

CERTIFIED SEED METHOD IS TOLD

Farmers Must File Application With County Agent By July 15 for Grain Crops

Rules for certification of seed of various farm crops and blanks for applying for inspection for certification were received this week by O. S. Fletcher, county agent, from the extension crop specialist of the Oregon Agricultural college, who makes or supervises all inspections for seed certification. The purpose of certification is to provide reliable sources of seed of approved crops and varieties practically free from disease, weed seeds, or mixtures.

Crop Dates Set

Lane county farmers who desire to have farm crops inspected for seed certification should file their applications with County Agent Fletcher as follows: Grain, before July 15; potatoes and Ladino clover, before July 25.

Information on red clover seed certification will be available soon and all farmers desiring to have Tennessee anthracnose-resistant or hardy Ohio red clover inspected for seed certification should file their application at once.

No Charge for Grain

There are no charges for inspection of grain. The charge for inspection of potatoes is $1.75 per acre, with a minimum charge of $4.00; Ladino clover ten cents per acre, with a minimum charge of fifty cents. Varieties of grain that will be inspected for certification are Hood, Jenks, and Red Huston wheat; Hannechen and O. A. C. No. 7 barley; Victory, Schoolman, and gray winter oats. Varieties of potatoes commonly grown in Lane county approved for certification are low top Burbank, Nettle Gem, Irish Cobbler, and Earliest of All.

IMMACULATE ARLISS IS DISVEILED FOR FILM

It is a new and somewhat disveiled George Arliss, usually so immaculate, who appears in the Warner Bros. picture, "The Working Man" which comes to the screen of the McDonald theatre today for three days.

For George Arliss let his hair grow for six weeks before beginning work on the production. In the story, a long fishing trip is interrupted by a chance to do an old friend a good turn in disguise and the seedy appearance of the character Mr. Arliss portrays, is the disguise.

Ordinarily, Mr. Arliss, while in Hollywood, has his hair trimmed every two weeks by the studio barber. With four weeks of extra growth and a careless combing, the usually sleek Arliss head was changed to a rough grey thatch. No wig or hair piece was necessary to complete the makeup. For home use, Mr. Arliss combs the same hair tightly to his head and appears fairly normal.

"The Working Man" is a delightful and highly entertaining comedy drama in which Mr. Arliss, a wealthy manufacturer, masquerades as a small town fisherman in order to save from ruin the children of the man who had been his bitterest rival in both business and love.

A notable supporting cast includes Bette Davis as his leading lady, Hardie Albright in the juvenile lead, Gordon Westcott, Theodore Newton and J. Farrell MacDonald. The screen play by Charles Kenyon and Maude T. Howell is based on a story by Edgar Franklin and directed by John Adolf.

Attend Chicken Dinner—Among the several guests entertained at a large chicken dinner July 4 by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Basford were Dr. and Mrs. Milton V. Walker and children, Glenn and Helen Margaret.

Son Born Monday—Mr. and Mrs. L. D. McKenney are the parents of a six and one-half pound baby son born to them at their home on Fifth street, July 3, 1933.

Hubby Wouldn't Pose

Mrs. F. D. Griffith visited her doctor husband in New York. On the screen she is Irene Duna. Hubby accompanied her back to Hollywood but refused to pose with Mrs. Griffith for this photo.

LANE YOUTHS ATTEND C. M. T. C. CAMP NOW

Basic Instruction Eliminated This Year; Full Athletic Program Planned

Vancouver Barracks, July 6—Seven students from Lane county are attending the seventh annual Citizens' Military Training camp here, now under way and scheduled to run until July 22. They are part of a camp much reduced in size, as considerably less than half the original quota of 590 were able to come this time, due to drastic reductions necessitated by Ninth corps area headquarters instructions in line with the federal economy program. Attending from Lane county are: Otis J. Neet, Wendling; Roger K. Pendell, Wendling; Raymond R. Riesenhuber, Canary; Carl W. Robbins, Jr., Eugene; Galen P. Robbins, Eugene; Clarence V. Rogers, Leaburg, and Mathew C. Smith, Eugene.

All Are Veterans

Like all other students at the camp this year, these youths are veterans of at least one previous camp, for the reduction order eliminated all beginners or basics, who normally form a large proportion of the attendance. While attendance was more than cut in half, however, all the rest of the plans for the camp are proceeding as before. Colonel Harry A. Wells, camp commander, has directed that the original training program be followed in detail; and in accordance with this Lieutenant Thomas J. Cross, adjutant, is running the camp four weeks as usual, is carrying through a full course of instruction, and is devoting afternoons daily to organized athletics in which all students must take part. Medals and trophies, offered by various patriotic organizations and individuals, are available as before and will go to winning students for achievement in studies, in character, in marksmanship and in athletics. The awards will be made at the annual visitors' day at the end of camp.

