

SQUIRREL DRIVE EFFORT TO START

County Agent Fletcher Explains Rodent Control Law; Warns Property Owners

An extensive campaign against gray digger ground squirrels is to be carried on in all parts of Lane county again this year by the county agent in cooperation with farm organizations, community committees, and other interested groups. Methods of carrying on the campaign were decided upon at a meeting of the Lane County Agricultural Council held in Eugene last Friday, according to County Agent O. S. Fletcher.

The state rodent control law requiring all persons having charge of land to poison ground squirrels on their holdings will be enforced in Lane county again this year. Official notice in regard to this matter will be found in another column of this paper.

Will Appoint Supervisors
Under this law supervisors appointed by the county court may poison squirrels on land neglected by the owners. The expenses of this work are charged against the land and collected with the taxes. The county agent recommends that land owners see to it that their tenants poison squirrels on their land.

An adequate supply of poisoned barley has been prepared by the county agent for sale at cost. The poison barley is put up in five-pound bags that sell at thirty cents each. Dealers in all parts of the county will handle the poison.

Following is a list of places in this part of the county where poison barley can be purchased: Springfield, Adams Seed and Feed company; Jasper, Bauer's store; Fall Creek, Brewer's store; Lowell, Blair's store and Shultz's store; Dexter, Williams' store; Trent, Wood's store; Marcola, Price's store; and Waltherville, Jennings' service station.

The Worker's society met all day Thursday at the home of Mrs. Marion Drury, Waltherville, tying quilts for Mrs. C. C. Polley. A waffle dinner featured the noon hour.

The Waterville Ladies' Aid quilted all day Thursday at the social room, serving a potluck dinner at noon. The group are as usual working on two quilts.

Mrs. J. W. Fountain's birthday and the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Caldwell were the occasion of a surprise party arranged for them by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Neer Saturday evening.

Norma Rae Hart's birthday was celebrated Saturday with a group of 23 of her young friends as guests. Several mothers accompanied the children to assist Mrs. Hart. Five birthday cakes and a number of little gifts were received by Norma.

Mrs. Charles Jack's birthday was the motif for a family reunion held at the Jack home Sunday at which all of her six children and five grand children were present.

Mrs. John Fountain's children also made the birthday of their mother the occasion of a happy gathering. Nineteen children and grandchildren spent the day with Mrs. Fountain.

Father Visits—Arthur L. Jobe of Lebanon is here visiting with his daughter, Miss Edith Jobe. Miss Jobe's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Cantenson, and Jim Grigsby are also here.

While cranking his car Tuesday morning L. B. Stevens of Dexter cut his hand badly on the license plate. He went to Eugene for treatment. It was necessary to take several stitches to close the wound.

New Farm Water System Sought

Running Water in the Home Leads Rural Improvements Wanted Says CWA Survey

An adequate supply of running water in the homes of more than 6000 Oregon farmers was shown as the most desired improvement in farm life conditions according to preliminary studies of the CWA rural improvement survey conducted under the extension service in home economics at Oregon State college.

In two counties more than 60 percent of the farm women interviewed said they planned new or improved water systems as soon as they can afford it.

Cost Price Very Low
What many Oregon farmers may not realize is the low cost of installation of suitable water systems in many localities of the state, particularly west of the Cascades, believes W. J. Gilmore, head of the department of agriculture engineering at O. S. C. Most places that have electricity available prefer to use electric power for pumping, but cheaper systems will frequently give satisfactory service if well planned for the location, he says.

"In western Oregon many locations are suitable for installing hydraulic rams," explains Professor Gilmore. "These are the most economical pumps known and will operate for years without cost for repairs or power. They have their limitations, but where a home is located close to a stream of good water they afford real possibilities."

Windmills Are Useful
"Farms distant from power lines might well consider use of windmills. With a storage tank to carry over the still days, a windmill provides a satisfactory water system at little expense for repairs or power. Wind velocities as low as 10 miles an hour will lift 320 gallons or more a height of 25 feet in an hour. Wind enough for pumping usually does not prevail more than a third of the time, so that electricity when available is more desirable, yet wind power is so cheap that it could well be used more widely in Oregon."

