U. O. COMMENCEMENT

EVENTS ARE PLANNED

Commencement exercises for the fifty-eighth graduating class of the University of Oregon will be held June 15, 16, and 17, with Oswald Garrison Villard, noted liberal editor and son of one of the university's early benefactors scheduled to deliver the address to the departing graduates and their relatives and friends.

The Rev. R. C. Brooks, head of the department of religion at Pomona college, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon Sunday at 11 o'clock in McArthur court. He will speak on "The Challenge of the Present World Situation." He is regarded as one of the leading educators and religious workers on the coast, and is highly regarded as an orator.

"Youth and the Republic" has been chosen by Mr. Villard as his topic for the commencement address, to be given at 11 o'clock Monday in McArthur court. Selection of Mr. Villard as speaker this year is regarded as particularly fitting, since it was just 50 years ago that the cornerstone of Villard Hall, made possible by the gift of his father, Henry Villard, was laid.

POLING URGES FAITH IN AMERICA, EDUCATION

Education was pointed to as a basic and permanent cure for unemployment in the United States by Dr. Daniel A. Poling, noted author, lecturer and radio figure of New York, in a commencement address to 377 members of the OSC graduating class June 3. He declared that "education is a cure that comprehends not merely a symptom of a national disease but that goes to the very root of industrial, of social, of cultural and of moral causes."

"If as a national policy the average age for leaving school were raised to 17, then 2,145,959 young workers would be removed from productive employment, and 652,753 people would be removed from the unemployed and the unattending school group," Dr. Poling stated. "Completion of high school would remove 4,433,022 from the army of the unemployed, while completion of junior college would increase this number to 8,157,638."

The speaker continued to show the additional effect on unemployment through increased teaching staffs, and greater demand for clothing, books, supplies and equipment.

U. OF O. TAKES MINOR SPORTS TITLES IN N. W.

Northern division conference titles in golf, tennis and swimming were added to the long list of University of Oregon athletic achievements this spring as the last phase of the 1934-35 program drew to a close.

Tom Stoddard's varsity golf team annexed conference honors by shooting a low aggregate score of 666 to lead the field by 32 strokes in the first annual tournament held since 1931 last week-end here at Eugene. Leonard Anderson, one-year letterman, took individual honors with a low score of 146 for the 36-hole test over the Eugene Country club course.

The Webfoot doubles team of Tom Mountain, senior, and John Economus, sophomore ace, won the northern division doubles crown last Saturday at Pullman, Wash. The team title went to the University of Washington with 11 points, Oregon was close behind with eight counts.

Oregon's powerful swimming team had an easy time taking northwest honors by winning every first place in the conference meet held early this spring at Seattle.

Only one tennis player and one swimmer will be lost the three teams next year, Tom Mountain, No. 1 tennis star, and Wally Hug, Salem, sprint ace on the swimming squad, are the graduating seniors.

VACATIONISTS WARNED OF SPOTTED FEVER TICK

A warning against spotted fever ticks, which already this year have taken the lives of three persons, has been sounded by the Oregon State Motor association for the benefit of all motorists traveling through eastern Oregon.

Although two persons died in Harney county and one in Baker county, the motor association has learned through H. H. Stage, associate entomologist for the United States government, that danger of the disease exists almost any place east of the Cascade mountains.

LUMBER PRODUCTION AT LOW EBB IN COAST MILLS

Seattle, Wash., June 6—A total of 519 down and operating mills in Oregon and Washington which reported to the West Coast Lumbermen's association for the week ending May 25, produced 22,917,476 board feet of lumber. This was approximately 2,700,000 feet under the preceding week. The average weekly production of this group of sawmills in 1935 has been 78,493,534 feet; during the same period in 1934 their weekly average was 85,676,970 feet.

The new business reported last week by 519 mills was 50,028,657 board feet against a production of 22,917,476 feet and shipments of 33,851,325 feet. Their shipments were over production by 47.7 per cent and their current sales were over production by 118.3 per cent.

The orders booked last week by this group of identical mills under the total in the preceding week by about 5,000,000 feet or approximately 9.3 percent.

HOW TO KEEP BERRIES FROM SHRINKING TOLD

Soaking Strawberries Overnight With Sugar Prevents Them Floating in Jars

Strawberry canning time is at hand again in Oregon, and as many homemakers make plans to "put up" berries for the coming year one of the questions most often asked is how to keep them from shrinking and rising to the top of the jar.

The answer to this, says Miss Lucy Case, extension specialist in nutrition at Oregon State college, is to place the hulled, washed berries in a preserving kettle or other container alternating a layer of berries with a layer of sugar, and let them stand overnight or about 12 hours. She recommends one-third to one-half cup of sugar for each box of berries. By this process the berries are plumped, losing part of their juice and absorbing part of the sugar.

