The Dying Tramp.

It was at a Western water-tank One cold November day, Within an empty box car A dying hobo lay. His partner stood beside him, With sad eyes and drooping head, And patiently he listened, As the dying comrade said: "I am going," said the hobo, "To a land that's fair and bright, Where the weather's always warm enough To sleep outside at night; Where hand-outs grow on bushes, And folks ne'er comb their locks, And little streams of alcohol Are running down the rocks. "Go tell my Front-street sweetheart, When next her face you view, That I've caught the great eternal freight; I'm going to ride it through. Go tell her not to weep for me; No tears in her eyes to lurk, For I'm going to a country fair, Where no man has to work. "Hark! I hear the engine whistle, I must catch her on the fly, Oh, heaven bless you, dear old pard, It's awfully hard to die." He bowed his head, he drooped his eyes, And he never spoke again, His partner left and jumped the beam Of an East-bound tourist train. —Town Talk—Ashland.

FACTS FOR FARMERS.

A Column Devoted To The Interests of Farmers.

The price of hogs is tending upwards. Get hold of your bred sows quick. It is a cheap way to start a herd with good stock.

During mild winter days time can not be put to better purpose than to examine the small branches of apple trees for the eggs of the tent caterpillar. They will be found in glossy dense, hook-shaped clusters, girdling the top twigs. As each cluster contains several hundred eggs, it is easily seen how much damage may be prevented with little trouble. With a pair of pruning shears fastened to a stiff pole, a sharp eyed man can clean a good sized orchard in a comparatively short time. Of course the clippings should not be left on the ground, but picked up and burned.

Flax will grow on any land that will produce wheat. It is not subject to rust or smut and generally brings a fair price. I believe that every farmer who can do so should raise half an acre or more for home use. I feed it to my horses, giving a handful twice a week. It produces a glossy coat and the animals like it. For calves and cows I boil the flaxseed. To sheep I feed it uncooked. I sow about half a bushel on one acre, cut it with a binder, place in long shocks and thresh as wheat. I usually get 10 to 12 bushels and feed the most of it during the year. I do not find it necessary to use any oil cake or linseed meal for my stock.—Fred Pittman, Wisconsin.

To see the size and general characteristic shapes of the Plymouth Rocks, Wyandottes and Asiatics, when stripped of their plumage, would be a revelation to many people. It would show that there is something in the pure breeds besides style and handsome plumage.

The superiority of pure-bred fowls over common ones, such as generally found on farms, is very marked regarding table qualities. Pure-bred fowls, as a rule, possess a plumpness, full, round breast and broad back that is quite unknown to ordinary fowls. The uniformity in appearance of the pure breeds, when marketed, whether dressed or not, is an additional factor in selling that common stock greatly lacks.

In the case of broiler-raising, the most prejudiced against pure breeds have to admit that Plymouth Rocks and Wyandottes cannot be excelled, or even equalled. Those who hurr on the exploded theory of pure-bred fowls being weak do not pay much attention to undisputed facts. They may know perhaps, of some misguided fancier who continually sells off his most promising, vigorous birds, and then inbreeds with the weaklings retained, and point out such a case and exclaim, "pure-bred poultry is fancy bred for fine feathers and are no good".

Those who will make such charges are warped with prejudice and cling to methods that progress has long since relegated to the past.

Not alone do pure-bred fowls excel in size and superior table qualities, but their eggs average much better in size.—Fanciers Review.

We have a good many questions asked us pertaining to the raising of chickens, incubators, etc., etc. A few of them are here answered by the secretary of the Von Cullin Incubator Company of Delaware City, Del., who, if experience is a teacher, should be an expert.

Question One: What, in your judgment is the most profitable chicken or chickens to raise for broilers and general trade purposes, etc.?

Answer: Plymouth Rock hens and Leghorn roosters. As the Plymouth Rock hens insure fine, plump, fast growing bodies and tender meat, and the Leghorn roosters guarantee the fertility of the eggs.

Question Two: What breeds appear to be the most in demand for breeding purposes?

Ans: This may be incorrect, but basing our inquiries for poultry to our company, we will say that the greatest demand appears to be for Sherwood's Brahmas and Plymouth Rocks.—The Farmers Tribune.

ISRAEL'S SEVEN TIMES

A Sermon Concerning The Second Coming Of Christ.

This long period (seven times, or 2520 years of Israel, punishment,) is the period of gentile dominion the times of the gentiles. The gentile times began B. C. 606 and were to continue seven times, which is 2520 years, (2520—606—1914) then the Blessing recorded in the same chapter: (Lev. 26-44-45) will be fulfilled. God will remember and fulfill to Israel the covenant made to their fathers—Rom. 11-25-27.

This may be shown more clearly to some thus—Israel's seven times of chastisement—2520 years, they began when the lease of power was given to the gentiles, which as we have shown, was 606 B. C. consequently, in A. D. 1, 606 years of their period had passed and, the remainder would indicate the A. D. date namely, 1914 the end of their punishment.

In proof that a day for a year is Bible usage in symbolic prophecy, we cite the following instances thus fulfilled.

