

OSC MEN RESIGN FROM STATE CORN-HOG BOARD

Alleged Unfair Distribution of Corn-Hog Funds in Counties Is Blamed

The state board of review in charge of getting county quotas for the corn-hog adjustment program in Oregon is now operating without the two state college extension staff members as these withdrew late in August, it is announced at S. S. C.

Participation of H. A. Lindgren, extension livestock specialist, and L. L. Potter, head of the division of agricultural economics, was withdrawn in protest over what the college men feel to be unfair and arbitrary treatment to Oregon hog producers who applied for contracts last spring.

Earlier difficulties in this regard were believed settled by personal conference with Chester C. Davis, administrator of the AAA, but later orders from the corn-hog section in Washington practically nullified the benefits of that agreement, the college representatives believe.

County committees will continue to have the assistance of the extension officials in saving whatever is possible for Oregon growers out of the present unsatisfactory situation, but the college men have notified federal officials that they will take no responsibility for what they consider seriously unfair county quotas arrived at by methods of statistical computation sent from Washington and not applicable in this state.

WARNER BROS. OFFER "DAMES" AT McDONALD

"Dames," Warner Bros.' latest mammoth musical special, opening at the McDonald theatre Sunday, is made on a grander and more impressive scale than any of its predecessors.

The story starts with Hugh Herbert, as Ezra Ounce, an eccentric multimillionaire with a complex on other people's morals, cutting all his relatives out of his will except Horace, (Guy Kibbee). Ezra announces that he is going to give Horace $10,000,000 as soon as the two can organize the "Ounce Society for the Elevation of American Morals."

They leave for Horace's home in New York, but on the train, Mabel

SMALL AUDIENCE HEARS LECTURER ON MONDAY

Due to the warm weather which sent many out of town and also the opening of the state fair at Salem Monday there were but few persons left in the city that evening to hear Dr. and Mrs. O. P. Vincent of Hood River present their musical and chalk talk program at the Methodist church.

Later Jimmy meets Mabel while going the rounds of the agencies. She discovers he has a show and needs an angel. On learning he is related to Horace, she concocts a plot.

Horace finds Mabel in his room, he demands $20,000 to finance the show and when refused threatens to scream. Horace with visions of $10,000,000 vanishing, gives her the $20,000 check.

PENDELTON ROUND-UP SET SEPTEMBER 13-15

The best the west has to offer will be seen for three full days at the annual Pendleton Round-Up, September 13, 14, 15 with nightly "Happy Canyon" pageants.

Miss Shirley Thompson, daughter of a real Eastern Oregon rancher, will be queen of the Round-Up. Her mother, then Laura McKee, was queen of the first Round-Up held in 1910.

The Round-Up is not limited to bucking, roping and bull-dogging but provides a variety of thrills with pony express races, the "wild ride," relay races, stagecoach races, trick roping, the ceremonial dances of the Indians and other distinctive features found at Pendleton alone. Saddling of bucking horses is done in the arena while other western shows buck the horses from chutes. Calves are roped just as they are on the range, thrown and tied down, where as many rodeos require the bulldogged steers and roped calves to merely be decorated with a ribbon placed on the horn or the nose.

Carrier Vacations—Bert Sankey, rural mail carrier, is taking a 15-day vacation. Leroy Nice is carrying the route during his absence.

Leave for Leona—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hall left Wednesday for Leona where they will be employed. They came to Springfield recently from Tennessee.
