Camelia Plant Blooming Now

Beautiful Blossoms Come Out Month Early; Few Are Grown Locally

Camelia blossoms, strange waxlike flowers which have the frail Morris were installed as the Noble appearance of artificial creations, are now blooming in Springfield. The flowers do not usually bloom until February, but this season the first ones began opening in the yard of the S. C. Wright home shortly after Christmas. Another plant of double blossoms is budded out and will bloom soon at the Harry Stewart home. Both are a delicate pink.

Few of the plants are growing in Springfield, although there are many of them in Portland, especially at the beautiul Lambert Gardens. They are also grown as far north as in England and Scotland. They are sometimes known as the English Channel rose.

The plant in the Wright yard was purchased about eight years ago and now stands about five feet in height. It had more than 200 Seventy-five, 52 members and 23 buds on it, more than 100 of which visitors from Eugene, Coburg and have yet to bloom, and is kept covered to protect the flowers from Other Rebekah officers installed the wind and rain. The plant was given a severe set-back a few years ago when Lane county experienced a severe winter, and it has never chaplain; Eunice Gerber, past had so many buds and flowers any previous year says Mr. Wright.

The plant in the Stewart yard is about two years old and has had only a few blossoms each year. Both of the plants were brought to this city rom Portland.

Some of the plants have white flowers, and there are different species of plants, with different leaf formations according to Mr. Wright. The leaves on the plants are also waxen, giving the entire cut flower an artificial appearance.

ADS. WILL TELL BANKERS' STORY

American Bankers Association President Announces Move to Stimulate Bank Newspaper Advertising

NEW YORK .- Plans for stimulating wider use of informative newspaper advertising by banks in promoting public understanding and confidence in regard to existing of the county clerk Friday. banking conditions and methods have been announced by R. S. Hecht, President of the American Bankers Association, as a part of his organization's activities in aid of recovery, day,

A general groundwork was prepared through a nationwide survey of advertising by banks relative to able loans to industry and trade. This, he said, revealed that a large number in all parts of the country are pursuing aggressive policies high school received their 1935 along this line and encouraging their customers to develop forward-looking business plans. "It is our aim to aid in fostering this constructive attitude wherever possible," he said.

The association's Advertising Department, under the direct supervision of the general executive officers, has prepared, at the headquarters in New York City, an informative advertising series for the use of member banks in the association to aid them in developing in their own Mr. Hecht said.

The Theme of New Advertising "The underlying theme of this advertising is that sound banking is based on helpful human relations and that it has a unity of interest with the people of its community which binds them together with a common purpose," he said. "We are confident that if a clear understanding of this is brought home to the people in all our banking communities, it will go far in restoring the public confidence which good banking deserves. A bank in which people deservedly believe is doubly safe. It is to the public interest for the people to have confidence in their banks.

"We feel that bank advertising has a special public duty to perform in this connection under existing conditions. The copy which will be supplied in the service we have developed will not only aid the individual bank in promoting the use of its own facilities tut is also aimed to bring about with the aid of newspaper advertising a clearer public ing. viewpoint regarding its essential place in the life of its community." to the new advertising facilities being offered to the members of the association that they are not a profit making venture and that there is no intention to disturb existing advertising arrangements, the idea being that these institutional services shall supplement rather than replace present plans, or that they will give assistance to member banks lacking satisfactory arrangements.

MANY BANKS LONG LIVED

168 Banks over 100 years old. 2,472 Banks over 50 years old. 10,391 Banks over 25 years old.

There are in the United States 168 banks that have been in continuous existence for more than one hundred years. There are 2,472 banks over fifty years old, while 64% of all the banks in this country, or 10,391, are twenty-five years old or older.

In other words, practically twothirds of the banks in this country have come through several successive periods of depression and panic, including 1907, 1914, 1920 and 1929-

The oldest bank in the country is February 17, 1784.

In commenting recently upon the stability of a great majority of the banks in the United States, Dr. Harold Stonier, Educational Director of the American Bankers Association, said:

"The fact that we have so many long period of years is an eloquent tribute to the genius of American managerial ability, for no other country has experienced such wild gambling eras and resultant periods of business stagnation as those through which our country has passed at frequent intervals during the past century."

NEW WEALTH FROM SOIL

New wealth which comes from the soil is of special interest to those to whom falls the responsibility of maintaining our credit structure.

Unless agriculture is successful farm borrowers cannot ultimately succeed, neither can the banks they serve. Foreclosure sales are not a sound basis for good farming or good banking. Bankers, therefore, are as much interested in the permanent success of the agricultural industry as are the farmers, wheth er the deposits come directly from farm patrons, or fi.directly through the ordinary channels of business .-D. H. Otis, Director of Agriculture, American Bankers Association.

NATIONAL SAVINGS MARK INCREASES

NEW YORK. - The annual sav ings compilation of the American Bankers Association for the year ending June 30, 1934, shows that for the first time since 1930 total savings in all American banks recorded an annual increase.

A statement by W. Espey Albig. Deputy Manager of the association in charge of its Savings Division. in the organization's monthly maga zine "Banking." says that savings deposited in banks as of June 30 1934, gained 3.5 per cent as compared with a year earlier.

"The aggregate is an increase over last year of $742,132,000, the first since the year which closed June 30, 1930," he says. "This is s notable achievement, for the decline since 1930 had been precipitate and all-embracing. in that year savings had reached the all-time high of $28, 478,631,000. A year ago the amoun! was $21,125,534,000, a loss in three years of $7.353,097,000. This year the figure stands at $21,867,666,000.

"Depositors, too, have gained in number, going from 39,262,442 or June 30, 1933, to 39,562,174 on June 30 this year, a gain of 299,732. Four years ago there were 52,729,432 de positors, or one depositor for each 2.3 persons in the country. Now there is one account for each 3.2 persons."
