into a bowl break the whites of two eggs and the yolk of one, using a light-colored yolk if possible. Add a cup of olive oil, a pinch of white pepper, a quarter-teaspoon of salt and a tablespoon of lemon juice. Beat all with a rotary egg beater until stiff, creamy mayonnaise results. This is fine for chicken salad. If the dressing is to be used with fruit salad a tablespoon of sugar may be added.

Make an ordinary omelet. When it is ready to send to the table, spread it with jam, roll, and serve.

There are quite a number of excellent ways of utilizing sour cream. You will find it a good substitute for sweet milk in dressings for salads. It can also be used instead of sweet milk when making chocolate fudge, and scones and pancakes made with sour cream will be beautifully light.

New Plant Draws Flood of Queries

Crop Specialist Urges Caution in Planting Crown Vetch; May Become Weed

A flood of inquiries concerning a highly publicized new crop, crown vetch, have been pouring into the Oregon Experiment station and the United States department of agriculture since the appearance of an article about it in a national farm magazine, says H. A. Scoth, associate agronomist stationed at Oregon State college.

Crown vetch is a perennial legume, native of Europe, which has the faculty of growing on very poor clay soil, starting early and otherwise making itself conspicuous—actually as well as figuratively.

Mr. Scoth is recommending that Oregon growers go easy on this crop, however, until further information can be had on its behavior and value if any in this state. In the first place, he says, it is a plant with a strong underground root system which spreads rapidly and might easily cause the plant to become a serious weed. Anyone who has had to fight morning glories, Canada thistle and similar weeds that spread from such roots is not eager to add another problem.

Reports from Europe are that the plant there is not considered desirable for feed because of a bitter taste. It has been tested out partially on the Arlington experimental farm in Virginia and in one case the early green growth was eaten readily by cows.

General experimental information about the crop is so slight that the Oregon experiment station is by no means ready to distribute plants or seed for trial, though some dealers now handle it as a hardy ornamental.
