

SHOCK AREA AID WANTED LOCALLY

Local Chapters Given Proportionate Share of $500,000 Total to Be Raised

There must be no confusion or doubt in the minds of the people of the Pacific area state as to the immediate and imperative need for the $500,000 Red Cross disaster relief fund for the southern California earthquake sufferers. This announcement was made today by R. E. Arne, acting manager of the Pacific branch office in San Francisco.

Reports indicate that 7500 homes have been destroyed or damaged, these being principally small frame homes. The Red Cross, by proclamation of Governor Rolph of California, has been named as the official relief and rehabilitation agency. It is, therefore, responsible for continuing emergency care as well as repairing or rebuilding the homes of families who are financially unable to take care of their disaster losses. The relief program of the Red Cross does not contemplate or include rehabilitation of business property or business houses damaged or destroyed in the earthquake.

State, Federal Funds Asked
The federal appropriation of $5,000,000 reported as approved by the senate yesterday, is intended for public works, such as repairs to or replacement of schools, firehouses, city and county buildings, clean-up work, and repairs to streets, sewerage systems, etc. in the affected area. The $50,000 provided for in bill passed by the California State legislature is to be used to cover the purchase of food and other supplies. It is intended this emergency appropriation shall be administered by the Adjutant General of California.

Arne reports that Red Cross chapters throughout all the Pacific area have accepted wholeheartedly the quotas assigned them on the basis of the $500,000 needed. Many chapters have wired San Francisco headquarters that they are busily engaged in raising their share of the fund.

The Red Cross urges that contributions, no matter how small, be forwarded at once to the nearest chapter.

AH! FOND MEMORIES REVIVED ONCE MORE

Keeping a bottle of beer or liquor for a long period of time is something, but to discover all of a sudden that you have had something stored away for more than 20 years is even better than certain Springfield men who recently made such a discovery.

According to the story told about town one of the electricians was doing some repair work and rummaging about in an old alcove when he discovered a bottle of real beer which had remained there for many years. Upon investigation it was revealed that the beer had been placed there by a prominent citizen in 1912 when he lived in the house and had used that particular place as a cooler.

It is rumored that after several had sampled the aged beer none remained in the bottle.

County Relief Work Uncertain

County Court to Stop Unemployment Relief Pending Better Warrant Basis

Relief activities in Lane county have been thrown into a general upheaval during the past week. Two outstanding events which have transpired indicate that Lane county will shortly cease doing very much actual relief work, at least until more funds are available.

First steps towards this end were announced last week when the County Court began sending letters to chairmen of the various school districts requesting them to call mass meetings and organize local relief work on a self-help basis as much as possible, promising that the Red Cross office would continue their work of investigation of individual cases. No such letter has been received for Springfield, by F. B. Flanery, local school board chairman.

Following shortly on the heels of this announcement came another decision calling for the immediate suspension of all unemployment relief work in road districts and on county projects. This order will affect 500 men by Saturday.

Lack of money to meet operating expenses and the inability of bankers to accept county warrants under their new license is held responsible for the action of the court. Bankers explain that county warrants and others of that type are not approved investments because they bear no maturity date.

County officials have promised that they will do everything in their power to see that there is no suffering from want as a result of their enforced action.

Work in the camps operated in cooperation with the forest service where single men are employed will not stop it has been announced.

LANE DRY FORCES TO COMBAT REPEAL WORK

P. J. Bartholomew, Dr. W. H. Pollard, Mrs. Marion Adams and Mrs. Mel Rice represented Springfield at the Lane County Dry association meeting held in Eugene on Tuesday.

Harold Singer, nationally known youth leader, spoke at an open meeting at the Presbyterian church Tuesday evening and stressed the necessity of organizing the youth of the country to oppose the repeal of the eighteenth amendment and the state dry clause in the constitution.

First steps in the campaign against the repeal movement will center about the naming of dry leaders as delegates to the state repeal convention.

In this election each county will be permitted to elect one delegate for each 10,000 population, and the delegates will, in a large part, go to Salem instructed either wet or dry. One man in Eugene has already filed his petition as candidate on the wet ticket.

The Letter Box

To the Editor:

In the editorial of last issue of the News you advocated the adjustment of debts according to the purchasing power of the dollar. There is no question that the creditor, who collects his claims now, receives three or four times the value he loaned the debtor three or four years ago. But to try to adjust the existing contracts of debts would require an endless litigation, both expensive and uncertain.

There is, however, a very practical and effective way of reducing all debts both public and private, quietly, peacefully and without any controversy; and that is by reducing the value of the dollar, till it will buy no more than it did four years ago, which can be done by increasing the volume of the currency. Our President has struck at the root of our financial difficulty by issuing a large amount of currency. The $2,000,000,000, paper money now being issued may be sufficient to turn the value of the dollar downward. If not let us have more. Money is like any other commodity—a large supply cheapens it.

When the people who have hoarded most of the money in the country, all the way from a few dollars to many thousands to the individual, find that the snug little roll they have hid away is leaking its value badly will dig up that roll and hurry into the market to buy some thing that is not leaking. We may then have too much money but the debtor will be able to pay his debts, and the country take a fresh start. When money gets too cheap the government can check it by destroying a part of the currency. President Roosevelt has started off right, and it is hoped that he will be supported till he has time to carry economic policies through to success. He is right.
