

GOOD PROGRAM AT WRESTLING CARD

Pat Regan, (Sneeze) Achiu, George Wilson and Tom Ray, in Two Main Events

Three first class wrestling matches and twice that number of first class performers are offered Lane county fans this Friday night at the Eugene armory on one of the most ambitious cards which Herb Gwan, promoter, has scheduled for many months.

The card will feature two main attractions and a shorter preliminary which will offer Art O'Reilly matched against Jumping Judy Wiley of Seattle for 45 minutes. O'Reilly has a following all of his own which does not always turn out to applaud his efforts, but which enjoys seems him nevertheless.

The next match will bring two new faces onto the resin covered mats. George Wilson, former football star at the University of Washington, and Tom Ray, Longview, Washington, logger will grapple for honors in the heavyweight division. Wilson is one of the few outstanding collegians to turn professional wrestler, although this is becoming more and more popular among these men, who at the end of their college days fall to find the pot of gold which they had secretly hoped would await them. Ray is also a newcomer, but is reported to be an ambitious wrestler, and one who is not afraid to start action.

Outstanding of the nights entertainment will be the go between Walter (Sneeze) Achiu, and Pat Regan of Casper, Wyoming.

Regan has been one half of the main event on three past bouts at the Armory and has pleased the fans, although he failed to take the welterweight belt away from Robin Reed of Reedsport. The fans know what he offers and they like it.

Achiu, a Chinaman, has been seen here several times in the past and has made many friends in this city. He loves an active match and will carry the fight to his opponent if he shows an inclination of wanting to slow down. This match will be for two out of three falls with a time limit of two hours.

"ECONOMY" WATCHWORD OF 4-H SEWING CLUBS

Meeting the present situation by keeping down the costs of 4-H Sewing projects, the use of the flour sack as a source of material has come into its own.

Flour sacks may be carefully laundered and used either plain or dyed for dresser scarf, breakfast cloth, tea towel, bag, handkerchief case, napkin case, apron, pajamas, shoe bags, dress protectors, comfort protectors, laundry bags, children's garments, and even dresses. These articles are made in the 4-H Sewing projects.

Where flour sacks must be purchased they may not be as economical as the purchase of prints and plain colored materials such as Osnoberg.

Such materials are modest in appearance and too much trimming and decorating is out of place. Workmanship is the basis upon which members are judged. Club members will find that learning to sew is not dependent on the expenditure of much money but on careful planning attention to details, accurate cutting and neat hand and machine sewing.

Quality of work and not the cost of material will be the watchword for 4-H Sewing club members.

CALF AND SHEEP CLUB HAS MEETING FRIDAY

Members of the Love Lake Sheep and Calf club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Peterson, Friday, January 15, 1932. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Gus Flint, Brockner, Gunnar and George Mikkelsen, Cleo, Kent, Walter, and Bill Peterson, Arden Wilde, Folmer Bodtker, and Arleigh Tracer.

The business meeting was held and the club pledge was given by all. Then a discussion was held on diseases of the cow's udder. After the business meeting, refreshments were served by Mrs. Peterson.

THEATRE MAN INVITES TALENT TO COMPETE

With the change of the weekly Opportunity Night to Friday, at the Colonial, comes an invitation to Springfield talent to participate in these popular stage contests. Cash prizes are offered for first and second places, and theatre tickets are presented to all contestants entering the Opportunity Night contests. Local singers, dancers, instrumentalists and entertainers in general are invited to phone Russell F. Brown, Colonial manager, or to call at the theatre to arrange for rehearsals each week. It is hoped that many Springfield entertainers will enter these Opportunity Night events every Friday night. Barbara Barnell, well known local xylophonist, who entered the contest last week, was awarded first prize, and several other local entertainers have been accorded like honors. It is said.

The Opportunity Night entertainment this week will occur as an interlude on the double feature bill, headed by the exclusive first run pictures of the U. S. C.-Notre Dame football game, in which the entire gridiron classic is shown in detail, from the first whistle to the final gun, and the Paramount picture of the Mary Roberts Rhinehart story, "I Take This Woman," with Gray Cooper and Carol Lombard.

P.-T. A. TO SPONSOR CHILDREN'S SHOW

With word of the unusual success of the first all talking children's picture in its eastern premieres, particularly at the Roxy, New York, where it turned away over 6,000 children before 10 o'clock the Saturday morning it opened, Parent-Teacher association groups are co-operating with the Colonial in bringing "Alice in Wonderland" next Friday afternoon and Saturday forenoon.

The first showing will occur Friday, at 4 o'clock, while three complete showings will be scheduled for Saturday forenoon, at 10, 11:15 and 12:30 o'clock. With these four showings, arranged at those hours, the Parent-Teacher sponsors believe that all kiddies in Eugene and Lane county will be able to find a time that will permit them to see this best known and beloved children's story in its all talkie form. Parents are encouraged to accompany their children to the Colonial showings, as it is believed they will enjoy the picture equally as much, and will then be better able to explain the inevitable avalanche of questions sure to follow their children's attendance at the showing.

AUTOMOBILE HITS BOY; DRIVER FAILS TO STOP

Wayne Kendall, high school student and son of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Kendall, narrowly escaped serious injuries Friday evening when the bicycle on which he was riding was struck by an automobile being driven by James Edmiston of Thurston. Young Kendall was thrown clear of the automobile, but sustained two bad cuts, one over his eye and a scalp wound and was otherwise shaken up when he was struck to the pavement on East Main street just as it was getting dark.

Edmiston did not stop, according to witnesses, but proceeded to the corner turning north on Ninth street where he stopped to remove the badly broken bicycle from the front of the car throwing it on a nearby lawn before proceeding to drive north out of town. An attempt to follow him proved futile in the dark.

A peculiar appearance of the back part of the top of the car which he was driving is believed to have given him his identity away. A poor description of the machine was obtained Friday evening. Lum F. Anderson, chief of police, acting largely on a suspicion Saturday afternoon approached and questioned the Edmiston boy who confessed when pain from the bicycle was found on the front of the car.

Mr. Kendall, father of Wayne, did not bring any charges against the driver when he agreed to purchase another bicycle for his son.

Young Edmiston was at a loss to explain his failure to stop after the accident. It is believed that he became excited and did not realize the seriousness of the offense which he was committing.

TREE INFORMATION IS NOW AVAILABLE

Fifteen million trees have already been planted in the United States in memory of the 200th anniversary of the birth of George Washington, reports the American Tree Association to Regional Forester C. J. Buck, Portland.

Many organizations in Oregon and Washington are planning to plant Washington trees this winter and spring, the U. S. Forest Service has been informed. These Washington memorial trees are being planted on school grounds, along highways and city streets, in city and state parks, on denuded forest lands and in town and county foresters.

With relatively mild winters characteristic of the region west of the Cascade mountains, foresters state that the planting of trees can be done practically any time now up to May 1.

Simple directions on how to plant young forest trees or seedlings, and a list of agencies in Oregon and Washington from whom forest tree seedlings of different kinds may be secured, can be had by writing to the regional forester, Portland, Oregon.

Trees of larger size suitable principally for ornamental and roadside use rather than for forest planting can be secured from most commercial nurserymen. No requests nor orders for tree seedlings can be handled nor can prices be furnished by the U. S. Forest Service. Correspondence should be directed with the particular agency. A 16-page tree planting booklet giving detailed directions on how to plant young forest trees and kinds suitable for different localities may be secured from the American Tree Association, Washington, D. C.
