

INTEREST HIGH AS VOTING NEARS

Governorship Takes Center Of Stage During Last Days Of Political Campaign

Power, Tax-Limit, Healing Arts, School Plan And Prohibition, To Be Decided

One of the most unusual political campaigns to be waged in the state of Oregon will be brought to a climax next Tuesday when the citizens in every precinct will cast their ballots for congressman, governor, secretary of state, superintendent of public instruction, commissioner of the bureau of labor, legislative officers and six measures.

The campaign has been unusual in the apparent disinterested attitude of candidates and voters alike until the closing weeks of the campaign when volleys of charges and counter-charges have aligned voters more firmly than usual to their candidates. This is especially true in the campaign for the governorship in which three men, Dunne, Martin, and Zimmerman, are so strongly backed that few persons are venturing to state who is to be the next governor.

Judges Are Safe

A list of judicial candidates will head the ballot which each voter will receive when at the polls Tuesday. These offices, two places on the supreme court and three circuit court judges, are not contested and the election of the candidates was assured after the spring primary vote.

Four men seek to represent the first Oregon district in congress. Three of the men, James W. Mott, republican, W. S. Richards, socialist, and R. R. Turner, democrat, won their party nominations in the primary. Emmett W. Gulley, professor at Linfield college, was nominated as an independent and has made a short campaign. Mott and Turner have made extensive campaigns through their districts.

Six Seek Governorship

For governor the people will choose between Joe E. Dunne, republican; Charles F. Martin, democrat; Abraham M. Silverman, Harry J. Correll, Hank E. Wirth, and Peter Zimmerman, all independent candidates.

Earl Snell, republican, and Horace E. Walter, democrat, have been making a thorough but quiet campaign for secretary of state. Earl C. Stewart, independent, and Harlin Talbert, socialist, are also candidates but have not been very active.

Charles A. Howard, republican; J. W. Leonhardt, democrat; and Blanche H. Myer, socialist; were all duly nominated in the primary election and none have made an active campaign since for the office of superintendent of public instruction.

The same situation prevails in the campaign for commissioner of the bureau of labor where C. H. Gram, republican; Walfred Shulheim, democrat; and Lawrence Waer, socialist; were all nominated in the primary and none have made active campaigns.

To Elect Legislators

In the race for the state legislature L. L. Ray, democrat; H. C. Wheeler, republican; and C. F. Hawkins, socialist; seek to represent Lane county in the senate.

Elwin A. McCornack, republican; C. A. Schoelling, democrat; and Joseph Mahr, socialist; seek to represent Linn-Lane county in the senate from the fourth district.

Three democrats, three socialists and three republicans, a complete ticket for the county legislative positions, will be voted upon. Earl H. Hill, Charles A. Huntington, and Howard S. Merriam are the republicans; Frank Carl, C. F. Hyde, and Mrs. Belle Lydick, are the democrats; and George Adams, Frank Hamblen, and J. G. Rada-baugh are the socialists seeking the office. The republicans and democrats have done some campaigning. Mr. Hyde, championing the tax limitation measure, has been the most active.

Only Two County Contests

Only two county candidates will be voted on. Voters must choose between O. E. Crowe, republican and incumbent; Walter J. Holland, democrat; and W. W. White, socialist, in naming a county commissioner.

They must also choose between Grace Schiska, republican and incumbent; Ross Matthews, democrat; and Violet N. Adams, socialist, for county treasurer.

Also on the ballot to be voted Tuesday will be found two constitutional amendments, one act of the legislature referred to the people, and three county measures, two dealing with liquor and one with schools.

Vote On Six Measures

First of the measures is the Grange Power bill providing a set-up for the carrying out of provisions

INDIAN SAYS CASTE SYSTEM BREAKING UP

The introduction of modern ideas which are rapidly breaking up the caste system in India was praised here Sunday evening by Mohan V. Raj, Christian Indian, in addressing a large audience at the Methodist church. Raj is a graduate of the higher schools in India and also graduated from the University of Minnesota. He is now studying journalism at the University of Oregon and plans to return to his home in Bombay next summer to devote his life to uplifting his people.

