REGISTER FIREARMS BEFORE SEPTEMBER 26

High Resale Tax Provided By Government On Guns With Less Than 18-Inch Barrels

J. W. Maloney, collector of internal revenue at Portland, today called attention to the provisions of the National Firearms Act, requiring all persons owning firearms as defined in the act to register them with his office, without delay.

"The term 'firearms' as defined in the National Firearms Act," said Collector Maloney, "includes all shotguns and rifles with barrels less than eighteen inches in length, any other weapon, except a pistol or revolver, from which a shot is discharged by an explosive, if such weapon can be concealed on the person, machine guns, and revolvers and silencers."

"There are a number of shotguns on the market which have barrels less than 18 inches in length, that are sold under various trade names, as handy guns, burglar guns, game-getters, etc., which come within the definition of a firearm, under the act, and it is necessary for them to be registered by the owners with this office."

"Revolvers and pistols are not subject to registration, nor rifles or shotguns with barrels 18 inches or more in length."

"All persons or firms owning firearms which are subject to registration should write the Collector of Internal Revenue, 210 Customs House, Portland, Oregon, at once for blanks on which to register the same, as this must be done not later than September 26, 1934."

"When these registered firearms are transferred it will be necessary for the purchaser to pay a transfer tax of $200 to the Federal government, and secure application blanks for that purpose from the collector of internal revenue."

Munger, director of Pacific Northwest Forest Experiment Station. With intensive forest management, according to Munger, the forest acreage in this area can grow annually sufficient pulpwood to supply the present needs of the nation's pulp and paper industry indefinitely.

LUMBER PRODUCTION REMAINS AT LOW LEVEL

Gains which are usually manifest in lumber movement due to fall buying along the Atlantic coast and in the rail trade area of the middle west have failed to materialize so far this season. Instead both of these trades are showing less business says the West Coast Lumbermen's association. The immediate future of the business is uncertain due to the absence of building in the nation and the effect of the drought in the middle west.

Production continues to remain above new business, and total production is gradually being slowed down in the entire area. Yard inventories are 15 percent more than at this time last year.

CRAWFORD-GABLE IN "CHAINED" AT McDONALD

In "Chained," opening at the McDonald theatre Sunday Joan Crawford and Clark Gable are co-starred in a story written especially for them by Edgar Selwyn, noted writer, director and producer.

They are cast in the kind of roles which each has made famous—Joan as a vivid young lady of Manhattan, and Clark as a young American rancher in Buenos Aires.

With Otto Kruger as the "other man," a rich, gentlemanly, middle-aged New Yorker, also in love with Joan, the story takes on dramatic color.

Following the new trend of fast moving locale, the background against which the action takes place is as swift changing as the drama itself. Beginning with a sun-flicked motorboat sequence on New York bay, the locale swiftly shifts to Manhattan, then to a luxurious liner at sea, then to Buenos Aires, South America, out onto a great ranch, back to New York, and thus to a smart mountain resort in the north.

The story itself concerns a beautiful girl who deliberately breaks one man's heart to save a man to whom she is indebted from suffering. Then she bravely faces the dramatic consequences, with the surprise ending a happy one for all three.

Stuart Erwin plays the part of Gable's friend, whose wise observations add flavor to the rapidly paced story.

Una O'Connor and Marjorie Gateson are equally well cast as Joan's companion, and Kruger's wife, respectively. Also featured are Paul Porcasi, Akim Tamiroff and Ralph Bushman.
