1934 CHICKS FEWER. HATCHERIES REPORT

New England States Only Region Showing Increase In Hatchings For Fryers Indications are that the number of saleable chicks hatched in the United States is running less than a year ago, although future bookngs might suggest some increase, says a summary of the government hatchery report just released by the O. S. C. extension service. Saleable chicks hatched by com nercial hatcheries of the United States during March were 6.3 per cent fewer than in March 1933. The total output for January, February and March is about 8 per cent less than for the same months last year. Decreases in March as compared with a year ago occurred in the middle and south Atlantic states and in the northeast central and south central states. The Pacific coast, mountain and New England states reported increases. However, the only section in which the commercial production of baby chicks is showing a consistent expansion over a year ago is the New England group and here most of the increase is believed to be for be elected in this district this year. broiler production. Official reports on farm hatchings are not avail- the position made vacant by the able.

Bookings by commercial hatcheries in the whole country for April or later delivery were nearly 6 per cent greater than a year ago in spite of a decrease of 14 to 15 per cent in the pacific coast and mountain states. This is a greater increase than was reported on March 1. It does not necessarily mean, however, that more chicks will be hatched, as the close adherence of hatcheries to their code is encouraging buyers to place orders earlier than last year.