"Automatic water systems for both shallow and deep wells, operated by electric power, are increasing in Oregon. It is possible to purchase a good shallow well system complete and installed for less than $75," Professor Gilmore said. Literature or personal information on farm water supplies, sewage disposal or farm plumbing is available without cost from the agricultural department at Oregon State college.

WHEAT GROWERS MAY STILL SIGN CONTRACTS

Late Signers Cannot Collect First Benefit Payments Made to Growers Last Winter

Oregon farmers with an estimated amount of wheat totaling 179,834 acres are once more eligible to join in the wheat production control program of the government and receive allotments on which benefit payments will be made for the next two years unless the wheat price reaches parity, as a result of the reopening of the three-year wheat control program recently announced by Secretary Wallace.

Oregon is among the states with a large signup in the regular campaign, getting 82 per cent of the 1,027,000 acres that make up the base average amount seeded annually from 1930 to 1932. Most of the unsigned acreage in this state is in relatively small holdings in the diversified farming districts west of the Cascades, according to the Oregon State college extension service.

Many Request Extension
In reopening the campaign the AAA officials say they have received so many requests from growers that they be given a second chance that it is believed a large additional signup will be had, especially east of the Mississippi river. The percentage of signup is given as 78 per cent for the country as a whole.

The new signers will receive the same future benefits that original signers received, but will not get the first payment of 20 cents a bushel on their allotments such as have already been made to early signers. Signup of additional wheat growers may start at once, though there will be no new campaign. Those who desire to join will go to their county wheat control association where old blanks are being adapted for the new use.

Provides Some Insurance
"The allotment plan provides a measure of crop insurance and price insurance," points out Chester C. Davis, administrator of the farm act. Contract signers are assured of their allotment payments even though the crop is a failure. The wheat contract calls for making full adjustment payments on the 1934 and 1935 crops, if prices on these crops do not reach parity. The payment already made, and the remaining one of 8 cents a bushel less local administrative costs, are for the 1933 crop.

New signers will be eligible for this remaining 1933 payment but they will have to eliminate any excess seeded acreage above the 85 percent of past production allowed in the contract covering the 1934 crop. The method of bringing this excess acreage down is left to the individual, but it must be accomplished in advance of the pre-harvest inspection.

January Price Average 69.4
Average farm price of wheat in January was 69.4 cents a bushel, while the parity price as computed by the government, needed to give farmers a fair exchange value, was $1.02 1/2 a bushels.

The government reports that other wheat exporting countries are taking steps to comply with the international reduction agreement and that the United States will take whatever action is necessary to make the 15 per cent reduction this country agreed to.

PRODUCTION INCREASE CONTINUES IN MILLS

Seattle, Wash., March 8—A total of 573 down and operating mills in Oregon and Washington which reported to the West Coast Lumbermen's association for the week ending February 24, produced 90,378,806 board feet of lumber. This was an increase of approximately 1,500,000 feet over the preceding week. The average production of this group of sawmills in 1934 has been 77,456,977 feet; during the same period in 1933 their weekly average was 54,356 feet.

The new business reported last week by 553 mills was 82,672,575 board feet against a production of 89,930,063 feet and shipments of 81,638,039 feet. Their shipments were under production by 9.2 percent and their current sales were under production by 8.1 percent. The orders booked last week by this group of identical mills were over the preceding week by 9,300,000 feet or 12.8 percent.

The unfilled order file at these mills stood at 366,989,826 board feet, from the week before.

The aggregate inventories of 130 mills are 2.40 percent more than at this time last year.

A baby boy tipping the scales at 10 1/2 pounds was born to Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Mathews of Dexter February 23, 1934.

ROSEBURG ATTORNEY IN CIRCUIT JUDGE RACE

Carl Wimberly Seeks Position Now Held by B. L. Eddy Under Gov. Meier Appointment

Roseburg, Ore., March 8—Carl E. Wimberly, Roseburg attorney, announced today that he has filed with the secretary of state his declaration of candidacy for the office of circuit judge for the second judicial district of Oregon.

The place sought by Carl Wimberly was vacated by the death of Judge J. W. Hamilton on July 29th last year. The late Judge Hamilton had served 35 years on the circuit bench in this district. Upon his death Governor Meier appointed B. L. Eddy to serve out the remainder of the term. Wimberly, according to local attorneys, was a strong contender for the appointment, having the endorsement of the Douglas County Bar and many prominent attorneys throughout the district.

