

CORN HOG DRIVE FOR 1935 PENDS

Both Corn and Hog Reductions To Be Less in New Voluntary Contracts

The second corn-hog campaign in Oregon, to give all growers of these commodities an opportunity to sign up again for the 1935 adjustment program, will probably be under way soon after February 1, announces Frank L. Ballard, vice-director of the extension service. Start of the new program is being delayed until after one of the regional officials visits the state late in January to complete the final details.

The new contracts, which growers may sign or not, as they choose, are much more simple than the first ones, report W. L. Teutsch, assistant county agent leader, and N. C. Donaldson, AAA compliance officer, who were called to Salt Lake City to attend the western regional meeting where the program was explained in detail.

Compensation Changed

In general the new plan follows the old one, but varies as to rate of reduction and benefit compensation, and as to crop restrictions. Growers who signed the 1934 contract will use their already established base but will need to reduce their hog production only 10 per cent under that base instead of 25 per cent. The benefit payments will be $15 a head on the number represented by this 10 per cent, instead of $5 a head on the 75 per cent allowed to be produced as in 1934.

Corn acreage need be only 10 per cent under the established base though it may be cut 30 per cent, the maximum for which payment was made last year. Benefit payment will be at the rate of 35 cents a bushel instead of 30 cents. Both corn and hog benefit payments will be made in two installments instead of three.

Restrictions Removed

Restrictions are removed on what was formerly called contracted corn acreage, as are restrictions on use of other crop land or livestock. No one who has gone out of the corn or hog business since the 1935 contracts, as the ruling has been made that benefit payments will not be made where less than 25 per cent of the base in either case was produced in 1934, unless the failure was outside of the grower's control. Growers who did not sign the 1934 contracts may sign the new ones, however.

The AAA officials announce that unless some production control is continued through 1935, history would likely repeat itself and an excessive corn crop would be produced following a drought year which in turn would demoralize the hog industry where marketing conditions are now much improved.

PUBLIC OPINION AND THE BANKS

By F. N. SHEPHERD
Executive Manager American Bankers Association

While banking today appears to a wholly distorted light in the eyes of some, the more reasoning elements in our population undoubtedly have a less jaundiced view than would appear from certain irresponsible orators, often posing as spokesmen for that indefinite quantity called "the mass" of our people.

Anti-social acts on the part of some bankers formerly have been the subject of spectacular exposures, but I can say without reservation that they were in no way typical of the acts and attitudes of the vast majority of their fellow bankers. The public mind was shocked into the belief that these untypical instances were far more representative than they really were, and this belief has been encouraged by political and demagogic elements.

The bankers who are in charge of our banks today represent men who withstood the temptations and avoided the economic pitfalls of the great boom. If they had not they would not be there, or their banks would not have been able to survive the rack and ruin of the economic hurricane by which even many banks and bankers, whose conduct was above reproach, have been destroyed. The other types of bankers, those that fell below the high standards of professional ethics and business prudence that characterized those that remain, have passed out of the picture. But they have left for those that remain a difficult heritage of suspicion.

How irrational this is, when we reflect that not more than three or four per cent of our entire population suffered personal loss because of what any banker did or neglected to do, whereas literally millions of bank depositors did not lose a single cent as a result of banking difficulties and really owe a vote of confidence and thanks to their own bankers who were true to the highest conceptions of their stewardship and brought their institutions and their customers safely through the greatest business disaster the world has ever seen. It has been a peculiar feature of the psychological distortion of the times that many who owe nothing but gratitude to their bankers joined in blaming the banker far out of proportion with rational consideration of the facts.

HEART ATTACK TAKES FORMER VALLEY MAN

Charles L. Scott, former resident of the Wallowa district died suddenly Wednesday morning on the highway between Bend and Lapine, Easter Oregon. He had taken a daughter to Lapine where she was to start teaching school, and on the return trip to Bend where he was working, witnesses reported seeing the man stop his car and get out. He returned to the car and started the motor, before falling dead over the steering wheel.

Funeral arrangements are being made at the Poole chapel in Eugene. Services will be held Saturday at 2 o'clock.

The Scott family are well-known former residents of the McKenzie valley, having built a home there where they lived until recently. His widow, three daughters and one son survive.

