Sodaville Items.

Jas. Abbott, stage driver from Lebanon to Sweet Home, has been on a deer hunt in the mountains South of Sweet Home. He reports good success.

Improvements are still being made in this city. The band boys are papering and painting their hall, Mr. Bridges is improving his new house. A telegraph line has been built from the Post Office to the College, and the erection of several new buildings is contemplated.

The college authorities will give a reception on Dec. 16 and 17 to celebrate the payment of the college debt.

Only one tenth of the teachers in Oregon hold state diplomas.

A Close Call.

On Wednesday of last week the little son of Frank Mack, living just across the river in Marion county, near the S. P. Railroad bridge, had a narrow escape from drowning as did also his mother who went to the rescue. The eldest boy, was dragging a plank on a foot-log crossing a deep but narrow stream, between their house and the residence of Mr. Al Briggs, who lives near, and in some way fell in the stream. The youngest boy, Wallace, screamed for his mother who came running to their assistance, and jumped into the stream to save the now drowning boy. She missed him as he floated past, got in deep water herself, and but for the timely assistance of Mr. Al Briggs would have drowned. She was rescued with difficulty, just as she was sinking the last time. The boy Forest, floated down stream till in coming in contact with some over hanging willows he managed to pull himself to shore. It was a close call for him as he had gone down the second time and was badly strangled.

To Be Regretted.

Mr. Arnold Sommer, who lives south of this city has left for parts unknown, leaving his farm, and the accumulation of years behind him. He was prosperous, honest, hard working, and a good citizen. About a year ago part of his family joined the "Saints," a series of meeting being held in the neighbor hood, where he resided. The difference in religious views in the family, are supposed to be the main trouble at home. Yet it is to be regreted, as he was one of the solid farmers of this section, respected by all who knew him.

The funeral of Guldensuppe, who was murdered at Woodside, Long Island, June 25, by Martin Thorn and Augusta Nack, occurred Dec. 5 from an undertaking shop on East Third street, New York City, where the body had lain since it was removed from the morgue.

Wholesale Poisoning.

A dispatch to the Oregonian from Corvallis on last Monday, says: A number of families, about 30 persons in all, of this city, have been poisoned by eating newly made head cheese, but thus far no fatalities are reported. The head cheese was made on the farm of John Hurlburt last week. Nothing is known of the character of the utensils in which it was prepared, but it is supposed that it was poisoned by the kettles or pots in which it was made. The head cheese was brought to town by Mrs. Gardner, a relative of the Hurlburts, and was by her distributed among several friends. O. V. Hurt, one of those most seriously affected, ate some of the cheese Friday night. Before daylight Saturday morning he felt sick, but attended to business as usual during the forenoon. He began taking medicine, but became rapidly worse and has not been able to leave his bed since.

Physicians have been very busy since the cheese was eaten, being in almost constant attendance on the sick.

Samples of the cheese were taken to the chemical laboratory at the agricultural college for analysis.

Letter From Klondike.

Mr. T. J. Munkers received a letter this week from his daughter Silvia, who is attending school at Forest Grove, which contained a copy of the last letter, which had just arrived, from T C McNamer in Dawson City. By his kind permission, we print the letter.

Dawson City, Oct. 17, 1897.

Dear Mother.

It is now 10 o'clock at night and I am writing by the camp fire. Candles are worth one dollar a piece in Dawson, and flour three dollars a pound, and other supplies in proportion, but can't be had at any price.

The police are sending people down the river to where the boats are, as the boats could not get up to Dawson. We are 30 miles from Dawson, and are getting out a raft of logs for a house, and for fire wood, and are going down with them tomorrow.

I have a chance to send this letter out by a man that came up on the boat as we did from Portland.

We are well fixed with grub, we have the best supply of any I have seen on the river, and we are all O. K.

Con is having some trouble with rheumatism in his knees, but think he will soon be all right.

From what I hear, we ought to do well in Dawson, as grub is what counts there. Our trip has been a great one, will not attempt to describe it. I don't think we will have any difficulty in standing the cold, for it was 10 deg. below zero the night of Oct. 1, and we did not mind it.

We have been on the lakes and river since the 22 of Sept.

There is no doubt but what this is a great mining country. Will try and write you soon again as this is by chance.

T. C. McNamer.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

Council met in regular session on Thursday evening last week and was called to order by Mayor Ewing.

Councilmen S. M. Daniel; V. B. Goin, N. T. Higgins, T. S. Coffey, M. M. Peery and J. L. Ray present; R. E. Hibler absent.

Report and Inventory of Supt. of Scio Electric Light and Water Plant read, approved and placed on file.

Bill of M. C. Gill & Son, $12.60, Portland Genl. Electric Co., $13.80 and T. S. Coffey, $.75 approved and ordered paid.

Communication from J. W. Gaines asking for new note to replace old one refered to Ways and Means Committee.

A petition, signed by 30 legal voters, desiring that Ordinance No. 29 be re-enacted to require applicants for saloon licence to procure signatures of majority of legal voters before such license be granted, refered to Ordinance Committee. The Ordinance Committee recommended same and submitted Ordinance No. 44 relating to the sale and manner of licensing the sale of Spiritous, Malt and Vinous Liquors in the City of Scio, to council; which was passed by almost unanimous vote. Those voting for passage of ordinance were: Daniel, Higgins, Goin, Peery and Ray. Voting against, Coffey.

Adjourned.

At a game of cocked hat on the alleys here, when eight men were bowling, four on a side, the score was tied, each side making 124 points, which is good average bowling. During the evening more than half the bowlers, averaged above 31. This was no crack team either just men who happened in, and none of them are steady bowlers. Take heed Democrat man before it is to late.

In Snake river precinct' Malheur county one day last week, D. Kerfoot, an Idaho sheriff, came over from Washington county with a party of Weiser sportsman, to hunt coyotes with greyhounds. In the willows along the river the dogs started a gray wolf, and upon overtaking him a terrific fight ensued. Just as the party of hunters rode up to take a hand, the burly gray ruffian completed his job of whipping the whole pack of hounds, and made his escape. Upon examination, it was found that a foot of one of the greyhounds had been bitten off by the wolf during the fracas.