Carl Wimberly was born in Elkton, Oregon, July 22, 1887. He was graduated from Willamette university in 1909 with the degree of bachelor of laws. He was admitted to the Oregon bar June 15, 1909.

He served as deputy county clerk from 1910 until 1911 when he was elected city recorder for Roseburg. He was city recorder until 1915, then went into private law practice. In 1915 he was appointed city attorney, which office he held until 1923, when he was appointed district attorney for the purpose of prosecuting a number of officials charged with having accepted bribes and for the purpose of prosecuting others charged with having conducted a large liquor ring. Having successfully completed that work, he resigned and in 1924 he was again appointed city attorney and served until 1928.

Wimberly served during the World war as battalion sergeant major with the 75th infantry, 13th division. He is a member of Umpqua Post number 16 American Legion and is a former district commander of the American Legion for this district. Fraternally he is a member of Roseburg lodge No. 326, B. P. O. E., of which he is a Past Exalted Ruler; Laurel lodge No. 13 A. F. and A. M.; and Camp No. 125, W. O. W.

He was married July 6, 1918, to Miss Leila Lent of Portland. They have three children.

Three circuit judges are to be elected in the second judicial district this year. The second district comprises Coos, Curry, Douglas, Lane, Lincoln and Benton counties.

The judiciary election is non-partisan. Of those filing declarations of candidacy in the primaries, names of the six obtaining the highest number of votes will appear on the general election ballot. Of the six, three must be chosen. It has been customary for one of the judges to reside in Eugene, one in Marshfield and one in Roseburg.

Employment of a total of 550,000 men through the President's emergency conservation work movement, and the fact that $50,000,000 earned by the civilian conservation corps workers went home to their families and dependents is cited in a report to President Roosevelt by Robert Fechner, emergency conservation work director.

A copy of the report, which has just been received by the regional forester, Portland, Oregon, points to major constructive work accomplished as including: Construction of 13,342 miles of truck trails, 6,754 miles of telephone lines and 5,840 miles of fire breaks; removal of inflammable fire hazards from 153,209 acres; completion of forest stand improvement work on 268,943 acres; construction of 99,779 soil erosion dams; completion of erosion control operations on 468,167 acres and partial completion of similar work on an additional 172,744 acres.

Completion of tree and plant disease control operations on 2,120,942 acres; completion of insect pest control operations on 1,355,563 acres; completion of rodent control operations on 3,809,270 acres; trees planted on 60,092 acres. In addition to these major items there were many other minor items of forest cultural or improvement work.

The report also cites the benefits of the ECW in the field of health and morale of the enrolled men; and the contributions to the business, industrial and manufacturing field through the purchase of foodstuffs, wearing apparel, automotive equipment, tools, building material, shelter, and other supplies, for which a total of 110 million dollars, in round numbers, had been expended up to January 1, 1934.

Upper Willamette

Colds, with ear ache has been bringing down the attendance at the public school at Pleasant Hill the past two weeks. As many as six were absent one day in the primary grade.

Bobbie Olson celebrated his 8th birthday February 18. Marion Jordan, Dorothy Lou and Teddy Tinker helped him celebrate.

Cecil Wheeler lost his brooder coop and 195 baby chicks by fire February 20 when the brooder exploded.

The women of the high school district No. 1 under the leadership of Mrs. Holcomb and Mrs. Jacoby entertained the three basketball squads of the Pleasant Hill high school and their parents at a 6 o'clock dinner Friday night, March 2 at Swimmers Delight. Covers were laid for 80. Speeches were made by Perry Price and Mrs. Jean Eberhart coaches of the teams and by Dwight Brown and Emma Lou Baughman representatives of the teams. After the dinner a variety party was given to all past lettermen of the high school. Cards, dancing and ping pong were enjoyed by both the young folks and their parents. The young folks were very enthusiastic in the praise of the efforts the women had put forth and many have expressed a hope another such party will be given soon.

The second edition of Primary News, a paper gotten out by the Pleasant Hill primary pupils, appeared Monday, March 5th. The paper contains short stories by the children and news items about the pupils.

Miss Veda Daley who is attending the State Normal school at Monmouth came down for the alumni party held at Swimmers Delight Friday night. She spent the week-end with Loree Laird.
