CHAMBER CONVENTION TO BE HELD IN EUGENE

The Eugene Chamber of Commerce will entertain the first annual convention of Lane County Chambers of Commerce, to be held in Eugene Thursday evening, February 22, 1934 at a 6:30 o'clock dinner meeting.

All members of all affiliated organizations of the County Chamber are invited and urged to attend. Members of other local groups who are interested in county-wide development are also cordially invited. Subjects of county-wide importance will be presented such as flood control, freight rates, short road to the sea, mineral resources, agricultural development, tourist traffic, etc. The sales tax will be discussed by two speakers, one for and one against the proposed law.

This meeting could be the most important affair of its kind ever held in Lane county.—it all depends upon how many are in attendance from the various districts, and how determined and unitedly they become upon county-wide problems. It could be made the strongest medium in the county through which to obtain necessary programs of county development, according to H. E. Cully, secretary of the Eugene chamber.

DAIRY CONTROL PLAN OUTLINED

First Indication of Procedure Given By Wallace; Some Farm Pork Tax Free

Removal of the minimum limit in the hog section of the corn-hog control plan, establishment of farmer exemptions under the hog processing tax, and outline of the tentative plan for dairy production control are late developments under the AAA, according to a review of the agricultural officials at Oregon State college.

The recent address by Secretary Wallace on "The Dairy Dilemma," contained the first authoritative explanation of the kind of production control contemplated for dairymen by AAA. Even it is still tentative, however, as to details, hence there is still time for it to be carefully considered by dairymen throughout the country looking toward possible changes or additions before the final contract forms are arrived at.

Voluntary Curtailment
The plan proposed by Wallace calls for an individual voluntary farm allotment amounting to 85 per cent of the average annual production of each dairyman over the past three years. Thus, cooperating dairymen would agree to reduce production 15 per cent under the base period.

For such reduction, to be made by any plan they saw fit to adopt, they would be compensated by adjustment to be financed from a processing tax on butter-fat which would reach a maximum of five cents per pound, with a compensatory tax on oleomargarine. A substantial advance payment as possible would be made to each dairy farmer soon after his contract is accepted.

Expansion Permitted
Secretary Wallace promises to keep the plan as flexible as possible so as to permit expansion of the industry as far as consumer demand warrants. There are other angles of the plan about which more will be announced later.

The change on the corn-hog plan allows any grower of hogs to join and receive benefit payments in return for reducing his production by at least 25 per cent. Previously an average of three litters a year was the bottom limit necessary before a man could sign a hog contract. This change is expected to increase the total Oregon sign-up very materially, as most hog raisers in this state are relatively small producers.

The change in the hog processing tax allows each farmer an annual exemption of 300 pounds of pork products he sells or trades from slaughterings of hogs of his own raising. This applies only where his total of products in any marketing year do not exceed 1000 pounds.