The spies were caused to wander forty days searching Canaan, typical Israel's wandering in the wilderness, (Num. 14-38-34) when God would announce to Israel by Ezekiel a period of adversity, he had the prophet symbolize it, declaring, I have appointed the each day for a year. Ezekiel 4-1-2.) In that notable and already fulfilled prophecy of Daniel 9-24-27 in which the time to the anointing of our Lord is shown, and also the seven years of favor to Israel there after in the midst of which Messiah was cut off, Symbolic time is used. Each day of the Seventy Symbolic weeks represented a year, and was so fulfilled. Agabo, in Daniel 7-25, Dan. 12-7, the period of Papacy's triumph is given as three and a half times, and this we know, was fulfilled in twelve hundred and sixty years, (360x3) equal 1260. The same period is mentioned in the book of Revelation: in Chapter 12-14 it is called three and a half times 360x3 equal 1260, in Chapter 13-5 it is equalled forty two months 30x42 equal 1260 and in Chapter 12-6 it is called twelve hundred and sixty days. Suffice it now to note that the use by the spirit of the word, time, elsewhere agrees with the present use of that term that in Symbolic prophecy "a time," is a Symbolic year of three hundred and sixty years, and the fact that three and a half times, applied as a measure to the triumph of the apostate church, has been fulfilled in twelve hundred and sixty years, establishes the principle upon which the seven times of Gentile Dominion are reckoned (360x7) equal 2520 and proves their end to be A. D. 1914; for if 3 1/2 times is 1260 years, seven times will be a period just twice as long namely 2520 years. Had Israel's seven times been fulfilled in literal time (seven years), the blessing guaranteed to them by God's unconditional covenant with their fathers would have followed, see Lev. 26-45, Ram. 11-28 but this was not the case.

They have never yet enjoyed those promised blessings, and that covenant will not be fulfilled, says Paul (Rom. 11-25-26), until the elect gospel church, the body of Christ, has been perfected as their deliverer through whom the covenant will be put into operation. "This shall be the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel after those days," that is after the 2520 years of punishment, saith the Lord. "I will put my law in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts, and will be their God and they shall be my people, and they shall teach no more every man his neighbor, saying: know the Lord, for they shall all know me from the least of them to the greatest of them, saith the Lord; for I will forgive their iniquity, and I will remember their sins no more." (Jer. 31-33-34, Heb. 10-16-17.)

In those days, the days of favor following the seven times of punishment, they shall say no more, "The fathers have eaten sour grapes and the children's teeth are on edge." (Jer 31-29-30)

The restoration at the end of the seventy years in Babylon was not a release from Gentile rule, for they were a tributary people ever after that. That restoration served merely to keep together a people to whom Messiah should be presented. It was while Gentile rule was already holding Israel in subjection, and in view of that fact, that our Lord declared that they would continue to be trodden down until the times of the Gentiles expired, or were fulfilled. The world is witness to the fact that Israel's punishment under the dominion of the Gentiles has been continuous since B C 606 or ever since Jerusalem and King Solomon's temple was destroyed by Nebuchadnezzar, and there is no reason to expect their national reorganization sooner than A D 1914. The limit of their seven times, 2520 years beginning 606 years B C ends 1914 A D. But as this long period of national chastisement draws near its close, we can see marked indications that the barren fig tree is about to put forth, showing that the winter time of evil is closing, and the millennial summer approaching, which will fully restore them to their promised inheritance and national independence. The fact that there are now great preparations and expectation relating to the return of Israel to their own land is of its self strange circumstantial evidence corroborative of this Scripture teaching.

The reason why I have said so much about the end of the gentile times, is because, at the expiration of the gentile, Christ's Kingdom will be set up, and it will break in pieces all other Kingdoms, and it shall stand forever Dan, 2 44 and the ancient of days will begin Dan. 7 9,25 and the saints will possess the Kingdom, and it will be the beginning of the restoration days, spoken of by all the holy prophets, and it will be the time of the first resurrection spoken of by John the revelator Rev. 20-2nd, Chapter, and the binding of the Devil and Satan for a thousand years and many other things to numerous to mention. My dear readers look up and lift up your heads for your redemption draweth nigh.

F. M. Henline, Stayton Oregon.

Suggestions.

Scrub live stock is bad, bad enough, but there is one thing even worse—that is the scrub farmer.

Why do not some of our up to date farm girls raise Angora kittens for sale? These pets are very fashionable in the cities at present. A writer in The Country Gentleman says he is overrun with orders for them. He breeds and rears them. Such cats often sell for from $5 to $10 apiece.

If a ewe disowns her lamb, put her in a small box or crate, so small that she has no room to butt or kick the lamb, and tie her fast to one side of it. Then hold the lamb up against her udder while it sucks. After two or three times of this discipline she will nearly always mother her child.

Foot rot in cows and feeding steers is caused by the animals standing in mud or in filthy stables. To cure it, remove the cause, clean the hoof thoroughly, pare away the diseased horn with a hoof knife as far as there is any pus; then wash the place with weak muriatic acid, applied with a swab. This is to cauterize the sore surface. Last of all, cover the diseased part of the hoof with a dressing of pine tar. Apply this treatment twice a month till the feet are well.—Drovers Journal.

Cyrus H K Curtis of the Ladies' Home Journal has long coveted and has at last secured the Saturday Evening Post, the oldest newspaper in America, which has been published in Philadelphia since 1728, and as the Philadelphia Gazette was edited by Benjamin Franklin from 1729 to 1765. Mr. Curtis has applied his galvanic battery to the concern, and propose to make a first-class illustrated weekly magazine of high-grade literature.

A prominent young doctor took his best girl to the opera not long since. The curtain was late in rising and the young lady complained of feeling faint. The doctor smiled sweetly upon her, took something out of his pocket and whispered to her to keep "the tablet" in her mouth, but not to swallow it. She shyly placed it on her tongue and slowly rolled it over and over, but it would not dissolve; she felt better, however. When the show was over she slipped the tablet in her glove, being quite curious to examine at home, this tasteless, indissoluble little substance which had given her such relief at the opera house. When alone in her room she pulled off her glove and out came a—pant's button.—EX.

Here is a very simple-looking problem but it will keep the advance pupil, and even the teachers, figuring for a while, at least: A farmer has forty hogs to kill and desires to do the job in seven killings, killing an odd number each time. How many must he kill at each killing? See if you can solve it.—EX.
