

ACHIU-JENSEN IN GRUDGE MATCH

Ring Work of Oriental Rouses Ire of Elkton Man Who Demands Contest

Wrestling fans will flock to the Eugene Armory tonight if they are really as interested in this Jensen-Achiu feud as they profess to be. Seldom does a promoter have as strong a match fall right into his lap as did Herb Owen with his two principals on the card for tonight. Perhaps it was a bit of fate. When Walter Achiu entered the ring last week to referee the match between Jensen and Rob Roy he worked hard and after repeatedly warning Jensen of his fouling tactics, proceeded to give the deciding fall and match to Roy.

Jensen immediately demanded a match with Achiu on threat of leaving the county for good. Achiu defeated the strong man from Elkton in a Portland match, and won a decision in Eugene when Thor tangled himself up in the ropes almost strangling himself.

Jensen has won two matches from Achiu so the contest tonight will be for the best three out of five matches.

Gustav Johnson of Minneapolis a large Finlander, will be at the Armory to meet Toby Wallace of Salt Lake City in the 45-minute special event preceding the grudge match.

Fire at Rebhan Home

Fire which broke out near the furnace in Dr. W. C. Rebhan's home at 8:30 this morning caused but little damage before it was extinguished. A small part of the timbers were burned over, some electric light wire was damaged and the asbestos lining on the top of the furnace was ruined by water. It is not known how the fire started.

Egg-Laying Champ

The fact that she has no name does not discourage "Number 33", this white leghorn owned by George England of Ingleswood, Calif. She holds the American record of 330 eggs per year and she's in training for the Chicago World Fair this year.

TAX LEAGUE DEMANDS DOG BOARD REMOVAL

Members of the South Lane county Tax League this week went on record as approving a plan whereby the county dog control board would be eliminated and its duties taken over by the sheriff, clerk and assessor. These three men would act on all claims for damages and the sheriff would make all investigations and dispose of all unlicensed or sheepkill dogs. The plan is said to be an economy move.

At the same time, R. J. Morris, deputy county dog officer, yesterday declared through his attorney, W. W. Harcombe, his intention of carrying his suit against Lane county for salary alleged due him on an old contract, to the supreme court.

ELECTRIC HOTBEDS HIGHLY PRACTICAL

Cost of Installation Not Very Great; May Be Used Twice During Season

How to have the advantages of electric heat for hot beds or propagating benches at reasonable cost is described in a recent bulletin from the Oregon Experiment station written by F. E. Price and C. J. Hurd, agricultural engineers.

Though of comparatively recent origin, the electric soil heating devices have set the pace among farm electrical equipment for quick popularity. Even before the experiment station workers had perfected the equipment to the point where they were ready to recommend it generally, growers and especially propagators of ornamental plants, were installing the equipment then being experimented and were getting satisfactory results that demand for more information was insistent.

The present illustrated bulletin is the result of the extensive experimenting that has been carried on at Corvallis and with cooperators in commercial work in various parts of the state. Costs and procedure have been carefully worked out so that the bulletin as issued forms a handy guide to anyone contemplating installing such equipment, or it will help answer the question of whether such equipment will pay in a given situation.

Has Superior Advantages

Advantages listed for the electric beds over the usual manure hotbeds include automatic temperature control at any desired point, resulting in better quality plants; rate of growth can be controlled, plants can be grown to transplanting size more quickly, and the electric beds can be used two or more times in one season. Soil heating cable costs only $5 for a 6x6 foot bed, and a thermostat from $5.75 to $11, so installation costs are not excessive.

Advantages of the electric beds over greenhouses for plant growing include much smaller initial cost, elimination of need for extra cold frames, elimination of use of flats for the seedlings, and elimination of much labor by the new method.

For cut in propagating beds for cuttings the electric equipment has given such amazing results that its effect is being felt in the industry. Cuttings are rooted in a fraction of the usual time and some species never before propagated that way are rooted with ease.

SNOW SPORTS POPULAR WITH YOUNG FOLKS NOW

Each week-end now sees more and more young people in the Upper McKenzie county enjoying the snow sports which are so easily reached in the vicinity of Lost Creek ranch and the Obsidians camp. The highway has been opened to a point one-fourth mile beyond the Obsidian cabins and a large space has been cleared in which to turn automobiles around without much difficulty.

Chains are not absolutely necessary, but should be taken along as well as a shovel for emergencies.

The bowl, a large amphitheatre about a mile and a half above the Obsidian cabins on the Foley ridge trail, is one of the most popular places for ski riders.

When "Babe" Ruth starts to limber up for another season of swat, fans may know that another big league race is in the offing. The "Babe" now works out in a New York gymnasium, taking off weight and getting ready for the training camp call, now but a few weeks away.

Cafeteria Meal at Church Friday

Chicken pie will be one of the dishes served at the Methodist church Friday evening at the public cafeteria dinner which the Ladies Aid is planning. Serving will start at 6 o'clock in the church basement.

A musical program will be presented during the evening following the supper. Rev. Dean C. Poindexter will have charge of this entertainment, it has been announced.

VERY LATEST by MARY MARSHALL

Printed silk dresses and frocks, now making their appearance for a new season, have evidently followed a cue from winter apparel's popularity in bright colors. Prints being shown have bright colored grounds such as pumpkin, light reds, romantic greens, gold, light blue and rose as well as gray and beige.

In design the patterns are brush or freehand motifs. They are modeled in simple tailored effects. The patterns seemingly are selected to harmonize well with current colors in winter coats, which shows that the designers are at last recognizing the need of giving the wearer an opportunity to be well dressed without purchase of an entire new costume.

