No sooner were the cars emptied than the posts of the fence gave way, and almost the whole band took to the hills. The stampede was a rapid one, and, it being dark, nothing could be done to prevent the heard from scattering in many directions. The owners of the cattle have demanded damages to the amount of $3000. They say they will not load the cattle out of the yards until the company settles the bill. It is expected that a satisfactory settlement will be arrived at. All the cattle was found except two.

SPAIN POSITIVELY REFUSES TO YIELD.

When the excitement was at the very highest, like an electric flash the word passed that there would be no message. Its suddenness stunned the people who heard the news in distorted forms, and amazed veteran members of congress. Ultimately, it became known that not only would there be no message today, but no message this week, and that there was a possibility that the message, though properly written and approved, might not go to congress at all.

The first reason for the delay was that the administration had received advice from General Lee at Havana saying that Americans could not be gotten off the island, and would be in grave peril if the message preceded their departure.

It can be stated authoritatively that after a conference with the members of the foreign affairs committee of both houses, the president has decided not to send in his message until Monday.

The cause of this decision was a dispatch from Consul General Lee, received at the state department this morning, saying that it would be impossible to get all the Americans safely out of Cuba before Sunday.

At the request of the president, Representative Hopkins (Ill.) took Representative Berry (Ky.), a member of the foreign affairs committee; Mr. Sayers (Tex.), the ranking minority member of the appropriations committee; Mr. Dinsmore (democrat, Ark.) the ranking member of the foreign affairs committee; and Mr. Newlands (silver republican, Nev.) to the White House this afternoon, and showed them General Lee's cablegram.

The cablegram said that General Lee was loading 2500 Americans, and that it would be impossible to get them out of the island before Sunday. He said the condition of affairs in Havana, and the transmittal of the message might cause trouble.

The president frankly explained the situation. He said the message would have gone in today had it not been for General Lee's cablegram. The safety of Americans in Havana, and especially General Lee's personal safety made the delay imperative. The democrat all expressed themselves as satisfied.

The navy department has been informed of the Raabe and Mangrove from Havana with a large number of Americans on board. It is stated, however, that General Lee did not sail.

Many alarming rumors were about this afternoon regarding the safety of Consul General Lee and the other consular officers stationed in Cuba, some even going to the extent of declaring that some of them had been attacked by mobs. The officials of the state department deny these rumors.

It is believed by many that war will be precipitated without a formal declaration of war. The tempo of the administration and congress is such that any attempt on the lives of Americans will result in the immediate investment of Cuba by force of arms.
