THE FARMER'S PESTS.

"I'm ready to go," said a plump young bug, as he kicked the earth where he'd been a slug. "I'm tired to death of Paris' green which covers all that's to be seen; It smarts my stomach, and hurts my head; My brothers, one and all are dead." "I chose my home," said the cabbage worm, "Deep in the young plant's tender germ. Alas! the farmer has found me out, With powder and poison he put me to rout, And now I'm a homeless wanderer Exiled from house and provender." "On the Orchard bough I pitched my tent, Where the twigs by the passing winds are bent. But the farmer came with his flaming torch, Driving me out to escape a scorch." Said caterpillar, "my silver tent With a mass of flames and smoke was bent." Said the hen house mite, "I'm very small, I thought he'd never see me at all, But 'twas not long till kerosene Came pouring in; I think its mean To pester us lice with pyrethrum, And the end of it is yet to come." "Who has never heard of hellebore," Cried the curd worm, with a voice that had the heart of the soft rose slug. Who exclaimed, "aye, aye; 'tis a dreadful drug! It gives convulsions and makes us squirm In a way that's repulsive to every worm." Then out spoke the weevil in angry turn, "I'd like to know when the end's to come? Bisulphide of carbon is death to me, The farmer knows it, and I must flee, Who will go with me? We'll emigrate. Whoever remains deserves his fate." —Selected.

There are 33,000 Spanish soldiers in the hospitals in Cuba. Salem is to have another weekly news paper called the Sentinel. It will appear about Dec. 1. The wages of 2000 iron and steel employes have been advanced 10 per cent. This is good news indeed, and goes to show that business is surely reviving. Prosperity is what we need, and should be acceptable from any direction.

Colonel G. B. Gerald, who was wounded and who killed the Harris brothers, was exonerated by a Texas jury. Harris, who was an editor, and his brother, both took shots, in front and in rear, at Gerald, who is an ex judge; he wheeled and polished both the gentlemen off, in true dime novel style. He ought to carry bisoucity by an overwhelming majority now, on any ticket.

The theosophists of San Francisco are taking a very active interest in the fate of Durrant. It is a tenet of their faith that capital punishment is wrong, and they are getting up a long windy petition praying Governor Budd not to hang the brute, but to commute the sentence to life imprisonment, which means that somebody will die in California later on, after confessing to the murder, with his last breath, and Durrant will go free. If Durrant is guilty, surely California people know it. Either hang him or turn him loose, the monkey-business has gone far enough.

Mr. Gorman of Maryland has been in the United States Senate for eighteen years, at a salary of $5000 a year. He was without estate when he assumed the Senatorial dignity, and is now reputed to be worth $3,000,000. A man who can save $3,000,000 out of an aggregate income in eighteen years of $90,000 is no slouch of a financier, and can be trusted to keep out of the porchouse after his working days are over.—Salt Lake Tribune.

Over a cocoon brown they fought, A dozen big monkeys or more; And the near-sighted college boy asked in surprise, "In Africa too? What's the score?" —Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS.

Scrub rams should be promptly disposed of, and not allowed to mingle with the other sheep. By weeding out the ewes and procuring crosses from suitable pure bred rams the flock will not only hold its own, but continually improve.

The best and safest way to kill worms in young pigs, says Prof. McIntosh, in Swineherd, is to give from a dessertspoonful to a table-spoonful of fluid extract of spigelia, according to age. This medicine must be repeated every four hours until it purges.

When the knack of poultry raising is once gained there is no more trouble connected with the business than there is in raising hogs. It is not a business that can be conducted without experience, but it is one that pays better for the money invested than anything else in the way of breeding.

One of the greatest mistakes the western dairy farmers have been making for several weeks, is not feeding their cows better, and by every means in their power preventing a shrinkage of milk. Under no circumstances should cows, with butter at present prices, be allowed to fall off in milk if it can be prevented. A pound of cut green bone is said to be enough for sixteen hens one day, which means, says the Farm Poultry, that one cent will pay for the bone for this number of fowls. If one quart of grain is fed to sixteen hens in the evening and the one pound of cut bone in the morning, it is a good day's ration in winter. In summer the grain ration may be reduced one half. Such a ration furnishes all the elements for keeping up the heat of the body and the manufacture of the eggs. The bone is food, grit, and lime, all in a lump, and is greatly relished by the fowls.

A farmer writing to Hoard's Dairyman says, "I started my foundation for a round silo, which I built 30 feet in diameter on the inside, and 34 feet high. From September '95 to September '97, I fed from 60 to 70 head of stock, and had about four feet of ensilage left in the bottom of my silo when I started filling it." Get into that some of you farmers who are feeding cattle. We know of a number of farmers in this vicinity who would save enough the first year with silo to pay the entire cost of one.

