PERSONAL MENTION.

Spectacles 10c a pair at Peery & Peery's.

Mr. Jefferson Myers, of Salem, came up Wednesday.

Ben Cleland, of Albany, was in this city Tuesday.

S. M. Daniel went to Portland Wednesday on business.

L. W. Pomeroy & Son have hailed 200 tons of straw this fall. Quite a run.

Eve Bilyeu and family, of Portland, are visiting relatives and friends in this city.

Lee Bilyeu has rented the Kindsor farm and will soon be back near his old stamping grounds.

Mr. Holden of Salem was up Wednesday looking after the hop crop of this vicinity.

Herbert Simpson and his mother, of Spicer, contemplate moving to Scio in the near future.

Tuesday Oct. 12, 1897, was the 25th anniversary of the wedding of T. L. Dugger and wife.

Frank Morris received his furniture the first of the week, and will soon begin housekeeping on Mill street.

Ed Catterlin who has been buying cattle over on Tillamook, has returned home. While gone he bought 121 head of calves.

Mrs. Al Guyer, of Portland, who has been visiting Mr. Zan Guyer and family, near Larwood, returned home Tuesday.

Beecher Higgins who has been living at Shelburn while building the new School house there, moved back to Scio this week.

Misses Eda and Kate Carey went to Salem last Thursday where they will reside this winter. Eda to teach in the public schools, and Kate to study music.

The Scio Planing Mills have fitted up their building with electric lights which adds much to their convenience and to the looks of things in general.

We hear of a dialogue down at Shelburn, in which Gib Miller and John Fitzgerald acted their parts to perfection and in dead earnest. We did not learn the particulars.

There will be a basket sociable given at Houston's Hall, Sat. evening, under the auspices of the Y. P. C. E. Everybody invited.

This is the last issue we send to the subscription list of the PRESS. Those wishing to continue the new paper will kindly let us know by postal or otherwise.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Ad Harmon, an old time saloon keeper of Scio, died at Roseburg recently.

The Linn county side of the Stayton bridge is now all right for travel. W. H. Roberts fixed it last Monday.

One day last week J. C. Wilkins, a farmer living 11 miles beyond Lebanon came to Scio for a load of flour. Another man came from Lebanon for a load of flour the same day.

Last week at Salem a stranger made an attempt to pick Uncle Tom Allison's pocket. Had he succeeded it would have been worth something to him as the pocket contained $200 at the time.

Frank Gill and W. A. Ewing went down to Portland Tuesday. Frank went to attend the Grand Lodge K. of P. Al intends going down the Columbia for a short stay.

Senator A. J. Johnson, of Scio, has been elected as one of the trustees of the Oregon state fair in place of Mr. M. Wilkins, who served in that capacity for so many years.

There will be a show given at the City hall to-night, Prof. Troxel will give a free slack wire exhibition before the show proper opens. Doors open at 7:30. Admission 25 cents, Children 15 cents.

While out hunting last Wednesday evening in the river bottom below Shelburn, Tommy Smallman met a black bear face to face. Tommy fired at the bear and then skipped for home. Bear seem to be more plentiful this year than common, quite a number having been seen in this section.

School will commence next Monday at Shelburn with Will Miller as principal and Nellie Jester in the primary department. If Will wields the birch as he did the willow at Salem when Scio-Jefferson played the Indians, he'll need no coaching along that line.

Miss Bertie Cary, of Independence, who has been visiting relatives here, received a telegram from Charley Cary saying that he was very ill. She returned home but found Charley so much improved that she came back with Mrs. Sutherland who drove down with her.

The livery stable has made another change in business. This time Mr. John Cyrus, recently of Albany, buys a half interest, Riley Calavan and Uncle Alf Shelton retiring. We understand Mr. Cyrus traded his farm Southeast of Scio for his part. Riley Calavan will probably move onto the farm formerly owned by Mr. Cyrus, while Uncle Alf may go back to the old farm in Jordan.

Mr. T. J. Munkers has a field of fall wheat which promises a fine crop for next harvest. It was sown about the first of September and now the average height is from fourteen to fifteen inches. Surely our Santiam country is one of the richest spots in the glorious Willamette Valley. Where else could you get a growth of fifteen inches of wheat one month from the time it was sown?

On Sunday of last week a very pleasant family reunion was held at the home of Ben McDonald in this city. A dinner also was given in honor of Grandma McDonald who is now in her 74th year. Those present were: Grandma McDonald Alex, Ben, and Will McDonald together with their families, Mrs. McKnight and family, David Myers and family, Ed Miller and wife, Ed Jones and family.

As Bill Brenner was coming toward home last Wednesday, driving a bunch of cattle, he was overtaken while on Albany prairie by a stray cow. He chased the cow back up the lane several times, trying to get rid of her, but all to no purpose. Meeting a young fellow on the road, Bill mentioned the bother the cow was to him. The man said he owned the cow but guessed he would be compelled to sell her, for the reason he could not keep her at home. A trade was made, the man evidently knowing the cow from the description and disposition he gave. Brenner bought the cow and brought her home. On last Saturday, during Brenner's absence, a man claiming to be the owner, came and took the cow away. Bill says he thinks he can locate the gentleman who sold him the cow, and if he does, well, next week we will have a good item.