Necessary contacts of youths, modern street cars, trains, theatres, and other such factors, where it is impossible to draw caste lines are breaking down this age old practice, and the breakdown will be the salvation of India, he declared.

ions of the grange power amendment passed at the previous general election. This is referred by petition.

Second, and most controversial of the measures is the initiated constitutional amendment providing for the 20-mill tax limitation on real property. The limitation is set on a graduated scale and will be brought down to 15 mills by 1940.

The third measure, also an amendment, is the Healing Arts Constitutional amendment providing for the abolishment of the present system of examination of applicants for licenses to practice healing arts, and the substitution of a system in which each of three classifications of healers will have their own examination board. It also provides the right of choice by the individual of his own doctor in cases where the worker is protected by contract insurance.

School Plan Up
In the county voters will be asked to vote yes or no, first to prohibit the sale of all alcoholic liquors; and second, to prohibit the sale of alcoholic liquors over five percent content for beverage purposes.

The third county proposition is the county school district law. This is a state law and counties are allowed to adopt and operate under it at their own pleasure. The act provides for a governing body to take over the management of the schools in the entire county outside of the first class districts.

Football Team Meets Lebanon

Game Will Be Played Friday; University High Swamps Locals On Hayward Field

Coach Marion Hall will take his high school football players to Lebanon tomorrow afternoon for what promises to be one of the most interesting games of the season. Everyone had expected the University high game Saturday to be the outstanding game, and it was, in the fact that the local players received their worst drubbing of the season when they lost by the score of 20-0.

The Springfield players were unable to get going in this game. Time after time the interference for the ball carrier would be so far ahead of the man with the ball that two or three University high men would slip in between them and break up the play.

Chetwood, as was expected, led his team mates and bore the brunt of the defense during the game. The offensive attacks were led by Claunch and Smith. Claunch was the only ball carrier who was able to gain yardage, doing so frequently without reasonable interference by his own team.

Tuhy received an injured shoulder in the game and will not be able to play tomorrow.

A short scrimmage with the second team of Eugene high school was held on Brattain field Tuesday afternoon.

MAYOR CONTEST SPURS INTEREST

Taylor, Barber and Turner Seek To Head City Affairs; Each Issues Statement

RECORDER RACE WARMS

Democrats To Rally Friday; Dry Forces Meet Sunday; Republicans Hear Dunne

The filing this week of nominating petitions for three men, W. A. Taylor, Clayton F. Barber, and E. H. Turner, as candidates for the unexpired two-year term of the late W. P. Tyson as mayor of Springfield has created a greater interest in local politics than has been evinced here for many years.

Closing date for the nomination of candidates for mayor to be elected at a special election held in conjunction with the regular state and county balloting was Wednesday noon and although others are known to have considered running, some even circulating their petitions, none of them were filed.

Will Get Two Ballots
Voters will receive a special ballot along with their regular ballot when they visit the polls to vote on the mayorality issue next Tuesday.

Other candidates contesting for office include I. M. Peterson, incumbent, Wm. G. Hughes, E. E. Kepner, and Mary Miller, all seeking to be elected recorder.

Chester Aldrich and Elsie Poilard are contesting the office of city treasurer, and John Pyle and P. J. Bartholomew are both seeking the short term of two years on the City Council. Edward Privat and Earl Thompson are unopposed candidates for the four-year term on the city council.

Previous to the death of the mayor, local interest centered principally in the campaign for City Recorder and City Treasurer. Now with the election of a new mayor it is certain that some changes in the policies of the city government can be expected and the center of interest has been focused on these men and the actions which may accompany their election.

Contest Waxen Warm

The contest for the other offices is still waging merrily on with candidates issuing public statements, many of which will be found on the back page of this paper.

Meanwhile local folk are also looking after their interests in state politics and are exhorting their followers in each of the major parties. Republicans held a dinner gathering and rally for their gubernatorial candidate, Joe E. Dunne, Congressman Mott and most of the county office seekers at Taylor hall Saturday noon.

Friday evening the Democrats will rally in the same building to hear R. R. Turner, their candidate for congressman, and most of the other office seekers of their party.