Three Methods Used in Canning

Next morning the homemaker may can the berries by any of several methods the three most commonly used being the hot water bath, the pressure cooker, and the open kettle.

By the hot water method the berries are brought to a boil in their own juice and packed hot into hot, sterilized jars, to within one-half inch of the top. The jars are sealed immediately and lowered into boiling water which should come one inch over the top of the jars. The jars should rest on a rack one-half inch from the bottom of the boiler. Remove the jars after they have boiled 10 minutes. Re-tighten the seal of screw top jars, and cool away from a draft.

In using the pressure cooker the berries are brought to a boil and packed hot into the jars as just described, and then sealed and placed in the pressure cooker, in which the water should be one-half inch over the rack and boiling. Process at five pounds pressure for five minutes.

Firm Texture Berries Best

By the open kettle method the berries are boiled five to 10 minutes in the kettle and packed to the top of jars which have previously been sterilized by boiling, and sealed. When using this method, everything that comes in contact with the fruit should previously have been boiled 10 minutes, including jars, cup, lids and rubbers.

Strawberries of firm texture, such as the Etterburg 121, Corvallis and Narcissa varieties are best for canning, Miss Case says.

STATE GRANGERS PLAN MIXER AT ANNUAL MEET

Members of the home economics extension staff of Oregon State college have accepted an invitation from Ray W. Gill, state grange master, to provide the entertainment for the annual "Monday night mixer," to be held at McMinnville June 10, preceding the opening of the state grange convention there June 11.

The program is to be held out-of-doors. Miss Gertrude Skow, recreation specialist, will direct the games, songs, relays and other entertainment from a central stage, with a four-way loud speaker system carrying to four groups of grangers. Each of the four groups will be assisted in the different numbers by home demonstration agents or members of county rural recreation units which receive recreational training each month under the guidance of the home economics extension staff.

Return from Idaho—Irene and Bath Opie returned Saturday from Boise, Idaho, where they had been called to attend the funeral of an uncle. They were accompanied by Robert McLagan.

Tonsils Removed — Constance Goodale, six year old daughter of Mrs. E. C. Goodale, underwent an operation for removal of her tonsils Monday at the office of a local physician.

DRY WEATHER TO ENDANGER FOREST

Driest May Since 1890 and Light Spring Vegetation Alarms Forest Men

The driest month of May since 1890 and the driest May with one possible exception since 1875, has created a forest fire situation which every vacationist should bear in mind as he starts his recreation trip during June, according to the forest service. "Added to the unusually dry condition of the forest," say forest officials, "spring vegetation, ordinarily serving as a valuable fire check at this time of year, has been delayed, owing to the cold earlier months, and the result is a fire hazard extraordinarily acute for this season."

Forest service records through May 20th showed a total of 27 fires in the 20 national forests of Oregon and Washington. Twelve of these fires were caused by careless smokers; 10 by debris burning; 5 from camp fires; 3 from lightning and 3 from lumbering operations. Largest acreage burned has been in Oregon, the Siuslaw national forest topping the list with a total of 7 fires and 285 acres.

Lane Forests Already Hit

The Willamette national forest suffered next acre loss with 184 acres, and the Deschutes national forest has had 153 acres burned over. In Washington the largest acreage burned has been on the Colville national forest in Ferry county, while the Olympic national forest has had the largest number of fires.

These figures point to the importance of extreme caution on the part of the public with cigarette and campfires, it is said. Recreationists are reminded that no campfire should be left until the last spark is out. "No smoking while traveling on forest, brush, or grassland" is held a valuable rule for this fire season. Carelessness with matches and cigarettes is a prolific source of fire damage each year, it is pointed out.

Protection Means More Jobs

With the realization that a large part of the population is directly and indirectly dependent for a livelihood upon the future forests of this region, an increasing group of citizens in all walks of life is awakening to the importance of cutting down the appalling annual fire losses, it is stated. This increased interest applies to logged off land as well as merchantable timber, since people are seeing that cut over land must soon be dependent upon for new crops to sustain the timber industry when virgin stands are exhausted.

WESTFIR MAN DIES AT HOSPITAL IN EUGENE

John A. Oxby, 60, resident of Westfir, died at the Pacific hospital in Eugene last Thursday. He was born December 16, 1874 in Michigan and had been a resident of Westfir for 10 years.

Survivors include five sisters, Mrs. W. E. Johnson, Oklahoma; Mrs. F. D. Fye, Mrs. Sarah Thompson, and Mrs. C. M. Bronson, all of Michigan, and Miss Hilda Oxby, Wisconsin; and one brother, Robert Oxby.

The body was shipped to Elk Rapids, Wisconsin for interment by Branstetter-Simon chapel in Eugene.
