FOUR-H SEED CORN CLUBS GET RECOGNITION

Two orders for 100 pounds of seed corn raised by Lane county 4-H members have been received in one mail, according to reports from the county club agent. Lane county club members have been actively engaged in corn club work, and have a supply of four varieties of seed available, Minnesota 13, McKay Yellow Dent, Bushnell Yellow Dent, and Golden Glow.

FOUR-H CLUB LEADERS CANCEL MAY MEETING

Due to the vast amount of spring work to be done, the May Local Leaders' Association meeting, a monthly gathering of Four-H club leaders, will not be held. The next regular meeting will be June 6, it has been announced by R. H. Kuehner, county club leader.

HOW SHE LOST 18 POUNDS OF FAT For Less Than $100

"Will say in regard to Kruschen: I took it to reduce. I lost 18 pounds after using one bottle and feel fine. Just bought one more bottle today and expect to lose 18 more pounds. I now weigh 148 and feel fine." Mrs. Harry Robinson, Akron, Ohio, (Jan. 6, 1933).

Once a day take Kruschen Salts—one-half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water first thing every morning. Besides losing ugly fat SHAPELY you'll gain in health and physical attractiveness—constipation, gas and acidity will cease to bother—you'll feel younger—more active—full of ambition—clear skin—sparkling eyes.

A jar that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle at any drugstore in the world—but demand and get Kruschen and if one bottle doesn't joyfully please you—money back.

NOTICE OF SALE

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of an execution and order of sale, issued out of the circuit court of the State of Oregon April 26, 1933, in a suit wherein W. P. Eastwood and Dora P. Eastwood, were plaintiffs and Percival I. Rust was defendant and now in my hands for enforcement, I have levied upon the following real property of defendant and all the interest the said defendant had therein on and since Jan. 14, 1930, namely:

Commencing at a point due south of the southeast corner of the Perkins Addition to Cottage Grove, said point being 283 feet south of the east boundary of the right of way of the Southern Pacific tracks, and run thence south 175 feet, thence west 236 feet to a point 16 feet east of said railroad right of way, thence north 28 degrees 30 minutes east 200 feet more or less to a point due west of the place of beginning, thence east 133 feet to the place of beginning, all being located in section 35, of Township 20 south, of range 3 west of the Willamette meridian, in Lane county, Oregon, and that I will on Saturday, May 27th, 1933, at 1:30 P. M., at the front door of the court house in the city of Eugene, Oregon, offer for sale and sell to the highest bidder for cash the said property to satisfy the amount adjudged to plaintiff in said suit, viz, the sum of $579.42 dollars with interest thereon at 8% since Jan. 14, 1933, the sum of $60 as an attorney's fee allowed plaintiff, the sum of $19 cost of said suit and the costs of making such sale. Said sale will be subject to redemption as allowed by law.

Loretta Turnbull of Long Beach, Calif., champion woman speedboat driver of the United States celebrated her coronation as "Queen of Speedboats" by driving another winning race in launching the 1933 season.

Washington, May 4—President Roosevelt's critics are beginning to be heard, and the chief ground of their criticism is that he is seeking and has obtained powers which heretofore have been jealously retained by Congress, making the president far more of an actual director of the nation's destinies than any president has ever been even in war time.

"Shelving the Constitution," some critics say, Mr. Roosevelt's friends admit that the Constitution is being stretched, but they point to history to justify the operation. "A rigid Constitution ties the hands of the president with bonds imposed under past conditions, by politicians now long dead," said one of these friends. "We think the country will be better off in the hands of a live statesman than in those of dead politicians."

Before this is in print the president will have received power from congress to change the nation's whole currency system in almost any way he pleases. He will not be instructed by congress as to what he shall do, but permitted by congress to do any one of several things, as his judgment may dictate.

Banks, Pensions, Farms

Under the emergency banking law the president regulates credit, currency, gold, silver and foreign exchange transactions. He fixes restrictions on the banking business of Federal Reserve members, appoints conservators for any bank when that is necessary to protect depositors, guarantees 100 percent liquidity on accounts opened after a certain date, passes on the reorganization of national banks, permits the purchase of preferred bank stock by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, regulates bank loans made by the corporation, and may issue a large amount of new Federal Reserve Bank notes on collateral not heretofore allowed as a currency base.

Under the economy act the president is given and has exercised the power to abolish the entire structure of veterans' benefits, and he has submitted a new pension system, in which he fixes the rates and the classifications. The same act gave him sole power to reduce all Federal salaries by as much as 15 percent, to consolidate or eliminate any governmental agency or bureau and to impound the money saved thereby in the treasury.

In the farm relief bill it is provided that the president may reduce acreage, specify the growing of farm products on certain terms, employ the allotment, land-leasing and cotton-option plans or any of them, as he pleases; levy taxes on processing and punish those who do not conform to his orders; enter into marketing agreements; decide when the emergency has ended and proclaim it; control the distribution of basic farm commodities in interstate and foreign commerce; buy the Farm Board's cotton and all cotton held under government loans, and organize a nation-wide policing system to see that his agricultural orders are carried out.

Currency, Mortgages, Employment

In the currency legislation attached to the farm relief bill the president is empowered to direct credit expansion through the open-market purchase by the Federal Reserve of government paper not to exceed three billion dollars, to issue greenbacks up to three billion dollars if the credit expansion plan doesn't work, and use those greenbacks to repurchase government bonds; to reduce the gold content of the dollar by any percentage he pleases up to one-half and to base it on any ratio he chooses in proportion to silver and to other currencies; to accept as much as $100,000,000 of any foreign government's debt in silver at not more than 50 cents an ounce, and to use that silver as the base for new currency.

Under the proposed Farm Mortgage plan the president will have the right to issue $2,000,000,000 of Land Bank bonds, and to lend money at 5 per cent from R. F. C. funds to prevent farm foreclosures. The home owners' loan act sets up a two billion dollar fund for refinancing mortgages over a fifteen-year period, with broad executive discretion.

The employment bill which is likely to be passed shortly will give the president virtually complete control over industrial production, hours of labor and rate of pay of industrial workers. The securities bill, also pending, would give the administration complete control of all stocks and bonds issued in interstate commerce. The projected rail-road legislation puts complete control of the whole railroad situation in the president's hands. The prospective tariff and trade powers to be granted to the president would give him the sole right to change tariff rates by executive proclamation.

Those are only the more important grants of power to the president, already made and proposed to be made to congress.

The reason for this shifting of authority to the president is the grave national economic emergency. There is no doubt that that exists, and even the president's critics profess no fear that he will exercise these powers except with the greatest caution and for the common good.

Segregation is Made

The method was shown to interested Oregonians by Hikosaburo Yogo, a trained expert in this work, whose tour in America at present is sponsored by the Japanese Poultry association and is under the leadership of Tokuzo Yamaguchi, editor of the Japanese Poultry Journal.

In the demonstration at Corvallis, arranged by A. G. Lunn, head of the poultry department, Yogo took 100 day-old chicks from a local hatchery and quickly separated them into two groups of 54 cockerels and 46 pullets, placing them at the rate of about 17 a minute.

Japanese Guarantee Chicks

Not content to let time reveal the percentage of accuracy, the group of cockerels were all killed and examined, post mortem revealing that Yogo was 100 per cent correct as far as that group was concerned. Naturally the pullets were left to grow.

The method is based on a hasty but accurate manipulation and examination of the vent of the chick. A slight difference always exists between the male and female, and this is detected by these trained experts. Japanese hatcherymen now commonly guarantee 90 per cent pullets in their sales, the visitors said. Unseparated chicks there sell for only half price.