NEED FOR WATER CAUSES OIL FIND

Like the fretful bossy who kicked over an oil lamp and started the Chicago fire, a thirsty cow struck a spark of genius in the mind of a farmer and caused a backyard well to gush gold and herself to be displaced by a roaring lion.

EARL B. GILMORE

It was thirty years ago that the late A. F. Gilmore had to have water for his dairy herd. He was sinking a well in what is now the heart of Los Angeles' exclusive residential district. But instead of securing water, up came black oil and it all looked black for the Gilmore family. Water was his need. Oil was no one's need.

New Industry Born.

But he thought out a means of transforming the black of failure into the gold of good fortune and he turned his attention to the use of oil for road building. He pioneered in that field, developed machinery and built thousands of miles of highways. To him goes the distinction of pioneering the good-road movement that has made this Pacific Coast the mecca and marvel of motorists from the world over.

Automobiles were yet to come. What refining of crude oil was carried on was done to secure kerosene for lamps, such as the bossy kicked over, and a little gasoline for gasoline stoves.

Program Launched.

After the death of the founder of the company, 1918, his son Earl B. Gilmore succeeded to the presidency. Then, at a time when retrenchment programs were instituted over the entire country, he gathered his forces together and launched an aggressive expansion program that has placed him among the leaders in movements to restore prosperity. Through an intensive campaign of advertising and selling to back up a better product, his name is known as a symbol of progress.

NUT ORCHARDS PAY: COSTLY TO ESTABLISH

Walnut growing is one farming enterprise still showing fair profits even under present adverse conditions, general reports indicate, hence there is considerable interest in the business.

It is a long road and a fairly expensive one, however, from raw land to a 12-year-old bearing walnut orchard, points out S. Burrier, farm management specialist at Oregon State college who is conducting in cooperation with the federal department of agriculture an economic study of walnut growing, started at the request of the organized growers.

To bring an orchard to profitable bearing, which is ordinarily 12 years of age, costs a total of $341 per acre, according to records obtained from 41 growers. Of this amount $151 per acre is the first cost of land suited to walnut growing, $48 is the cost of planting and the first year's operations, and $14.19 per acre is the annual cost thereafter, granting that other crops are grown between the trees to cut down the cost.

All of this is not cash cost, of course, particularly in the case of an orchard grown on a general farm. The average cash outlay for growing costs was found to be $75 per acre, mostly accounted for in trees, taxes and hired labor. A preliminary report of the study is available free in mimeographed form.

McKenzie Valley

The Waltherville Neighbors of Woodcraft held installation of officers Friday evening. Three officers who were ill will be installed in two weeks.

The McKenzie Redsides have scored two interesting wins this week. They won a non-scheduled game with Thurston Monday night with a score of 34-13. This is Thurston's first defeat of the year, but will not affect Thurston's conference standing, being only a practice game.

The Leaburg Ladies' Aid society had annual election of officers at its last meeting. Mrs. Marion Elton was elected president, Mrs. Walter Carter, vice-president; Mrs. T. G. Becker, secretary; Mrs. Francis Elton, treasurer. Mrs. Rennie Kooser will entertain the group on January 19.

A. A. Johnston came home from the hospital Saturday night. While at work at Kern-Kilbe's near Crescent lake last week he had two bones broken in his toe when a barrel of oil dropped on his foot. Mr. Johnston's home is at Leaburg.

Four new members, Charlotte Allen, Pearl Ingles, Margaret Slavens and Alvina Deadmond were honor guests at a party given by the Girl Scouts at Leaburg. All are new members of the troop.

Mrs. J. B. Barreau entertained with four tables of "500" at the home of her mother, Mrs. W. C. Thielen, Friday.

The Workers' society will meet Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fred Easton at Waltherville.

The Waltherville Ladies Union All Society is meeting at the home of Mrs. William Hucka Thursday afternoon.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN MADE FIRST BI-FOCALS

Early American Inventor Greatly Improves Use of Glasses With Bi-Focal Lens

Eye doctors all over the United States are now planning special window displays and other features for next week honoring Benjamin Franklin on his birth which was January 17, 1706 according to Dr. Ella C. Meade, Eugene optometrist, who has secured a large bust of the famous inventor to be used as a part of her display.

Franklin is credited with the invention of the first bi-focal glasses which have been gradually improved from his time until we now have the attractive eye glasses of today.

He wore glasses when a young man and was about 40 years old when he discovered that the bi-focal lens greatly improved his sight and eliminated much of the inconvenience of the old method of carrying two pairs of glasses. He went further and made them octagonal in shape, being convinced that they were easier on his eyes and more attractive. These he named the Colonial lens, one form of which is still being shown among displays of smart modern eye glasses.

FAKE CROP RACKETS MEET OPPOSITION HERE

Fake crop rackets have become increasingly unprofitable in Oregon in recent years as farmers have learned to seek unbiased information, usually available from the extension service or experiment station, before putting out good money for "miracle" crops, reports G. R. Hyslop, head of farm crops at Oregon State college.

"In the old days a promoter could get into a district and unload a lot of fake material and be gone before responsible agricultural authorities heard about it," says Hyslop. "Wider use of farm newspapers, the radio, and extension and research workers have done much in Oregon to prevent the rackets getting very far."

In From Fall Creek — Mr. and Mrs. Claude Glaspey of Fall Creek were visitors in Springfield Monday.

Coburg Man Here—M. E. Mulvey of Coburg was a business visitor in Springfield Wednesday.