CHURCH YOUNG FOLK UNITE IN WATCH PARTY

Methodist and Christian Societies Hosts At Very Successful Gathering Monday

One of the larger social functions for the young people of this city during the present holiday season was held Monday evening at the Christian church when members of the Epworth League of the Methodist church and of the Christian Endeavor society of the Christian church were hosts to all young people at a New Year's watch party, program and service.

Following the playing of games led by Velda Bartholomew, Elva Moyer, Irene Anderson, and Carl Horrell, the group enjoyed a program which opened with group singing of the two hymns, "In My Heart There Rings a Melody," and "Living For Jesus." Velda Bartholomew led the prayer, and Martin Clark played a trombone solo.

A short play, "The Message of the Bells," was presented with Lela Peterson as Betty, and Wayne Kendall as Bobby. Helen Crandall, Laverne Pugh, Ila Putman, Beulah Thurman, Ila Bartholomew, Hazel Nesbitt, Gwendolyn Barrett, Marjorie Taylor, Paye Parsons, Dorothy Taylor, Frances Stiles, and Mina Peterson were messengers. Quiet music, meditation and sentence prayers ended the program and watch services. Uldine Gartin directed the music, Donald Brown was pianist, and Pearl Heltterbrand was song leader.

LAMP HISTORY IS SHOWN IN EXHIBIT

General Electric Display Of Lighting Development To Be Here For Three Days

Twentyfive hundred years of progress in home lighting equipment will be exhibited by the Mountain State Power company in its local display windows at 550 Main street for three days starting next Monday, and includes two dozen types that have figured in the evolution of light from the crude fat-cup of Biblical times to the three-light electric bulb of 1934.

Valued at $6,000, the display has been gathered from all over the world by the General Electric company. It is to be displayed by all of the larger stores of the Mountain States Power company throughout this territory, and much interest in this unique exhibit is anticipated.

Dates to 600 Years B. C.

First in the group is a small cup-like affair of crude pottery, the rim of which was pinched to hold a wick. This was used 600 years before Christ. Next is another pottery lamp of which nearly the entire top is covered except for a small hole in the top, used 200 years B. C. for making light with olive and nut oils.

For 300 A. D. is shown another of similar design except that it has designs engraved around its rim.

A bronze figured lamp of the 1000 A. D. period is exhibited. This has three holes made in a sort of spout at one side. There is a decorative Venetian stand lamp of the 1400 A. D. period is exhibited. This has inches high and has a ring at the top for carrying. This has a bowl for fats or oils in the center and four taps with small holes in each for lighting.

Also Pilgrim Lamp

The "Betty" lamp such as was brought to America by the Pilgrims in 1620 is displayed. This is a metal bowl with spout on one side and a metal handle that curves from the opposite side with a chain on the end.

On down through the ages the display symbolizes the history of light. There are lamps for fat, and oils; candle sticks; gas burners; carbon burners; one of Edison's first incandescent lamps; a Chinese light; a Flemish lamp; and early lamps from many nations.

Modern Light Three-Way

The latest development in lighting progress is an interesting feature of the display, and is shown in the form of a new Mazda "three-light" lamp globe. This new globe is actually three lamps in one, as it provides three different levels of illumination by merely moving a switch. Although introduced only a short time ago this remarkable new lamp is already proving popular for domestic and commercial use throughout the nation.

MRS. BARNELL HOSTESS FOR CONTRACT PLAYERS

Members of the Kontract Bridge Club were guests of Mrs. W. K. Barnell at their regular meeting last Thursday following a one o'clock dessert. Mrs. C. E. Wheaton and Mrs. Maude Bryan were guests of the club. Mrs. John Hendrer will entertain for the group at their meeting on January 10.

PRINTING

EFFICIENT

Inexpensive

Phone 2

GOOD printing service consists of more than delivering a certain amount of ink and paper in the form ordered. Good printing consists of careful consideration as to the form in which the idea is to be presented, thoughtful selection of type faces, the right grade, weight and color of the paper, accurate composition and skillful printing. . . That is the kind of printing service you may expect from our shop. . . and it costs no more than inferior printing.

No matter what you printing job may be or in what quantities, we are confident you will find our estimate of cost most interesting, workmanship most efficient and promptness in delivery most gratifying. If you find it inconvenient to visit our office, phone and we will call. . . You are under no obligation in asking us for an estimate.
