Washington Lumber Concern Cites Razor Blades and Canadian Shingles to Senator

A package containing safety razor blades of a popular American make and 126 lineal inches of the finest Royal grade Western red cedar shingles was forwarded to Senator Wesley L. Jones at Washington, D. C., during the week by the management of the Cedar-Craft Products, Inc., Seattle, with a letter stating the razor blade and the bundle of shingles were worth exactly the same wholesale—9 cents—yet the razor blade was protected by a tariff of one cent on each piece plus 30 per cent on the value, while Washington shingles were not given tariff protection.

The Royal grade of shingles are 1/2 inch thick and 24 inches long and are made for the most discriminating builders by mills in Canada and in Washington. Practically the entire production of Royals in Canada, it was stated, find a market in the United States.

Both the heavy duty shingle and the razor blade, the letter pointed out, are used by the American public, one provides a roof for a family lasting from 20 to 40 years, while the other furnishes a few shaves to an individual. Yet the long-service low-cost shingle is not protected by a tariff, while the short-service steel blade is so protected in spite of its short life in use. Also fully 80 per cent of the selling price of the American shingle at a Washington mill goes directly to labor. The 126 lineal inches of shingles shipped to Senator Jones when laid 7 1/2 inches to the weather, would cover 6 1/2 square feet of roof.

POTATO DISEASES CUT CROP YIELDS

New Bulletin on Virus Troubles Gives Effect of Mosaics on Total Production

Reduction in potato yields ranging as high as 73 per cent as the result of certain mosaic diseases is reported on in a new bulletin, "Potato Virus Diseases," just published by the Oregon Experiment station. The bulletin reports in detail on results of experiments conducted from 1924 to 1929 with some later work mentioned.

This new bulletin is technical in nature but contains much more detailed information on nine virus diseases than is found in the more popular and inclusive bulletin, "Potato Diseases in Oregon and Their Control." For the man specializing in potato production, especially for seed purposes, this new bulletin by M. B. McKay and T. P. Dykstra is considered valuable.

Definite experiments to find out the most practical method of eliminating virus diseases from seed plots showed that the tuber-unit method of roguing diseased plants from seed plots is the most effective on a large scale. By this means the cut pieces from each tuber are planted consecutively in the row in the private seed plot of the grower. When disease shows up in one hill, all the hills from that tuber are removed whether they show disease or not at that time.

The tests showed reduction in yield amounting to as high as 73 per cent by weight in the case of the spindle tuber disease, 50 per cent with crinkle mosaic, and 19 per cent with interveinal mosaic.

The various virus diseases were found to differ in methods of transmission from plant to plant. Some plant aphids will transmit some of the disease but not others, while at least one kind, rugose mosaic, was found to pass from plant to plant under insect proof cages. Studies of potato varieties showed them to vary somewhat in susceptibility to virus diseases, and the Irish Cobbler variety was found to possess apparent immunity or high resistance to the mild mosaic. Experiment work is still continuing on these diseases throughout the northwest.

FANS WILL SEE NEW MAN FRIDAY

Greek From Middlewest to Meet Chinese Wrestler at Eugene Armory on Friday

And still they come! Just when we began to think that Herb Owen, matchmaker for the Eugene wrestling commission had imported about all of the foreign mat artists that he could find, then along comes an announcement that he has tracked down another.

This time it is Lonnie Sanders, a Greek from Kansas City who will be in Eugene Friday to meet Walter "Sneeze" Achlu, Chinese, in the main event.

Sanders is not making his first visit to Eugene although he probably will not be remembered by many of the present fans. He is far better known, however, among the boys who do the toe twisting and other forms of wrestling punishment as he has met most of them in matches in other cities. They all say that he is rough and tough and willing to put up a good scrap any time.

The preliminary event for the card Friday has not been announced.

Last Friday Achlu took the first and third falls in the main event from Bob Miller, in a short but scrappy fight. Art O'Reilly and Chet Hart put up a good fight in the preliminary, O'Reilly taking the second and third falls.

which California has had in consolidation of the two schools there and of their eventual decision to separate them again. People who know are not trying to move the school from Lane county, and those who are doing so are visionaries and will live to see their mistake, he said.

