

Walker to Show In Eugene Soon

Jensen-Rob Roy, and Achlu-Caxton to Wrest in Double Main Event Program

Mickey Walker will be brought to Eugene for a four-round exhibition match at the Armory on Tuesday, December 20. This interesting sports announcement was made Wednesday by Herb Owen, Lane promoter who says he has guaranteed the visiting ring veteran a purse of $1000. Walker although often urged by writers to retire, recently took a match away from a younger man who weighed 35 pounds more in Los Angeles. He is now setting out on an exhibition tour. It is almost certain that Joe Waterman will sponsor his visit to Portland either before or after the Eugene visit. Walker is managed by Jack Kearns, one-time manager of Jack Dempsey.

The weekly wrestling card at the Eugene armory tonight is also causing quite some excitement. It seems as though there will be two main event numbers and no special.

Owen had promised the winner of the Achlu-Jensen match last week a chance at Rob Roy. Achlu won when Jensen got his head tangled up in the ropes and nearly strangled himself. Fans, thinking back to the week previous, were still not satisfied with the match and many of them declared that Jensen was the best and entitled to the main event this week. His rapid recovery from the injuries last Thursday night influenced Owen to put him in the match tonight.

To satisfy Achlu Owen has secured Billy Caxton to meet him in an extra main event preceding the Jensen-Roy go.

Seal Declared health Weapon

Five Stamps Per Capita Goal of Drive Workers in Lane; Drive Lasts to Christmas

The annual Christmas seal sale is now in full swing in Springfield, as well as in other parts of Lane county and throughout the United States. The drive, which began on Thanksgiving day, has been under way for a fortnight already.

Mrs. Frank L. Chambers and Mrs. J. Bishop Tingle, co-chairman of the Lane County Health association and directors of the stamp sale in the county, have set their goal at five stamps per capita at least, to be purchased by the 54,000 citizens of the district.

The Bear Creek school was the first one in the county to report purchasing its quota of seals, closely followed by a similar report from the Swishome school.

Mrs. C. O. Wilson, in charge of the campaign in Springfield, urges each local resident to buy as many of the Christmas seals as possible. Solicitation on the streets by school children will close this week but the children will continue to have stamps for sale at the schools and members of the Girls' League will offer them for sale to out-of-town people in the stores on Saturdays. The business district has been canvassed during the first week of the drive by Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Maude Bryan.

These small stamps are slowly but surely helping overcome the dreaded malady of tuberculosis, as is evident from the reduction of the tuberculosis death rate in the state from 95 per 100,000 population in 1915 to 42 in 1931, a slash of 60 per cent in the ravages of the dangerous ailment.

It is the money derived from the sale of these seals which is financing most of the organized battle against the white plague in Springfield and throughout the state.

Do your share of the fighting by purchasing Christmas seals! Send your Greetings with an individual printed and engraved Christmas card. Fine selection at The News Office.

LANE AGENT GIVES ANNUAL REPORT

Wide Range of Activities Shown in Work Summary; Office is Busy Place

The multiple functions and activities of the Lane county agricultural agent for the year 1932 are outlined in a summary of the annual report issued this week by O. S. Fletcher, agent.

Activities in each of the departments of crop improvement, horticulture, soil improvement, rodent control, poultry, dairying and livestock, and miscellaneous are listed in the report summary.

During the year Mr. Fletcher's office has promoted the growing of alfalfa. Farmers of Lane county purchased a total of 18,200 pounds of seed which was planted in the county this year, bringing the total acreage of this crop to 6500 acres in the county.

Culture for inoculation alfalfa and other legumes were sold farmers at cost.

Potato Bags Purchased
New crops promoted were stem rot resistant sweet clover, bent grass, Bortfield turnips on 200 acres in the coast section, fifteen varieties of oats, Hood wheat, potatoes and pool orders for potato bags.

Weed control was also carried forward with tests and demonstrations.

Work in the horticulture field included starting of a four-year experiment of the influence of pruning on color and yield of Montmorency cherries; various orchard demonstrations; experiments with Austrian winter peas as a cover crop as compared to vetch; strawberry experiments with and without fertilizers; irrigation inspections, and use of electric hot beds.

Improvement of soils was demonstrated by the use of various types of fertilizers and lime applications. A total of 6300 pounds of poison barley was distributed at cost in the rodent control campaign. Eighty-six rodent control supervisors were named and 21 of these poisoned squirrels on 21,409 acres of neglected land.

Brooding and rearing of chicks, poultry culling demonstrations, a poultrymen's picnic, public meetings to discuss fall and winter flock feeding and turkey institutes were listed among the activities of the agent in the poultry field.

A directory of purebred stock and "for sale" and "exchange" lists were maintained for the benefit of livestock growers. They also were shown methods of cutting and curing mutton, the value of clover for dairy cattle was demonstrated and 400 cows were tested in the dairy herd improvement association.

Has Busy Year
During the year the agent has received 3395 office calls and 150 telephone calls in regard to farm problems. He wrote 2,493 individual letters and mailed 15,295 copies of 65 circular letters. He made 371 farm visits, spending 184 days doing field work and 123 in the office.

School Taxes In Muddled State

Equalizing Function Poorly Met Finds O. S. C. Man in Comprehensive Study

That the public school revenue system of the state of Oregon is unnecessarily complicated and but poorly accomplishes one of the main purposes in view—that of equalizing the tax burden between districts—is the conclusion of an exhaustive study completed by Dr. W. H. Dreesen, agricultural economist of the Oregon State college experiment station.

Dr. Dreesen's studies, which involved a detailed examination of records from every county in the state, have been incorporated in a bulletin just published by the experiment station and which is so complete as to constitute a detailed reference work for legislators or others who may attempt an improvement on present tax laws.

"The public school revenue laws of Oregon have been amended and added to with apparently two ideas in view," says Dr. Dreesen, "one to constrain the people to provide adequate revenue and the other to assist the financially weak districts in the support of their schools.

"The first objective sought could be obtained just as effectively under a simple law as under a multiplicity of intricate laws. The second objective, the equalization of the school tax burden, has been obtained with but partial if not questionable success."

Dr. Dreesen's study revealed that more than 85 percent of the funds raised under the county and elementary school fund laws found their way back to the districts where the money was raised, and hence took no part in any equalizing. Of the remaining $745,774 average annual excess apportionments used to equalize the burden, 30 per cent was apportioned to 806 districts that already either had lower general school levies than the average for the county, or had higher-than-average assessed valuations per census child for the county, or both.