The big, fat, sowsy consignment of hogs is the irritating feature of the market just now; the breeder and farmer, also the country shipper, look upon the same as the best they can raise, but the packer, the butcher and shipper pass them by and say no when asked to look at them. Just now the trade wants the medium weights, that is, "loin" sorts light weight meat, and the exporters of bacon, also the special pickers and exporters of bacon, cannot use the big, heavy, sowsy sorts, and just why farmers will not breed what is wanted by the trade is somewhat of a mystery.

As stock are turned on fresh grass whether of first or second growth, there is danger of some eating so rapidly that they do not digest their food properly. The result is, too much gas accumulates in the stomach, and is apt to produce bloat or colic. To neutralize or counteract this gas, I have many times given salt or soda, says C. H. Mitchell, in Rural World, and in almost every instance we have effected a cure in a few hours. If relief is not obtained in a short time, a little more can be given. I give it by taking some in hand and putting it into the mouth of the animal. Have used this remedy very successfully with sheep that had eaten too much.

A Tennessee farmer told a "Journal" representative that a Tennessee neighbor commenced killing several hundred hogs when the weather became so warm and moist that it seemed certain the meat would spoil. To preserve it he adopted a plan learned from Indians at an early day. As soon as the meat was cut up it was placed in boiling water and kept there until heated in the marrow, then taken out and salted. It took salt better than when treated in the ordinary way, none of the meat spoiled and all of it was sweeter and better flavored than meat cured by the usual process.—Texas Stock and Farm Journal.

The Southern Pacific will run their engines with petroleum, and have ordered it from the wells of Southern California. They have a tank at Los Angeles which will hold 200,000 gallons, and at Idaho a 50,000 gallon tank. At Yuma and Sumnerland tanks will be placed also.

EMBOSSED IN GOLD.

To buy and reproduce famous paintings involves an expenditure that could hardly be borne unless, as in the case of The Youth's Companion, the enterprise is sustained by the approval of more than five hundred thousand subscribers. The Companion's Souvenir Calendar for 1898, a series of charming figure-pieces, faithfully copied in colors and embossed in gold, is recognized as one of the richest and most costly examples of this form of art. Yet every new subscriber receives it without additional charges.

Moreover, the paper is sent free to new subscribers every week from the time the subscription is received until January, 1898, and then for a full year to January, 1899. The popular price of The Companion, $1.75 a year, and the character of its contents, make it a paper for every household. Exceptional attractions are promised for the fifty-two numbers to be issued during 1898. The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, the Hon. Thomas B. Reed, Rudyard Kipling, Lillian Nordica, John Burroughs, W. D. Howells, and Max O'Rell are prominent in the long list of eminent contributors named in The Companion's announcement, which will be sent free to any one addressing

THE HICKS 1898 ALMANAC AND PAPER.

We are informed that the 1898 Almanac of Prof. I. H. Hicks is now ready, and judging from its past history, it will not be many weeks in finding its way into homes and offices all over America. It is much larger and finer than any previous issue. It contains 116 pages, is splendidly printed and illustrated on fine book paper, having the finest portrait ever given of Prof. Hicks. It can no longer be denied that the publication of Prof. Hicks has become a necessity to the family and commercial life of this country. His journal, "Word and Work," aside from its own, weather and astronomical features, has taken rank with the best literary, scientific and family magazines of the age. Do not believe hearsay and reports. See the Hicks Almanac and paper for yourself. You will then know why they are so popular. They are educators of the millions, and unrivaled safeguards to property and human life. It is a matter of simple record that Prof. Hicks has foretold for many years all great storms, floods, droughts and tornadoes, even the recent terrible drought all over the country. The Almanac alone is 25 cents a copy. The paper is $1.00 a year with the Almanac as a premium. With the SANTIAM NEWS, $1.75. Send to WORD AND WORK PUB. CO., 2201 Leucist St., St. Louis, Mo.

The three-year-old boy of J. A. Johnson, of Lynn County, Ill., is subject to attacks of croup. Mr. Johnson says he is satisfied that the timely use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, during a severe attack, saved his little boy's life. He is in the drug business, a member of the firm of Johnson Bros. of that place and they handle a great many patent medicines for throat and lung diseases. He had all these to choose from, and skilled physicians ready to respond to his call, but selected this remedy for use in his own family at a time when his child's life was in danger, because he knew it to be superior to any other, and famous the world over for its cures of croup. Mr. Johnson says this is the best selling cough medicine they handle, and that it gives splendid satisfaction in all cases. Sold by PEERY & PEERY.

How to Cure Bilious Colic. I suffered for weeks with colic and pains in the stomach caused by biliousness and had to take medicine all the while until I used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy which cured me. I have since recommended it to a good many people. Mrs. F. Butler, Fairhaven, Conn. Persons who are subject to bilious colic can ward off the attack by taking this remedy as soon as the first symptoms appear. Sold by PEERY & PEERY.
