Campus Luncheon, Canoe Fete, Water Carnival, Ball Game, Banquet Planned

Eugene, Ore., May 11—Plans have now been completed for the combined Junior Week-end-Mother's Day celebration to be held on the campus of the University of Oregon May 12, 13 and 14. Beginning with the campus luncheon Friday noon events for students, mothers and visitors will fill nearly every hour of each day from morning to midnight.

The campus luncheon, to be held on Friday from noon to 2:30, will be enlivened with several features. Friars, senior honor society for men, and Mortar Board, senior women's society, will file about in caps and gowns, "tapping" those seniors selected for membership in these groups. The university band will play and other entertainment will be offered. Queen Margaret I, Miss Margaret Wagner of Salem, will also be crowned queen of Junior week-end at this time.

Tennis Court Dance
A baseball game, Oregon versus Linfield, a tennis court dance and a tea for the mothers will all be events on the program for the afternoon. The annual Junior prom, which this year will have a number of new and unusual features, will bring the entire campus together in McArthur court for the evening.

Saturday morning at eight o'clock the Oregon Mothers' executive committee will meet, and the freshmen will arise at this hour and paint the huge "O" on Skinner's Butte. At 9 o'clock the freshmen and sophomores will have their annual tug-of-war across the mill race, and from 10 to 12 a water carnival, with swimming, fancy diving, canoe tilting and water polo will be held. Mothers will also hold a mass meeting at 10 o'clock to transact business.

Canoe Fete on Saturday
Saturday evening from 5:30 to 8:30 the annual Mother's Day banquet will be held and preparations to take care of more than 500 mothers and as many sons and daughters have been made.

The canoe fete, one of the most colorful and unusual events of the year, will take place on the historic mill race at 8:30 P. M. Due to improvements in the mill race, the best fete on record is expected.

Fear Funds to Be Taken Away

Presidential Action Threatens Public Projects, Farm Extension Work in State

Washington, May 11—Floods of protests are being received by James W. Mott, congressman from Oregon from various interests in this state who are beginning to feel the direct effects of the administration's economy policy in the curtailment, of and in some cases the discontinuation of Federal appropriations which had been made for various development projects in Oregon.

Under the terms of the economy legislation, the Executive Department has threatened the diversion of funds which had been appropriated by congress for roads and public buildings projects in Oregon. The intention is to apply such funds under the new reforestation act.

Delay at Roseburg Seen
These threatened diversions are made by executive order under the broad powers which he has demanded from congress and there probably will be little that congress can now do to save the appropriations for the different projects. However, during the last few days Mr. Mott has conferred with General Hines in an effort to prevent any discontinuation of the Roseburg Soldiers Home project, and has been assured that this project will be continued under existing plans, although nothing can be ascertained as to future expenditures for hospitalization or domiciliary care. The president's stop order will, necessarily mean delay in the opening of the Soldiers Home. It is hoped that this delay will not be unreasonably long.

Mott Watches Road Funds
Mott has also conferred with the chief of the Bureau of Roads with reference to the stoppage of federal appropriations for road projects. It is believed that the presidential ban as effecting projects now under way will be lifted in the near future.

The threatened discontinuation of the federal appropriation for agricultural research and extension work has also caused a storm of protest, and the Oregon member is making a determined effort to have this appropriation continued so that this work, which has proven of great value to agricultural interests may be preserved.

The appropriations which are involved by presidential order is said to involve an annual amount of $400,000.00 for Oregon projects.

WEATHER HITS CLEAN-UP DRIVE

Rubbish Collection Starts on Monday Despite Rains; Men Complete Big Job

After a four-day delay in starting the hauling away of large amounts of rubbish due to the rains and inclement weather, orders were given Monday by Lum F. Anderson, city street commissioner, to proceed with the clean-up drive regardless of the weather and immediately a large crew of men and the city truck began the task of removing the annual collection of waste materials from Springfield yards to the city dumpgrounds near the river.

All day Monday and Tuesday the truck and men went about the streets of the city searching for and hauling away useless materials. Some of the men were working Wednesday morning also gathering up the odds and ends of the clean-up.

The city workers tried to cover the entire city in their search for rubbish. If any places have been missed the property owners are asked to notify Mr. Anderson at the City Hall.

The city dump grounds itself afforded an interesting picture during the clean-up as a small group of thrifty men carefully worked over each and every load of the discarded materials and tin cans searching for aluminum, wooden boxes and other items which have some value.