Ben F. Keeney, county assessor stated the effect of the consolidation on taxation in the county. He declared that he had opposed many tax measures always because he felt they were not a benefit to the majority of the taxpayers and not because of personal feelings. The approval of the present bill would increase taxes with a disastrous result and would not be of benefit to the taxpayer, he said.

Campaign Outlined
Lynn S. McCready and David Graham, Eugene business men, explained what was being done to prevent the securing of the necessary 17,800 signatures on the initiative petitions. They also explained what course of action was being planned in their attempt to win approval for the state school over the state. The petitions must be signed and filed by July 7, if the measure is to appear on the ballot in the fall. Any suggestions on how best to carry on an educational campaign over the state were invited. If the measure gets on the ballot in the fall election it will mean one of the most disagreeable fights in years, said McCready. The bill is an attack on the very homes of the people of Lane county and personal feelings, and finance will be mixed into the struggle, he warned.

CANDIDATE FOR SHERIFF THANKS SUPPORTERS
Cal A. Pryor, successful candidate for the Democratic nomination of sheriff of Lane county, was in Springfield Friday. He wishes to thank the Democratic voters here who supported his candidacy.

NATIONAL NETWORK TO CARRY STORY OF STATE

History of Oregon to Be Featured Monday in Weekly "Parade of the States" Broadcast

National attention will be focused on Oregon on Monday night, June 6, when a radio panorama in music and story of the state's contribution to historical and industrial development of America will be broadcast to the country.

Bruce Barton Writes Tribute

Bruce Barton has written a special tribute to Oregon for the program. It recalls her history in the days of the hunters and trappers and the Hudson Bay company and describes her industries where salmon, flax, apples and lumber are prepared for a world market.

An orchestral medley of songs appropriate to the Rose Festival has been arranged as one of the program features and will be played by a concert orchestra under the direction of Erno Rapee.

Tom Dobson, one of Oregon's composers will be represented on the program through "cargoes" set to the words of John Mansfield's famous poem and sung by Phil Dewey, baritone soloist. Other musical numbers will pay tribute to the state's scenery and her industries.

The program is released by the General Motors Corporation as an educational feature and is one of a group of weekly broadcasts which will eventually include all states.

Baker Eggplant
A recipe which has been handed down in the family suggests that an eggplant should be peeled, a slice cut from the top, and the inside removed, chopped, seasoned, and mixed with a bread dressing such as is used for poultry, and put back into the eggplant. Bake an hour, basting with hot water into which a teaspoonful of butter has been melted. Baste every fifteen minutes and dredge with flour after each basting.
This recipe is just as delicious now as it was a generation ago.

If a new broom is placed in a pail of boiling water, allowed to soak for a few minutes, then hung up, the life of the broom is extended far beyond one which has not been soaked.

A small slate such as children use, is most helpful to the housekeeper, for memorandums. If the laundry soap is nearly used up, if the guest room blankets must be sent to the cleaners, if the man of the house said "there are several buttons off my shirts," note these on the slate, and as each one is attended to, erase that particular item.

If the paint splatters on the pane during the work, it is readily removed by simply cleaning the paste from the windows. Glass dishes which have held milk or cream should be rinsed in cold water before washing, as the glass will be cloudy if washed before rinsing.

Scenes and Personages in the Lindbergh Tragedy

Business Always Looks Dark To He Who Waits

Easy chairs went out of style almost two years ago. Getting business today requires action. Business staffs are too small and the business man does not have hours enough to personally go out after every piece of business to be had... through hustling. That is where the printed word works most effectively for him. And the cost of selling is so much less... upon strained budgets. Printing prices in our shop are also down, but there's no let down in the quality of the work. Prompt service too. We are geared for speed. No waiting here.

for Action

The trade does not know what you have to offer unless you tell them... day in... day out. Give your business a reputation for being up and doing by keeping the people informed of the many bargains to be had in your store or shop. There is character in good printing. Let us demonstrate that fact. We specialize on:—
