

GILL OUTLINES GRANGE PROGRAM

Lane County Well Represented At State Convention Being Held At Lebanon

Organization of twenty-five new granges and one Pomona grange in Oregon during the past year was reported by Ray W. Gill, state master, in his annual address at the state convention being held at Lebanon. The grange has a membership of approximately 21,000 in the state.

Gill, in his address, reiterated his advocacy of a one-house legislature with at least 40 members each receiving at least $7.50 per day during the sessions.

Backs General Pension

Speaking of pensions and taxation, Mr. Gill said, "Old age pensions cannot be applied on a needy basis, but must be general in scope." Regarding the financing of the pensions, he said, "Income taxes, inheritance taxes, gift taxes, and corporation taxes should be employed to maintain these functions by graduating the brackets upwards in accordance with the size of the income. The taxes can be so established as to maintain a continual flow of funds through all the channels of business, thereby stimulating prosperity. Large corporations and monopolies would become decentralized and small business encouraged instead of being crowded out as so often occurs under present conditions."

Lane County Represented

Lane county is well represented at the sessions. Elmo B. Chase, master of the Lane County Pomona grange, is chairman of the Committee for Good of the Order; C. A. Schoelling, master of Junction City grange, is a member of the important Division of Labor Committee; Ash Bailey, master of Franklin grange, is assigned to the Credentials and Mileage committee.

Fred Petzold, master of Central grange, is working on the Committee on Legislation; Glenn Scott, master of Ada grange, is a member of the Banking and Credits Committee; Henry Hagerman, master of Main River grange at Cushman, is assigned to the Committee on Athletics and Summer Activities; H. A. Mitchell, master of Loraine grange is a member of the Committee on Temperance, as is likewise Thomas Q. Green, master of West Point grange.

A. W. Haring, master of North Fork grange at Florence is working with the Committee on Juvenile Grange and Youth Movements. Others from Lane county holding committee assignments are: Lee V. Smith, master of Dorena grange, also on the Youth and Juvenile committee; Virgie Parker, master of Triangle grange at Blachly, Dormant Granges; Perry H. Keeler, master of Elmira grange, on Grange Bulletin committee.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Harlow, the former county deputy for the grange are also here at Lebanon. Mrs. Harlow once served as chairman of the Home Economics committee of the state grange. Mrs. Harve Cox of Eugene, a member of the State Grange Home Economics committee, is also here at Lebanon.

CARNIVAL ACTS THRILL VISITORS

An entirely new show built around two death-defying free acts is the Hildebrand's United Shows carnival now showing at the west end of Second street in Eugene.

The carnival company travels with 22 large trucks and trailers. It is well conducted, clean, and wholesome entertainment according to those who have seen the performances. It uses as its slogan "The World's Best Show."

Entirely new in carnival entertainment to be brought to people of this community is the idea of two spectacular acts which are presented free to everyone who pays the small gate fee and is admitted to the grounds.

Two Acts Are Free
Headlining these acts is the "3 Jack" performance of an aerialist high trapeze artist atop a 150 foot rigging where he performs without benefit of a net.

Also featured on the free-act program is the high diving performance of Captain Charles Soderberg, who dives into a shallow tank of water from a pole 120 feet in the air. These artists joined the Hildebrand show after playing at the World's Fair in Chicago.

Then there is the premier lady motorcyclist, Lillian LaFrance, America's foremost lady rider driving a four wheel auto at 60 miles per hour on a perpendicular wall of death.

The carnival offers seven rides and many shows and concessions. Overflow crowds had to be turned away Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

A special 5-cent matinee for children will be held Saturday afternoon.

Parents of Son—Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Slater, route 2, Springfield, are the parents of a son born to them at the Lillian Van Darwark home in Eugene on Tuesday, June 9, 1936.

Current Events in Review

Municipal Bankruptcy Act Held Invalid

FIVE justices of the United States Supreme court held invalid the municipal bankruptcy act of 1934, declaring it to be an unwarranted invasion of state sovereignty. Four justices dissented, these being Chief Justice Hughes and Justices Stone, Brandeis and Cardozo. The majority opinion was written by Justice James C. McReynolds. The case was brought by bondholders of a water improvement district in Texas.

The municipal bankruptcy act was designed to permit cities and other political subdivisions which found themselves in financial straits to effect a composition, with the approval of two-thirds of the bondholders or other creditors, whereby the indebtedness could be readjusted, scaled down, or, as Mr. Justice McReynolds put it, "repudiated."

Frank Lowden May Be Republican Nominee

FRANK O. LOWDEN of Illinois will be the choice of the Republican convention for President if he will accept the nomination.

That was the confident prediction of a political observer who is usually well informed and close to sources of national party news. He declared there was a steadily growing demand from many parts of the Union for the nomination of the former governor of Illinois, who always has been popular with farmers and whose qualities of statesmanship are recognized generally throughout the country. Mr. Lowden is vigorous and hale, and he is always actively interested in the welfare of his state and nation, especially in the problems of the agriculturalist.