At the dance given Wednesday night by W. H. Wickham, in celebration of his daughter's marriage, some of the young men tried to turn the dance into a genuine Irish jubilee. Just as the dance was progressing finely and everybody was enjoying themselves, the groom and another dancer got mixed up in a fight, and when Mrs. Wickham attempted to separate the combatants, some unprincipled vagabond hit her a blow on the jaw. Mr. Wickham got the shot gun down but found it was not loaded, and so could do nothing to stop the row. When everybody fought as long as they wanted to, the dance broke up. In the morning Mr. Wickham found the miscreants had killed a number of his chickens besides tearing down fences and gates. Altogether it was a howling success.

Confidence Not Fully Restored

Confidence has not been fully restored among the farmers living in the Forks of the Santiam as the following will show: Last week, as mentioned elsewhere in this paper Bill Brenner brought a cow home that he did not keep, a farmer from Albany prairie claiming the same, and making his claim good by taking her home with him, leaving Brenner to explain the matter as best he could.

Our Butcher it seems also made some kind of a mistake this week in selecting an animal intended for the block. He claims he roped a beef thinking it was his own, and started to get it out of the pasture to the road, when the blamed thing sulled and laid down. While trying to get it on its legs again, the man came along who owned the "critter," and made him turn it loose.

And last but not least, J N Morris was asked how many sheep he had in a certain pasture. Joe did not know. The man thought that strange, which was natural. To make the thing plain, the farmer in question is minus 25 sheep. Joe's sheep range is near by, the circumstances surrounding the matter points to one thing. Well, we think if given a little more time Joe can explain the thing away.

All of the men in questions think the farmers in this section have not the confidence in human nature they had a few years ago.

Some Klondike.

Through the courtesy of Mr. T. J. Munkers we reprint part of a letter from his brother-in-law Mr. Con McNamer who started for Klondike last August. Those here who know Connie are sure that if pluck, endurance and integrity will win in Klondike as elsewhere, Connie will surely not come out empty handed:

We are far ahead of any one else who came up on the Elder and is doing his own packing. Will spend about $3-0 this week, so that we can get started earlier. Men are making $15 to $25 a day here packing. There were five men drowned here since we arrived and one shot for stealing. We have more provisions than any other six on the trail. We were offered $750 for the four mules two weeks after we landed but could not spare them. We have one boat done and the other will be done by the 16th so the 18th we sail if we have no bad luck. It has not froze any to speak of yet but there has been a drizzling rain most of the time. Flour is selling at $25 a sack and bacon at 60 cents per pound. Eighteen sheep came in yesterday and I got $56 for killing them. During the storm on Lake Linderman 2 boats were wrecked and three lives lost. One fellow came to camp Sunday with 80 pounds of gold. He had just come up from the Yukon. I may not be able to get a letter out again before spring.

A Fatal Burn.

At Medford last Friday, while getting breakfast Mrs. J. L. Wigle had her clothes catch on fire, and she rushed from the house in flames. A son attempted to put them out, but not until she was seriously burned. The injuries were so severe as to cause her death, from which she died Friday night. The remains were brought to Harrisburg, from which place she had recently moved, for burial. The deceased leaves a husband and four children. She was an old resident of Linn count, and was highly respected.—Albany Democrat. Before moving to Medford this family lost their residence by fire, and only a short time before that, lost another building the same way, and now this terrible lose. It seems as if the family was haunted by some evil fire fiend.

Indians Fight.

A murderous row took place Sunday night, on the Grand Ronde reservation, in which about 20 Indians took part.

It is reported that the Indians broke into a house and seized a barrel of hard cider, and went in for a "hiyu skookum" time. It is supposed that they had something stronger than cider at the outset, but it is not known for a certainty. During the night a general fight took place, in which clubs and axe were freely used.

Jessie Wheeler was struck on the head with a hatchet, and was rendered insensible for hours.

Jim Young was struck in the face by Joe Dowd, and died in less than 30 minutes.

A number of others were more or less injured.—Oregonian.

The Sunset Telepeone Co., are expecting to connect Portland and San Francisco by telephone before New Years 1898. Only about 400 miles yet to build.

NOSKER—WICKHAM—On Oct. 13, 1897, Geary Nosker to Miss Emma Wickham. Both of Shelburn.

Died.

CHARLTON—At Cedalia Washington, Sunday September 26, 1897, Madison S. Charlton.

The deceased was a brother of Mrs. M. E. Cyrus of this city, and at one time resided here. His death was the result of an attack of La Grippe contracted in April. He leaves a wife and four daughters, Mrs. James Trumble of Lord's Valley, Mrs. James Pershall of Mondavi, Mrs. Elmer King of Wilbur and little Ruth Charlton, to mourn his loss. Two little boys awaited him on the brighter shore.

He was a loving husband, a kind father and a good neighbor, loved and trusted by all who knew him.

A few weeks ago the editor was taken with a very severe cold that caused him to be in a most miserable condition. It was undoubtedly a bad case of la grippe, and recognizing it as dangerous he took immediate steps to bring about a speedy cure. From the advertisement of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and the many good recommendations contained therin, we concluded to make a first trial of the medicine. To say that it was satisfactory in its results, is putting it very mildly, indeed. It acted like magic and the result was a speedy cure. We have no hesitancy in recommending this excellent Cough Remedy to anyone afflicted with a cough or cold in any form.—The banner of Liberty, Libertytown, Maryland.