INJUNCTION AGAINST LAW GIVEN TRUCK OWNERS

Oregon truck owners must purchase their regular license plates for their conveyances, but they need not abide by the other clauses in the truck and bus bill which was approved at the last election and which provides for high insurance and compulsory bonds for all carriers.

This statement was made Saturday by A. C. Anderson, president of the Farmers' Protective association after he had obtained an injunction in Judge L. G. McMahan's Circuit Court at Salem Friday. The temporary injunction restrains C. E. Thomas, corporation commissioner from enforcing the law until a final decision is made.

Lane county wood dealers, especially, would have suffered under the enforcement of the law, they say, as compliance with the law would have made it impossible for many of them to meet the necessary fees to remain in business. Wood prices were slated to rise July 1 because of the bill, but prices on most wood have remained stable.

Foreigners Finding It Hard to Fool American Delegates at Parley

By FRANK STOCKBRIDGE
The World Monetary and Economic Congress, now in session in London, represents sixty-six out of the seventy organized nations of the globe. Fifty-seven of them are members of the League of Nations, namely:

Abyssinia, South Africa, Albania, Argentina, Australia, Austria, Belgium, Bolivia, Bulgaria, Canada, Chile, Colombia, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Dominican Republic, Estonia, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Guatemala, Haiti, Honduras, Hungary, India, Iraq, Irish Free State, Italy, Japan, Latvia, Liberia, Lithuania, Luxembourg, Mexico, Netherlands, New Zealand, Nicaragua, Norway, Panama, Paraguay, Persia, Peru, Poland, Portugal, Rumania, Salvador, Siam, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey, United Kingdom, Uruguay, Venezuela and Yugoslavia.

The nine nations in the conference are non-members of the League are Afghanistan, Brazil, Costa Rica, Ecuador, Egypt, Hedjaz, Iceland, the United States of America and the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics—in our language, Russia.

Three Big Objectives

The main purposes of this great international convention are, first, to try to find some way by international action to raise the prices of commodities in foreign trade; second, to remove or modify the barriers which stand in the way of the free flow of goods from one nation to another; third, to arrive at some common basis of money so that there will no longer be great disparities between the values of the currencies of different nations.

On those general proposals all of the important nations except France, and practically all of the minor nations are in agreement. If France can be whipped into line it should be easy to work out the details.

France, as is always the case in international conferences, is the "bad boy" of the London meeting. France always goes into such conferences with a complete program—all in France's favor—and protests loudly that she won't play unless she has her own way. She usually winds up by accepting the majority verdict and then going home and lamenting loudly that she has been robbed.

France started those tactics at the beginning of this conference, insisting that the money of the world be immediately stabilized at their present ratios. That did not suit the English, who would like to keep the dollar much higher to the pound than it is now, nor the Americans, who think the pound ought to get back to its old dollar value or higher. But the French delegation circulated the report that an agreement had been reached and dollar prices began to tumble. France wants, in short, to keep the franc just where it is, and if the pound goes much higher the French will have to go off the gold standard, like the rest of the world.

U. S. A. Able Represented

Every nation has sent its ablest men to the London conference. There are seven prime ministers among the delegates. There is no ground, however, to fear that the American delegation will be outsmarted. There are few able men in America than Secretary of State Cordell Hull, former Governor James M. Cox, Senator Key Pittman, Senator Couzens, Representative McReynolds, James M. Warburg and their economic advisers, who include such men as Professor O. M. W. Sprague and Rene Leon. They know just what America wants and they are not easily fooled by even such high politics as Europe plays. In the first major political skirmish of the convention, the fight for the chairmanship of the Monetary Commission, the Americans won hands down and James M. Cox was elected chairman.

America is in the best position of any of the nations in the conference, for we not only have more gold than anybody else but they all, or practically all of them, owe us money.

U. S. Wields Power

America, too, is in a better position than any of them to take its doll rags and go home if the party doesn't go to our delegates' liking. Under the new powers granted to President Roosevelt, we can put the dollar at any price relative to the pound, the franc or the yen that we like, regardless of what the other fellow does. We can keep our tariff walls up and reduce our currency to a point where our goods can climb over the highest tariff wall any of them can erect. We can curtail production in agriculture and industry to meet our own domestic demands and no more, if we care to do that.

Those are the weapons the United States delegates to London have in their hands. Nobody wants to have to use them. Everybody would prefer an amicable international economic agreement, but if we are forced to economic nationalism, we can get along better without the other nations than they can get along without us.