Norman Thomas Nominated by the Socialists

FOR the third time Norman Thomas is the Presidential nominee of the Socialist party. He was selected at the national convention in Cleveland, Ohio, and George Nelson of Wisconsin was put in second place on the ticket. There was a great demonstration after the vote, but it was not joined in by the right wing leaders from several eastern states who were angered by the seating of a leftist delegation from New York. The disaffected ones threatened to form another party. The convention finally turned down a proposal from Earl Browder, general secretary of the Communist party, for a "united front" in the 1936 campaign.

Landon Has Large Block of Delegates

GOV. ALF LONDON captured nearly all the New Jersey delegates to the national convention, defeating Senator Borah about 4 to 1 in the popular vote. This victory gave the Kansan a total of more than 200 votes to start with at Cleveland, and his manager, John Hamilton, claimed he would have at least 300 of the 501 votes necessary to nominate and would win on the second or third ballot.

James A. Farley, postmaster general and also Democratic national chairman, told the Michigan Democratic convention he believed the Republican Presidential nominee will be "the governor of a typical prairie state" and that his election, if he won, would be a "perilous experiment." Farley criticized the man he did not name as devoid of experience in national affairs, and predicted that if he is the Republican standard bearer "even Kansas" will not be in the Roosevelt doubtful column.

Plan to Continue Rail Co-Ordinator's Office

THE office of transportation coordinator, held by Joseph B. Eastman, is due to expire on June 16, but Senator Wheeler of Montana has ready for introduction a resolution extending it for two years, and President Roosevelt was on record as approving some of its activities.

It was reported in Washington that railway management and labor, both of which have opposed some of Eastman's doings in the past, might unite in an effort to block extension of the office, but Eastman said he had heard "nothing substantial" on that line.

Eastman announced last February he would exercise his powers to compel railroads in 11 cities to carry out terminal unifications as economy and efficiency moves. He withheld the orders at the suggestion of President Roosevelt.

Bonus Baby Bonds Will Be Mailed June 15

ON JUNE 15 the bonus baby bonds will be mailed to 45,000 post offices from Washington and from the eleven federal reserve centers. Final plans for delivering the bonds to the veterans were announced by postmaster General Farley, who predicted that payment on a great majority of them would be made within one week.

Mall carriers have been given instructions to "go out of their way wherever necessary with a view to effecting delivery," Farley said. The bond packets must be delivered to the veteran in person, and not to another person or firm at the veteran's address.

"If it is impossible to locate the veteran to whom the bonds are addressed," Farley continued, "they will be held for 30 days at the post office of destination before being returned to the respective federal centers and thence to the Treasury department."

The bonds will be in $50 denominations with accompanying checks to cover the odd amounts. To collect cash, the veteran must have his bonds certified through his local post office.

Post offices in 241 cities have been designated as paying centers for their districts, and 59 large city offices have been empowered to pay on bonds issued outside their own districts.

Leon Blum Is the Idol of the French Reds

LEON BLUM, elderly and rather fragile leader of the French Socialists, will soon be premier of his country, and he is going to have a hard time living up to the expectations of all the leftists, who are making a national hero of him. The other day hundreds of thousands of French reds and pinks marched behind Blum or stood cheering on the sidelines, and pictures of the leader were carried in the ranks or sold by hawkers in the crowds. This was on the occasion of the traditional memorial ceremony in Pere Lachaise cemetery for the Marxist martyrs of the Paris Commune in 1871.

M. Blum is said to be watching closely his publicity in the United States since his speech in which he intimated a desire to agree with Washington on the elimination of war debt discussions. He is hoping to be able to obtain loans from New York bankers. The Johnson law is naturally an insurmountable obstacle to France's obtaining any kind of credit in America, but as the Paris Midi pointed out Blum went out of his way to declare that France has not forgotten the war debt and fully expects to bring it up for discussion some time in the future.

Socialists Gain Control of Belgian Parliament

SOCIALISTS of Belgium, like those of France, won a considerable victory in the parliamentary elections, holding a larger number of seats than any other group. Emile Vandervelde, their seventy-year-old leader, was thus in position to succeed Paul Van Zeeland as premier.

The new party of Rexist, whose political emblem is a cardboard broom, symbolizing determination to "sweep banksters and politico-financiers out of office," recorded sensational successes, winning 21 seats, mainly at the expense of conservative Catholics.

Official standings, subject possibly to slight revision, gave: Socialists, 70; Catholics, 63; Liberals, 23; Rexist, 21; Flemish Nationals, 16; Communists, 9.

Russia Will Maintain Big Far Eastern Fleet

CONVERSATIONS between Great Britain and Russia now going on in London will have to do only with naval armaments in European waters, for the Soviet government has announced that it cannot consider limitation of its far eastern fleet while there is no similar agreement binding Japan.

Speaking for the government, Karl Radek said in the newspaper Izvestia that the Soviet union has been striving to conclude a separate agreement with Japan, but thus far the efforts have been fruitless. Throwing the blame on the shoulders of Japan, the statement said the situation was a "direct result of the fact Tokyo broke the Washington agreement and abandoned the London conference."