JULY 12 IS LANE DAY AT COLLEGE

Many New Crops and Experiments in Plant Breeding to Be Shown at Station

Wednesday, July 12, will be Lane County day at the Oregon Agricultural college experiment station at Corvallis according to O. S. Fletcher, county agent, who is making Lane county arrangements for the day. Interested people will assemble back of the agriculture building on the college campus at 10:30 a. m.

The forenoon will be devoted to inspection of forage crops on the plots near the college buildings. Crops to be seen in the forenoon are highland Reed Canary grass, Chewing fescue, zig zag clover, meadow foxtail, non-shattering hairy vetch, and miscellaneous other forage crops.

Will Inspect Berries

Inspection of small fruits plots on the east farm will start at one o'clock. Among things to be seen there are strawberry breeding plots and raspberries and blackberries under irrigation. Following inspection of berry plots, alfalfa variety trials, and clover fertilizer and irrigation trials will be seen.

Following inspections at the east farm those interested will go to the Granger farm to inspect the cereal nursery and variety trial plots. Here cereal breeding work, malting barley trials, seed treatment plots, fiber flax, seed flax, and seed plots of crimson clover, hairy vetch, and meadow foxtail will be seen.

U. S. GOVERNMENT GREATEST BANKER

Runs Fifty-two Financing Institutions With Investment of Two Billion Dollars—Thirty-nine Agricultural

AMERICA'S biggest banker today is the Federal Government which is now operating fifty-two financing institutions, says Professor John Hanna of Columbia University in the American Bankers Association Journal.

"Forty of these are owned entirely by the Government," he says. "In twelve more the Government has already a two-thirds interest. Thirty-seven are intended to be permanent. Twenty-five of the permanent ones and fourteen of the temporary ones are agricultural."

"The capital stock held by the United States in these banks has a par value of $1,380,000,000. The Government's total investment is nearly $2,000,000,000. Resources of these institutions exceed $3,000,000,000. In addition the Government has detailed supervision over fifty-one mortgage banks, operating under Federal charter."

"The Government also supervises 4,600 local agricultural loan associations with Federal charters. All this takes no account of the relations of the Government to the twelve Federal Reserve banks, nor of the authority recently given to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to buy preferred stock in national and state commercial banks."

Consolidation Called For
The President has ordered the consolidation of the agricultural credit agencies into the new Farm Credit Administration, says Professor Hanna. He expresses the opinion that before the consolidation of the agricultural financing agencies too much machinery had been created to administer the financing institutions which the Government either owns or supervises.

"Existing institutions represent a considerable differentiation of function and any consolidation should be preceded by a careful survey of the actual activities of the various institutions," he continues. "The only consolidation the Administration has announced is that of the agricultural credit agencies in the Farm Credit Administration. As a permanent solution this arrangement is too closely bound up with politics."

The Value of the Colleges

"The physical properties and endowments of institutions of higher education in the United States are now valued at over $2,500,000,000. Endowments alone aggregate over $1,150,000,000. Thirty colleges and universities have endowments that average $18,000,000. Eleven out of the 30 have endowments that average $35,000,000. A very few of them have endowments of over $100,000,000 each. The annual operating income of institutions of higher learning amounts to over $500,000,000. Gifts to them in a single year have reached a total of $233,000,000."

Mother Visits—Mrs. Ella Frum returned to her home at Junction City Tuesday after having spent the holiday week-end in Springfield at the home of her son, Enoch Stuart. Ed Johnson and his mother of Plainview, Washington were also guests at the Stuart home.

Returns from Bend—Mrs. C. F. Barber and daughter returned home Tuesday following a vacation visit with relatives at Bend. Mr. Barber went to Bend Saturday to get his family.

CLIMBERS REACH MOUNTAIN PEAK

Two Scale Middle Sister on Skii; 15 Mazamas Spend Week-end in Mountains

First successful efforts of this year to scale any of the Three Sisters mountains in the Cascade range were reported this week.

As an indication of the amount of snow which remains on the peaks it was a party of two, Ed Johnson and Norwald Nelson of Eugene who made the first climb of the Middle Sister Sunday using ski the entire distance. They did not climb the final 500 feet which they say is impossible with ski. They did not carry any ice picks. Their climb was the second attempt. A party consisting of the two, Harry Wright and Clifford Stalsberg, were driven off the mountain a week earlier by the sleet and biting wind.

The first group to climb the mountain on foot consisted of 15 members of the Mazama Outdoor club of Portland. They went to Frog Camp Saturday evening, moved into White Branch Sunday afternoon and spent Monday and Tuesday climbing.

Members of the ski party state that the snowline in the upper mountains had receded rapidly during the week between their trips.

Returns from Portland—C. J. McKee returned Tuesday evening from Portland where he attended a meeting of retail bakers.
